Two Ex-Novatans Killed In Auto Crash In Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Van Winkle, Novato residents until two months ago, were killed in a two-car collision last night in Colorado.

Four other persons were injured in the accident, a half mile south of Cedaredge, Colo., United Press International reported.

Colorado state patrolmen said the couple died when Van Winkle attempted to pass a car driven by Duayne Blansett, 16, of Austin, Colo. Van Winkle cut back too quickly and his car struck the left front of Blansett's car, patrolmen said.

The two cars traveled side by side for about 100 feet before separation. Van Winkle's car went about 615 feet before leaving the highway and crashing into a pole.

SERIOUS CONDITION

Blansett's car swerved off the highway and overturned. Blansett and another youth in the car were in serious condition today; two other youths in the car also were injured.

Van Winkle, 38, had lived in various places in Novato for the past two years and had lived at Sears Point and briefly in San Rafael. He and his wife, Mrs. Murrieta Van Winkle, 35, had left for Colorado two months ago to visit relatives. Their last address was 705 Scott Street in Novato. They had no children.

Van Winkle had worked at various jobs in the county, including Lloyd's Van and Moving in Novato. He was a partially disabled World War II veteran.

IN PHILIPPINES

He was an Army corporal at Clark Field in Manila, Philippines, when captured by the Japanese. He spent three and a half year in a Japanese prison camp.

He was a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Van Winkle was born in Nebraska. Mrs. Van Winkle was born in Colorado.

He is survived by a brother, Lowell (Rip) Van Winkle, formerly of Novato and now living in Sonoma; three sisters, Mrs. Paul Sutton of Los Angeles; Mrs. Louis Balmer of Sonoma, and Mrs. Louis Foster of San Rafael, wife of a San Rafael police sergeant, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orve Van Winkle of Novato.

Surviving Mrs. Van Winkle are a step-brother, William H. Schwartze of San Rafael, and two sisters and her mother in Colorado.

Funeral services are planned in Marin County, with burial in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Public Hearing Set Again On Anti-Bias Plan

A lively battle on steering strategy for the proposed county "anti-discrimination in housing" ordinance developed at the Marin County Board of Superviors today with these results:

1. Another public hearing on the ordinance was set for 3 p.m. on Nov. 15.

2. County Clerk George S. Jones was told to advertise this, with stress on the point that only unincorporated areas are potentially affected and that their residents should come and speak.

DECISION TRY

3. Three board members, with Supervisor James Marshall absent, defeated an effort by Supervisor Vera Schultz to bind the board to final decision Nov. 15.

As an "added attraction," several board members grilled Mrs. Tom McDougall of Mill Valley as to officers, directors and membership of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn., which she said was against the proposed ordinance.

'DEFINITE TIME'

She promised to provide an up-to-date list of officers and directors but declined to reveal membership, saying she had a state decision supporting this position. It was the directors, she said, who had voted against the anti-bias proposal —"mainly from the monetary standpoint."

Chairman Walter R. Castro introduced the matter of setting a date, saying that at the hearing last Wednesday night he had promised to "set a defi-

Marin 'Copter Pilot Saves Two In Gorge

Fred W. Konkel, 38, of 1001 Las Ovejas Avenue, regional sales manager for Bell Helicopter, used the cargo carriers attached to the sde of the helicopters and flew the men out to St. George.

He reached pilot Al Calder of Las Vegas Airways and his passenger, Tony Brazdys, 10 hours after their survey plane struck a mountainside and fell into a gorge. Calder suffered a broken back and internal injuries and Brazdys a possible pelvis fracture.

Konkel had flown to Las Vegas on a commercial airliner yesterday morning to pick up a helicopter and ferry it back here. William Hall, owner of Las Vegas Airways, told him about the crash and asked him to fly over and get the men.

Mrs. Konkel, who talked to her husband on the telephone last night, said it was fortunate the cargo carriers were attached to the small, three-man helicopter so the injured men could be lifted out.

A B-24 pilot in World War II, Konkel has been with Bell for three years.

He and his family have lived in Terra Linda a year and a half. The Konkels have four children: Julie, 11; Marla, 8; David, 6, and Scott, 4.

Probe Asked Of Gate Span Engineer Hire

State Employee Disclosed As Part-Time Aide

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, Marin Republican, today called for "full-scale investigation" of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District's employment of a state civil service engineer as a part-time consultant.

McCarthy's demand followed disclosure that John J. Kozak of Sacramento, a senior bridge engineer with the California Division of Highways, has been employed since January, 1959, on a part-time basis as consultant to the bridge district.

ADAM UNAVAILABLE

James Adam, general manager of the bridge district, was unavailable to reporters for comment on the disclosure and McCarthy's demand, but issued a statement through a secretary declaring:

"Mr. Kozak primarily performed only minor technical engineering for the bridge district and, he stated, on his own accumulated vacation and other times, and there was no prohibition or conflict against this under state or district rules. He was only casually employed by the district and the amount paid to him was very small."

The amount, it was disclosed, was $7,250 from January, 1959, through August of this year—an average of $362.50 per month.

'ENOUGH MONEY'

McCarthy said he would ask Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk to investigate. There may be nothing wrong with the practice of hiring a state-employed engineer on his "free time," McCarthy commented, but "I believe the bridge district has enough money to hire its own fulltime engineer."

The Marin state senator said he is also concerned with "lobbying in Sacramento" by the bridge district against its absorption into the proposed Golden Gate Authority.

Kozak confirmed the amount paid him and said he did the work on off-duty hours and during vacation time.

NONE FOR YEAR

The bridge district has had no fulltime engineer of its own for more than a year.

Adam's statement said Kozak "has been a research engineer in aerodynamics forces on suspension bridges and because of his intimate familiarity with the Golden Gate Bridge, through previous such studies at the University of California in 1952, he was readily available for analyzing Golden Gate Bridge vibration movements during windstorms."

Pennsy Crowds Hail Nixon; Kennedy Stumps California

Republican Tugged At By Backers

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Vice President Richard M. Nixon headed into New York state late today after a swing through Pennsylvania where enthusiastic supporters twice nearly caused him personal injury.

Nnxon made his last Pennsylvania appearance in Erie, where he appealed to voters to shun the "never-never" economics of Sen. John F. Kennedy or face higher taxes and higher prices.

WILD DEMONSTRATION

Campaigning through Pennsylvania in his final bid to win the state's 32 electoral votes, Nixon encountered one of the wildest demonstrations since he hit the campaign trail. The demonstration occurred in Lancaster, Pa., where the GOP candidate attracted a large turnout in the normally Republican community.

Nixon, bound for Syracuse and Rochester in upstate New York, made his Lancaster appearance before a midtown parking lot audience of 25,000 and in Erie to a wind-blown airport crowd of 15,000 persons, according to police estimates.

With each appearance today, the vice president increased the tempto of his attack on the economic theories and programs of his Democratic opponent.

'VOTE FOR PRICES'

Appealing in Erie to uncommitted voters, he said "You are casting a vote for prices and taxes—whether you want them increased or held in check."

As his motorcade edged through dense crowds in downtown Lancaster streets, Nixon was knocked off balance when an amorous lady Republican tried to kiss him, and later slipped down into the rear seat of his convertible when two young men pulled at his arm at the same time. In another incident, the Republican candidate nearly lost his topcoat to the crowd as well-wishers tried to shake his hand.

PERLE'S FOR DICK

Hostess With Mostest Says GOP The Ticket

Democrat hostess Perle Mesta swept into Marin County in a watermelon pink hat today for a morning of stumping for the Republicans.

The energetic former minister to Luxembourg stopped at radio station KTIM to tape an interview with Kitty Oppenheimer, then moved on to the College of Marin for a meeting sponsored by the college chapter of Young Republicans.

She confided that she had already cast her absentee bailot —for Nixon and Lodge—in Rhode Island, her voting residence.

If John F. Kennedy is elected, "I think we will be in war very quickly . . . Senator Kennedy couldn't stand up to Khrushchev," she declared.

"I traveled 12,000 miles in Russia, and I don't think he is the type of man who could stand up to the Russians," she added.

In her KTIM interview, the "hostess with the mostest" admitted that she "didn't really want to go" when she was named minister to Luxembourg by President Harry S. S. Truman. "I had a home in Washington. I knew everything that was going on . . . was helping put through bills," she said.

Reminiscing about her parties for servicemen overseas, she declared: "I thought it was my duty to do it. I did it with my own money. I was a political appointment . . . and I did it the way I thought it should be done."

Mrs. Mesta stressed that she is a Democrat. Her support of Nixon was her "first reservation," she said.

Democrat Not Worried Over Ike

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, interested but not deeply concerned about President Eisenhower's last-minute push behind the Nixon presidential campaign, tackled the vice president on his home ground of California today with another call for the United States to "move ahead."

The Democratic presidential candidate made a delayed arrival in Los Angeles after an overnight flight from Philadelphia but plunged immediately into his busy two-day California speaking schedule with an address to more than 5,000 students at the University of Southern California. Kennedy's twin-engine Convair circled overhead more than an hour because of heavy fog after a 14-hour flight here.

'STATUS QUO'

Kennedy told his first audience at the university campus this nation is "not going to be a status quo" country in the next decade.

"We are either going to drop back or move ahead," he said.

Kennedy's needling of vice President Richard M. Nixon last night on the question of his getting assistance on the stump from President Eisenhower reverberated from both campaign camps today. But sources close to the senator said he is not concerned about the president's expanded campaign participation in Nixon's behalf.

As part of his drive for Nixon, President Eisenhower tonight will discuss on television the nation's fiscal policy.

MOCKING OFFER

Kennedy's mocking offer to let Nixon also use the president as a backstop in any fifth television debate, it was indicated, was made primarily to highlight the fact his GOP opponent had Eisenhower as a partner in their coming New York City appearance.

The Democratic candidate said today Nixon is a conservative by his own definition and added that a "conservative believes in the status quo."

In a speech prepared for delivery at a clothing workers' rally in Los Angeles today, Kennedy also termed Nixon's "conversion to Democratic programs" like social security is "the greatest escape act since Houdini."

Kennedy promised that he will submit a new program of medical care for the aged based on the social security payment system "within 30 days after I take office." The senator supported such a bill in the last session of Congress.

Cuba Assails West's Delay On Arms Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) —Cuba accused the Western powers today of delaying tactics on disarmament, and declared that the Soviet Union is the only major power that has made important concessions.

Cuban delegate Manuel Bisbe said the government of Fidel Castro is in complete accord with Soviet disarmament proposals, including liquidation of all foreign military bases.

Speaking in the General Assembly's Political Committee, the Cuban representative continued the attack on the United States which Foreign Minister Raul Roa began Monday in the assembly.

Bisbe again brought the U.S. presidential campaign into the debate by saying "Let us not reopen the debate in the United Nations on the deterioration of U.S. prestige."

Firemen Save Man Trapped In Cement Pit

A Mill Valley construction worker was rescued by San Rafael firemen yesterday from the bottom of a 20-foot concrete caisson where he had fallen after slipping off a girder.

Leonard Blickensderfer, 53, of 113 Valley Circle, Mill Valley, working on construction of a pumping station for the City of San Rafael, was standing on a girder about half-way down the side of the 20-foot concrete-lined pit, when he lost his footing and fell to the bottom, landing between a bracing girder and the concrete wall.

Raymond Sparrow, 165 Leland Way, Belvedere, project superintendent for S and Q Construction Co., called for police and an ambulance. Police, because of the depth of the pit, and fearing to move Blickensderfer without proper equipcalled for fire department assistance.

Fire Capt. John Diego and Fireman Ernest Camporelli went down with a basket stretcher into which they lashed the injured man. The stretcher was then hoisted out by a crane belonging to the contractor.

Blickensderfer was taken to San Rafael General Hospital with head and back injuries. He was in fair condition today.

San Rafael Police Don Winter Uniforms

Elsewhere in the county, they smashed San Rafael Library windows, uprooted some fences, threw eggs and tomatoes, poured paint on a car and dumped a Bret Harte front yard full of signs. Many cases of air being let out of tires were reported.

Some "meanest person" dropped a piece of evil-tasting "candy" into the "trick or treat" bag of a little San Rafael girl, to set off an investigation by county and state health authorities.

The burned car was a 1954 Chrysler convertible with a registration card in the name of R. H. Corvett, 124 Ethyl Street, Mill Valley." The California Highway Patrol today had been unable to locate such a person. Mill Valley has an Ethel Avenue and Ethel Lane but no Ethyl Street.

The higway patrol was called at 1:30 a.m. to investigate the burning car just east of Crestview Drive. Someone had set fire to the cloth top, and the flames had gutted the vehicle. The county fire department extinguished the fire.

Highway patrolmen said the fire appeared to be a vicious Halloween prank.

The "candy" alarm came when Edward J. Clark of 111 Glen Park Avenue took to the San Rafael police station at 9:30 p.m. yesterday a piece of candy his 6-year-old daughter, Dawn Renee, had found in her "trick or treat" bag.

The girl bit into the candy and screamed. It burned her mouth, she said.

Police said it smelled of pepper and appeared to be "April Fool candy."

However, they turned it over to the county health department, which in turn sent it to

Corbett Whisked Off To Jail In Colorado

DENVER (UPI) — Joseph Corbett Jr., accused kidnap-slayer of millionaire Adolph Coors III, was flown here today in the custody of U.S. deputy marshals and immediately locked in the city jail.

Corbett was whisked away from Tacoma, Wash., aboard a commercial airliner by the federal authorities without advance notice.

Even two Colorado officials who were in Seattle to question Corbett and ostensibly to take custody of him were caught by surprise and did not know of Corbett's transfer until he was aboard the airliner.

One of the state officials, district attorney Barney O'Kane in whose district the kidnap and murder charges have been filed, was obviously nettled by the sudden federal action.

He told a reporter by telephone from Seattle, "If they (federal authorities) want to play games I'll just drop the case."

O'Kane said he and Jefferson County Sheriff Art Wermuth would return to Denver today.

But in the meantime Corbett was booked into the Denver jail as a federal prisoner. Newsmen were denied passes into the jail.

Corbett was arraigned at Seattle yesterday on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and remained in custody under $100,000 bond. He waived extradition to Colorado.

He had been on the most wanted lists of both the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police until captured Saturday in Vancouver, B.C. Canadian authorities quickly turned him over to the FBI.

In addition to being sought in the kidnap- slaying of the wealthy, Golden, Colo., brewer, Corbett was wanted as an escapee from Chino prison where he was serving a five-year-to-life term for the slaying of a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant in 1950.

O'Kane, who had planned to question Corbett today, said evidence against the bespectacled 32-year-old killer was "purely circumstantial" in the Coors case.

O'Kane said he doubted if Corbett would go to trial for both kidnap and murder unless he confesses the crime.

The only evidence against Corbett, according to O'Kane, is that a kidnap note was written on a typewriter belonging to the captured man. Coors was kidnaped in February of this year and a ransom note demanding $500,000 was sent to his family. Negotiations with the Coors family were not carried through by the kidnaper.

Pfc. David J. Rogers, stationed with the Army at Fort Ord, recently participated in combat training exercises at the Hunter Liggett Military Reservation near Paso Robles. DEATHS, VANDALISM

Tragedy Mars Tricks, Treats

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

America donned its traditional Halloween falseface last night and watched it become a double mask of comedy and tragedy.

While millions of youngsters turned "trick or treating" into a fund raising drive for United Nations children's work, vandals used the evening for grown-up crime.

Anti-Catholic literature hid behind a Halloween mask at Pueblo, Colo. One tract which found its way into youngsters' bags termed the Roman Catholic Church everything contrary to the U.S. Constitution."

Vandals cut a swathe of destruction across four New England states. Police charged six York Beach, Mne., youngsters with $3,000 damage to summer resort cottages. Several Hudson, N.H., youths depleted already-low water supplies by opening fire hydrants.

At Hampden, Mass., a fire truck stalled on the way to a fire. Vandals had drained gasoline from the truck's tank. Chicopee, Mass., police investigated reports that bullies were stealing Halloween candy from younger children. Another group of vandals set fire to 40 tons of hay at East Charlotte, Vt.

At Lawrenceburg, Tenn., Robert Mattox, 17, a high school football player, was fatally injured when he jumped or fell from the rear of a pickup truck on its trick or treat rounds.

In Portland, Ore., authorities reported that moth crystals in the form of nuggets were distributed as candy to several Portland children. There were no immediate reports of any of the moth crystals being consumed.

Halloween took a bizarre twist in Arkansas. At Walnut Ridge, pranksters placed a railroad tie on the tracks in front of a St. Louis-Little Rock Missouri Pacific train. A heavy coat of creosote on the tie slid the plank ahead of the train and averted derailment.

At Cabot, Ark., 120 miles south of Walnut Ridge, the same train struck and killed a 17-year-old youth who jumped from a truck into the train's path. Police said the boy, Dale Griffin of Cabot, apparently feared the truck would not make it safely across the tracks.

An Air Force jet broke the sound barrier at 30,000 feet above southwestern Missouri, southeastern Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma, touching off reports of bomb pranks.

Housing Agency Truck Stolen

Thieves got confused while stealing a carryall truck from the parking shed of the administration building at Marin City Saturday afternoon. Instead of reverse gear, they put the truck in forward and rammed into the paint shop wall and door.

Undetered, they backed the vehicle out and drove away.

Deputy Sheriff James Fleming said the thieves had to move two housing authority pickup trucks to get to the carryall.

The loss was reported at 12:15 p.m. by a janitor, Moses E. Beard of House 586, Marin City.

Fairfax Voters Due Information

Fairfax Voters Information Group will send out 2,500 pieces of literature to voters in the Fairfax School District this week, urging passage of the tax increase proposal next Tuesday.

Headquarters of the group at 17 Bolinas Avenue will remain open this week and up to election day, chairman Jay Hutchinson announced. Baby sitting and car pool services will be provided on Election Day.

In a three-day rummage sale last week the group raised $290 to defray the costs of campaign literature, advertising and office expense.

SEWELL AVERY

Sewell Avery, Ward's Tycoon, Dies At 86

CHICAGO (AP) — Sewell Lee Avery, 86, a strong-willed big businessman who ultimately took on the U.S. Army, died yesterday.

Avery, who was Montgomery Ward and Co. chairman from 1931 to 1955, died in his apartment on fashionable Lake Shore Drive of a cerebral hemorrage. He had been ill for a year.

In financial circles, Avery was a legend.

BRILLIANT, TOUGH

Brilliant and tough, he was almost phenomenally successful from the day in 1894 when he graduated from University of Michigan Law School.

As Montgomery Ward's chief executive he fought spectacular battles against the federal government in 1944 and financier Louis E. Wolfson in 1955.

In 1944, Avery defied the War Labor Board's intervention in a Montgomery Ward dispute with a CIO union.

PICKED HIM UP

The next day two soldiers entered his office, picked him up and deposited him in the street outside.

He later said he deliberately maneuvered the government into a show of force to dramatize what he called the "march of dictatorship"" in the United States.

Two weeks later, the labor controversy was settled, the government relinquished Ward control and Avery was back on the job.

PROXY FIGHT

Wolfson, then 43, staged an eight-month proxy fight against Avery, saying Avery was no longer fit to run the huge $700-million-dollar mail order concern.

Avery, then 81, fought back and won. A few months later he resigned as board chairman and four years later, critically ill with a cancerous tumor, severed his last connection with Ward management.

Avery took over direction of the mail order firm in 1931, when it was slipping toward bankruptcy.

ANGLICAN LEADER WILL MEET WITH POPE JOHN

LONDON (AP) — An archbishop of Canterbury will meet a Roman Catholic pope next month for the first time since Henry VIII broke with the papacy in the 16th century and set up the Church of England.

Archbishop Geoffrey Fisher, spiritual leader of the Church of England, announced today that he will pay a courtesy visit to Pope John XXIII at the Vatican during a Dec. 1-3 stopover on his way home from a Middle Eastern tour.

Vatican sources hailed the visit as a step toward unity but warned against expecting any immediate or dramatic developments. "It is an example of reciprocal goodwill and a new stone on the road to getting closer together," one source said.

Queen Vows To Keep Pubs Open Later

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II opened a new session of Parliament today with a promise to keep the pubs open later at night.

The queen's speech from the throne, written by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government, also promised to work toward the political and economic unity of Western unity and reaffirmed Britain's allegiance to her alliance with the United States and the other North Atlantic nations.

But it was the pledge to reform the licensing laws that the bulk of the British public was interested in.

The queen gave no details. But Home Secretary Richard A. Butler, whose department will prepare the new legislation, has promised later closing hours and also to make them uniform over the country.

Pubs now must close at 10:30 or 11 p.m. in London, depending on what part of the city they are in. Outside the capital the traditional "Time please, gentlemen" comes at 10 a.m.

With the tourist trade in mind, Butler also hopes to make it possible to buy drinks with supper up to 2 a.m. all over the country instead of just in London as at present.

The queen read her message sitting erect on her golden throne in the red and gold chamber of the House of Lords. Her fullskirted dress was of brocaded silk and she wore a glittering crown.

The lords, robed in scarlet with ermine collars, and the diamond-tiaraed peeresses filled the benches of the chamber. Members of the House of Commons in their dark morning suits stood at the back.

The queen stressed that Britain will continue to cooperate "in consolidating the European Free Trade Assn.," the seven-nation West European trade group Britain heads.

The government will work toward the political and economic unity of Western Europe, on a basis satisfactory to all the government concerned, the queen said.

This statement was an expression of the Macmillan government's desire to build a bridge between the free trade group and the rival, six-nation European Common Market group.

As she does in every throne speech, the queen spoke of "the friendship which links us with our great ally, the United States of America." She called this relationship a powerful element for the defense of peace.

Sausalito Council Will Meet Tonight

The agreement was reached after an all-night session conducted by federal labor mediator E. F. Hitchcok.

Terms were not announced pending ratification of union members.

Airline Firm Wants To Fly Bodies Home

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The head of Arctic Pacific, Inc., says he will try to get a waiver of the suspension of the firm's flying certificate so it can fly the bodies of 22 victims of a plane crash from here to their homes.

Jack Springer, president of the airline which operated the crashed plane, said last night he had not been given a specific reason for the government's suspension order.

Nineteen of the dead lived in California. Two were from Elkton, Md., and one lived in Chicago.

They were killed Saturday night when a charter flight, attempting a takeoff at the Toledo airport in a heavy fog, crashed and burned. The aircraft carried 48 persons, including the California Polytechnic College football team.

In announcing the suspension order in Washington yesterday, E. R. Quesada, federal aviation administrator, said that circumstandces of the crash "indicate a gross disregard for public safety and the regulations of the Federal Aviation Agency."

Every bill, resolution or order passed by the Arkansas Legislature must be approved or disapproved by the governor—except on the question of adjournment.

Britain Provides Base In Scotland For Polaris Subs

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said today Britain will provide a base in Scotland for American Polaris missile submarines.

"It must be our aim to keep the western deterrent power as effective as possible until a disarmament agreement can be reached," Macmillan told the House of Commons.

"The deterrent would be strengthened if sheltered anchorage on this side could be available for a submarine depot ship and a floating dock," he said. "This the government have undertaken to provide."

The anchorage in the Holy Loch in the Clyde River in Scotland will "be used by U.S. submarines on routine patrol in peace time," Macmillan said.

He said the depot ship "should be established there during February of next year."

A floating dock will follow later, and "supporting facilities will be provided by the Royal Navy," he said.

"OFFENSIVE WEAPON"

Labor member of parliament Archie Manuel demanded to know whether the missile submarine was not "offensive in character and not defensive" and Macmillan replied:

"Of course, it is an offensive weapon. This is another form of the present deterrent and it has perhaps this advantage: At present one side could be tempted to think it could destroy the other without any retaliation, if quick enough. But here's a weapon which can retaliate.

"I believe this house and the country will feel we had no other choice."

FIRST ARRANGEMENT

In a simultaneous announcement in Washington, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said it is the first such arrangement made with any free world ally.

Hagerty said: "The president welcomes this arrangement as further evidence of United States-British cooperation for the mutual benefit of both countries and the NATO alliance."

The Polaris missile is a solid-fuel, intermediate range rocket capable of being launched from a submarine while it is completely submerged. The subs that carry it are nuclear-powered and can remain underwater for extremely long periods without having to surface.

The Navy said the 18,500-ton submarine tender Proteus will arrive at the British base early next year, and that two Polaris submarines will be assigned to the facility for servicing at that time.

By the end of next year, the Navy said, six Polaris submarines will be using the base.

Fire Destroys Grandstand At Reno Diamond

RENO (UPI)—Moana Baseball Park, home of the California League champion Reno Silver Sox, was destroyed by fire early today.

The alarm was received at 2:30 a.m., but by the time units arrived the entire grandstand section of the wooden structure was in flames. The fire was visible throughout the city.

All that was left standing this morning as mopup crews soaked the embers were portions of the baseline bleachers and parts of the plank walls.

It was theorized that Halloween pranksters might have touched off the blaze.

A fire department spokesman said youthful vandals were believed to have started two other fires during the night, one in a trash pile and the other in a pile of dry leaves, which destroyed a nearby auto.

Olympic Film To Be Shown

"Flame in the Snow," official film of the 1960 Winter Olympics, produced by Marvin Becker, of Sausalito, will be given a premiere showing at 5:15 p.m. tomorrow at Roos Atkins store in San Francisco.

Becker served as official photographer for the Olympics at Squaw Valley, heading a crew of more than 25 cameramen. A number of Marin County residents worked with Becker during the filming.

The official film is a half-hour version of Olympic highlights. Becker said it would probably be released soon through a commercial sponsor for showing before clubs, other groups and on public service television.

Becker's wife, Ann; William Heick of Strawberry; Frank Wulzen of San Rafael; Dr. Frank Howard of San Rafael, his wife and children, and Sali Liberman of Mill Valley worked with Becker.

Mrs: Putnam Backs William Bagley

Genie Missile Display Set At HAFB Briefing

Bay Area city officials will see an "inert" Genie missile during a briefing session tomorrow at Hamilton Air Force on what to do if a nuclear-armed Hamilton jet crashes.

Hamilton F-101 jets carry two of the nuclear-armed missiles on alert missions. Air Force officials say the chance of a nuclear explosion, through handling or as the result of a crashed plane, "is so remote as to be negligible."

Mayors and officials at the invitational meeting will hear comments from Maj. Gen. John Stevenson, commander of the 28th Air Division SAGE, and base commander Col. Harvey E. Henderson, beginning at 1:30 p.m. at base theater No. 1.

Board Calls For Bids On Civic Center Doors

Aaron Green, Marin County Civic Center architect, came under fire from Supervisor Wiliam D. Fusselman today on suspicion of asking prematurely for bids on equipment not to be used for some time to come.

But Green gave satisfactory explanations to the board of supervisors and won unanimous 4-0 authorization, with Supervisor James Marshall absent, to call for bids on about $6,000 worth of vault doors and burglar alarms plus three big folding doors likely to cost around $12,000.

The board set 11 a.m. Nov. 22 as the time for bids to be opened.

Against Fusselman's charge that he seemed to be "moving pretty far ahead," Green replied that the makers in both categories were requiring plenty of notice or they couldn't have the doors ready in time.

Green gave a partial list of other Civic Center purchases to be made by separate bid, including gas and water lines and "custom furniture" on which estimates are being sought from San Quentin Prison.

Fusselman fired up again on that, declaring that "the taxpaying public might look with favor on our using the furniture that we have and replacing it later." But Green said that wasn't what he meant—custom cabinet work, not chairs and tables, were at issue, he said.

Bay Crusade Hits 62% Of '60 Goal

The United Bay Area Crusade is past the seven-million-dollar mark with 62.7 per cent of its 1960 goal of $11,250,000.

Of the total $7,054,059 contributed, Division A (major gifts) accounted for $2,741,545—or 69.6 per cent of its quota.

The largest individual gifts so far, announced yesterday, was $159,300 from Standard Oil Co. of California. This was a corporation gift. The Standard employees' Crusade campaign is still in progress.

Alameda County still holds the lead over the four other Crusade counties, with $1,803,829—65.3 per cent of its goal at latest reporting.

Other county standings:

San Francisco, $1,823,620, 57 per cent; Contra Costa, $263,888, 52.1 per cent; San Mateo, $345,145, 50.5 per cent; Marin, $76,032, 47.7 per cent.

In reports from individual counties, Marin major firms were leading all divisions in that county with 114.6 per cent of goal.

Mrs. James W. Good, chairman of the voters service will be chairman and Mrs. Alan F. French, timekeeper.

Burglars Take $180 At Strawberry Home

Worker Hurt As Car Slips

A San Rafael mechanic was pinned beneath a car yesterday, but emerged with only cuts and bruises.

Frank White, 50, of 1460 Lincoln Avenue was under a car at work at Stenstrom Buick Co., 502 Francisco Boulevard, when the car slipped off its jack, pinning his head against the concrete floor.

Fellow workers lifted off the car, and White was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for cuts and bruises. He was sent home when X-rays showed no serious injury. He was back on the job today.

Citizens Council Backs Recreation Plan In Sausalito

The Sausalito Citizens Council firmly supports the recreational commission in its efforts to develop the Napa-Litho area with recreational and cultural facilities for Sausalito, president Byron Mayo said today.

In a letter to Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., Mayo said: "the available land for recreation is rapidly being built upon. Unless our community acts quickly, the cost of developing recreational and cultural facilities will be prohibitive."

The city council will have before it at tonight's meeting a recreation commission request that a landscape architect be employed for the Napa-Litho area.

Mayo asked the city to investigate possibilities of land purchase from Sausalito Properties Inc., and that this action "be taken immediately."

Alfred Naumann, 28-year-old shipyard worker from San Francisco, must pay a $158 fine and remain on six months probation for drunken driving in San Rafael.

For the next 90 days, he may drive only for work and for family emergencies. Nauman was arrested on Bellam Boulevard in San Rafael on Oct. 23. Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him.

nite time to bring the ordinance to a head."

Mrs. Schultz moved "that we set a time for action by the board for Nov. 15 at 3 p.m.

"The language of this motion would tie us up so we must take action," objected Supervisor William D. Fusselman.

Mrs. Schultz motion failed but the Nov. 15 date was agreed upon.

Fusselman had remarked that only about four people from unincoroprated areas had been heard Wednesday.

Mrs. McDougall arose and said she was one who hadn't been heard due to others who were "agrressive" and "semantic." She said that personally, and speaking for her association's board, she wished to go on record as opposing the ordinance.

Castro said, "we've tried to have everyone get his day in court" but regarding organizations, "it's customary for us to have a list of members and directors."

"We will give the officers and directors but we don't give our membership to anyone," said Mrs. McDougall. "It's state law that you don't have to."

Castro asked if meetings were public, and Mrs. McDougall said: "We're like any other private organization. We don't want people to come to make a disturbance but anyone interested in taxes can come."

Rites Scheduled For Frank Briones

Funeral services will be held Thursday for Frank Briones, who lived all of his 82 years in Bolinas. He was found dead yesterday of apparently natural causes.

He was a descendant of the family which settled the Baulinos Rancho in 1837 under a grant from the Mexican government.

In his youth, he had worked from time to time in the timber country in the northern part of the state, but maintained his residence in Bolinas. For many years he was a gamekeeper for the Point Reyes Sportsmen's Club, but since 1920 devoted his time to ranching, and to his hobby of raising and experimenting with fruit trees.

He was last seen alive on Saturday at 5:15 p.m. when he stopped at the home of his sister, Rose Briones, for a cup of tea. Yesterday morning, she became concerned at not seeing him again and called the sheriff.

The body was found by a sheriff's deputy and a neighbor in a creekbed on Briones' property, according to Coroner Frank J. Keaton. It appeared that he had gone into his orchard and had suffered an attack while there, Keaton said. An autopsy will be performed.

He is survived by three sisters; Rose Briones of Bolinas, Mrs. Inez Walsh and Mrs. Belle Lotter of San Francisco.

A Requiem Mass will be celebrated at Bolinas Catholic Church at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's, San Rafael. Burial will be in Bolinas Catholic Cemetery.

Dr. Plehn died Saturday at her home in Berkeley after a long illness. She was 78.

Dr. Plehn became an assistant professor of social economics at the University of California in 1920.

In 1934 she became a professor of sociology at the Dominican College in San Rafael, and also dean of the graduate school of social work which was dropped from the curriculum in 1937. She left the college that same year.

Edgar Gravdahl, 64, Succumbs

Edgar Gravdahl, 64, died yesterday in his trailer home at the Golden Gate Trailer Park near Corte Madera after a short illness.

A native of Oslo, Norway, Gravdahl had lived in California 35 years. For 14 years he resided in Marin County and made his home in Homestead Valley prior to living at the trailer park at 2000 Redwood Highway.

QUOTES ABOUT CLEM:

Clem Miller, in two years, has done a remarkable job, demonstrating an influence for progress rarely achieved even by a Senator in a six year term.

He has endeavored, with good success, to slow down the Administration effort to deny proper payments in lieu of national forest taxes to support local public schools and roads. He helped achieve the largest increase in authorizations for national forest roads ever made.

Are you sure that's all it was, Jim? You know, we might look at it as an exciting demonstration of municipal bonds at work!

Remember voting for the bond issue to build a new firehouse several years ago? At the time you said, "This is going to cost me money, but I guess we've got to have it." Then, when you renewed your fire insurance and found the rate was lower, you were pleased.

Think of what you saved today, Jim! Insurance money can't replace what you came near losing. Fortunately, the fire was nothing because municipal bonds gave your community the cash to put engines, equipment and firefighters near your house.

The Bank of America and its associated investment dealers bid on virtually all municipal bonds issued in the State because we have confidence in the future of California and communities like yours. These bonds finance fire-fighting equipment, schools, city government buildings, water and sewage facilities, etc.

Do you know what we at Bank of America do with the municipal bonds we buy? We add some of them to our own investment portfolio—and make the rest available for purchase. No one knows better than you do—living right there on the scene—what a sound investment they are!

If you'd like to make an investment in your community secured by its business, industry and by your neighbors, we suggest municipal bonds issued in your area. They're available in denominations of $1,000, pay you a good return and the income you receive is tax free. The manager of your local branch of the Bank of America will be glad to give you full information. or you may write to

COUNTRY CLUB FOR TIBURON — This sketch shows layout developed by Britt and Associates, Tiburon engineering firm, for Del Mar Country Club, planned for 2.7 acres across Tiburon Boulevard from the entrance to Del Mar Estates. The county planning commission is to review the plans next Monday.

Recreational Club Proposal To Get Hearing

Application of Del Mar Country Club, Inc., for a use permit to establish a Tiburon Peninsula recreational operation will be up for hearing before the Marin County Planning Commission next Monday.

It appears as Item 11 on an agenda starting at 9 a.m. at 1711 Grand Avenue.

The proposed club is planned for a 2.7-acre location between Tiburon Boulevard and Richardson Bay, across from the entrance to Del Mar Estates.

An Olympic-sized swimming pool is to be a feature, with diving pool separated by a net, a junior instruction pool and a separate wading pool.

It is also intended to provide three tennis courts conforming with tournament regulations, landscaped grounds, parking for 105 cars and a two-story clubhouse of early California architectural design.

The clubhouse is to have 4,500 square feet of usable space exclusive of decks with the first floor devoted to locker rooms, shower and toilet facilities and a snack bar. On the second floor will be kitchen, social halls and other facilities. An east deck will overlook the tennis courts and a west deck the swiming pools.

Facilities for the club have been designed by Britt and Associates, Tiburon consulting engineers. Estimated cost is $200,000.

The club is planned for a maximum membership of 250 and is to be incorporated as a non-profit organization under California law. Applications may be made to an executive committee comprising Stuart Burt, Keith Morrison, Francis L. Newton, Louis O. Britt and James Murray.

Accountant Says Nixon Cleared Loan Decisions

NEW YORK (AP)—A Los Angeles accountant was quoted by the New York Post today as saying all major decisions concerning a $205,000 loan from the Hughes Tool Co. to Donald Nixon were cleared with his brother, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The newspaper identified the accountant as Phillip Reiner, a member of a management committee named to oversee the operation of Donald Nixon's bankrupt chain of restaurants and gift shops.

However, the Post quoted Reiner as saying the vice president was never supposed to be mentioned by name in reports and correspondence concerning the loan, but by code terms such as "East" or "Eastern Division."

The 1956 loan was brought to public attention recently by Washington columnist Drew Pearson in an article linking the vice president's name with a possible conflict-of-interest.

Donald Nixon said Sunday that the loan was obtained in an unsuccessful effort to save his business but asserted: "I have never asked my brother to do anything for me or anyone else in the government; and if I did ask I know he would refuse."

Pearson's column asserted that "the family of Richard M. Nixon" had received the $205,000 loan on Dec. 10, 1956 — shortly after Nixon's re-election to the vice presidency — and that industrialist Howard Hughes' problems with various government agencies improved.

"Whether the improvement was connected with the loan is not known," Pearson's article added.

Marin Boating To Be Discussed

Promotion of boating around the Marin County shore will be discussed at a luncheon meeting Thursday of San Rafael Chamber of Commerce officials and representatives of boating businesses throughout the county.

Discussed will be a 12-page folder promoting Marin as the "Pleasure Boating Center for the Bay Area." Some 60 marine merchants have been invited to the noon meeting at Bob's of Marin restaurant in Corte Madera. They will meet with chamber president Burton Kirchner and manager Richard L. Shirley.

REASON, NOT ROTE

Tough Arithmetic Eased In Mill Valley

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Arithmetic — that tough grammar school nut with the long name — may be getting easier to crack.

Dad learned it by rote. Johnny, for the most part, is beginning to learn it by reason.

Two indications that arithmetic is getting a kinder name in Mill Valley's Park School, for instance, are these: Pupils, in a survey voted in the majority in favor of the new thought process as against the rote type. Seventy per cent liked it better, 20 per cent liked it as well and 10 per cent liked the old book better.

Teachers who taught the new method last semester elected to keep it this semester.

Here are some quotes of youngsters regarding the newer system: "It makes more sense than the old way." "It's got a lot of pictures to explain things." "You learn more things than when you use the old book." "It makes you think."

There seems to be one bug in the book, though: The parent doesn't always understand. To cope with this, pamphlets explaining the system have been sent home for the parents.

The arithmetic book is Scott, Forseman and Co.'s "Seeing Through Arithmetic," not a state text but one being purchased from school funds.

It should be made clear, said Principal Glenn Skelton, that rote is not out completely. For example, the time tables still have to be learned by rote.

At Park, the new system is used in the third through sixth grades.

Three features of the system are:

1. A new and improved visual approach (diagrams of objects adjacent to figures are emphasized by light and dark colors, imaginatively and clearly done.

2. A new way of doing long division.

3. Making use of equations including ratios.

One basic of the arithmetical approach is that of thinking in terms of ones, tens, hundreds and thousands. Where the previous system gave the rules, Skelton said, the new one gives the principle behind the rules. For example, today a student is taught when borrowing seven from 10, to borrow seven ones from 10 ones.

Park School also uses what is called inter-grade grouping. It works like this:

There are seven classes within three grades: Three in fourth grade, two in fifth grade and two in sixth. Within any of the seven classes a student can cross grade lines. That is, if someone in fifth grade is doing sixth grade arithmetic, he may be moved up to sixth. Likewise, someone in sixth can be moved back to fifth or fourth until he comes up to his own level. This applies at Park only in arithmetic and only in these three grades.

"We don't claim this as a panacea," Skelton said, "but we think it is better than the old system."

In the classrooms you can hear discussions something like this:

"Who will give me a story for this equation?" asks fifth grade teacher Mrs. William Canavan.

Ginger, with blonde air and glasses, raises her hand and replies, "There are 621 chairs in the auditorium and the janitor came in and put in nine groups and there were 69 in each group." The girl brings the problem to life by thinking out an example of her own.

Later, in the teachers' room in the basement of the school, Mrs. Canavan said. "I think there is more real understanding of arithmetic now. There is no mechanical process; it is all a thought process."

Speaking of the thought process which uses ones, tens, hundreds and thousands, Mrs. Wynn Brunner, fourth grade teacher, said: "Everything you do is connected with the multiple 10. My class has learned how to pick out the 10s in numbers—10 fingers, 10 toes. That goes back to the Egyptians or Phoenicians."

Skelton, who is quick to say that the system is not without its problems, also says he believes this system is "out in the frontier as far as textbooks go. It would be my prediction that other textbooks will take this direction."

One of the teacher's favorite quotes from a pupil regarding the "new look" arithmetic is' Forfeshaaaaataa:dsaa metic is, "For the first time I am understanding it.

Auto Upsets At Dillon, Injuring Two

A 15-year-old girl and her 18-year-old boy passenger were injured and got California Highway Patrol citations in a car upset near Dillon Beach at 3:50 p.m. yesterday.

Cherry Young of Marshall was driving a 1936 car belonging to Archie Neal Talbert of Tomales, who was riding with her.

Northbound at about 40 miles an hour, she waved at friends, she told the highway patrol. She lost control of the car. It went over the left shoulder, rolled down an embankment, struck a parked car and overturned.

Miss Young was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts and bruises, and Talbot was transferred to San Rafael General Hospital for treatment of injuries to right shoulder and back.

The highway patrol cited Miss Young for unsafe speed and driving without a license, and Talbot for allowing an unlicensed minor to drive his car.

ROBBERS TAKE CASH GUARDED BY POLICEMAN

The haul—$27,000.

Police said the money had been left at the station for safekeeping by the town cooperative and that it was fully insured. They said local businesses often leave cash at the police station.

The two gunmen entered the station early yesterday, got the drop on constable Bill Plotsky, the only man on duty, and while one guarded him the other searched the office.

Before they fled with the cash box they slugged Plotsky. He was found unconscious on the floor when other members of the force arrived for duty.

The one '61 car built to back up a long-term warranty

Ford led the way with the one car beautifully built to take care of itself . . . and you

On September 29, Ford Dealers set an industry trend—were first to extend their 1961 car warranty from the conventional 4,000 miles or 3 months to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first.

Why? Because Ford built the one car to support such confidence. Ford for 1961 is the one car beautifully built to take care of itself!

The '61 Ford was designed and built to the more exacting standards necessary to offer an extended warranty. Ask to see this warranty at your dealer's.

It is significant that Ford has so many take-care-of-itself features not found in other cars, regardless of price. These new Ford features are a triumph of exhaustive research, fine engineering, and quality construction that give you the most reliable Ford ever built.

The new '61 Ford is worth trading for and living with. See it . . . drive it . . . and convince yourself: This is the Ford in your future!

FORD DIVISION, Ford Motor Company

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 50,000 miles between chassis lubrications. Then a quick, inexpensive Ford Dealer lube job, (which costs about $4.00*) will get you set for another 30,000 miles.

Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

An honor to be proud of, this is the medal presented by the international fashion authority Centro per l'Alta Moda Italiana, for functional expression of classic beauty in the 1961 Ford.

HALLOWEEN INDIAN MEETS WITCH

Youngsters in search of "trick or treat" last night got a turnabout when they rang the doorbell at 242 Locust Avenue in San Rafael. That's the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Bettini, and Mrs. Bettini had turned the front room into a "chamber of horrors," with bodiless heads and such, and was all made up like a witch to startle the goblins. Notably unstartled, however, is trick-or-treat Indian, really Nancy Thelen, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Thelen Jr. of 199 Mountain View Avenue. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Schools May Have Own TV Stations

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's public school chief said yesterday he will ask the 1961 legislature to permit school districts to set up their own educational television stations.

Dr. Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, told a conference of the California Assn. of County School Superintendents:

"What I have seen of television used in classrooms has been impressive," he said. "I believe a high degree of coordination and effectiveness might be achieved through open circuit systems run by groups of districts."

Simpson said many districts won't be able to own and operate their own stations, but could join with nearby districts.

"Television is expensive business," he explained.

"Likewise, the emphasis on quality instruction is going to put a premium on master teachers for such programs. For personnel and fiscal reasons, many school districts will want to work together."

The State Department of Education, he said, has no intention of going into the television business.

"It has been the policy of the department to keep as much control at the district and county level as possible," he declared.

In other matter, Simpson told the superintendents that the department will ask for money to implement school districts' master plans.

First, he said, Gov. Edmund G. Brown will be requested to include $200,000 in his budget. If the governor does not agree, the department will take the request to the legislature, Simpson said.

The 1959 legislature ordered preparation of the master plans but provided no funds.

Ike Schedules Another Talk To Help Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower probably will speak in Cleveland and Pittsburgh Friday or Saturday as part of his final drive to help Vice President Richard M. Nixon win the election.

The drive also includes a television discussion of fiscal policy tonight, a joint appearance with Nixon at a Big New York rally tomorrow night, and a radio-television talk to the nation next Monday night — election eve.

The possibility of speeches in Cleveland and Pittsburgh were reported by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, after Nixon and other Republican strategists talked with Eisenhower yesterday.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh are major cities in two of the most crucial states, Ohio with 25 electoral votes and Pennsylvania with 32.

In his television appearance tonight, Eisenhower will discuss the fiscal situation with Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson. The taped half-hour show will be carried by the CBS network at 8 p.m. PST for Pacific Coast viewers.

Eisenhower will join Nixon tomorrow as he campaigns in the New York suburbs of Westchester and Nassau counties. The two then will head for the big rally in New York's Coliseum.

CALIFORNIA POLL

Survey Shows Voters Swayed By Religion

By MERVIN D. FIELD
Director, California Poll

Although both presidential candidates have disavowed the use of the "Catholic issue" in this election, there is no doubt that it is having a pronounced effect on the race.

Surveys of voter opinion conducted by the California Poll show that many Catholic Republicans are crossing over party lines to vote for Sen. John F. Kennedy, a Catholic. Protestant Democrats, on the other hand, are often found crossing over to vote for the Nixon-Lodge ticket.

Survey results on candidate preference by members of the Catholic faith, who comprise about one-fourth of the California electorate, show a strong leaning toward the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, while Protestants, who make up almost two-thirds of the total registered voters, show a stronger leaning toward the Republican ticket.

	Catholics	Protestants
Nixon-Lodge	22%	56%
Kennedy-Johnson	72	37
Undecided	6	7

Approximately one in 15 members of the state's electorate are Jews. They prefer the Kennedy-Johnson ticket over Nixon-Lodge by a more than three-to-one margin. Those who indicate no religious preference also give a majority preference to the Democratic ticket.

The results of this bloc voting by certain sections of the California electorate tends to cancel out any large-scale effects in either direction. However, certain factors seem to indicate a possible net gain for Kennedy. These are the fact that Kennedy's margin among Catholics and other non-Protestants is more than three to one, while balanced against this is the fact that among Protestants Nixon is favored by only about a three to two margin. The net effect is that Kennedy gains more voters from these groups of voters than Nixon is able to make up among Protestants.

Within the Democratic Party, 93 per cent of the Catholics indicate a preference for Kennedy, and only 3 per cent for Nixon, with 4 per cent undecided. Protestant Democrats divide 65 per cent for Kennedy, 26 per cent for Nixon, and 9 per cent are undecided.

Among Republicans, the Catholic segment votes 24 per cent for Kennedy, 66 per cent for Nixon, and 10 per cent undecided. Republican Protestants align themselves 91 per cent for Nixon, 5 per cent for Kennedy, and 4 per cent undecided.

Fire Insurance Premium Cuts Due In Two Areas

Two areas in Marin County —Glenwood subdivision in East San Rafael and the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary in the Alto Richardson Bay Fire District—will receive a reduction in fire insurance premiums under a newly adopted rating plan.

Under the plan, effective today, premiums on thousands of California one and two-family dwellings and their contents will be reduced, William McLachlin, secretary of the Marin County Assn. of Insurance Agents said.

In Glenwood the rating classification has been changed from Protection Class 6 to 4, with a reduction in rates amounting to less than 10 per cent. (According to National Board of Fire Underwriters grading, higher numbered classes have poorer fire protection; lower numbered have better protection.)

In the seminary area, which is zone 3 of the fire district, the rating has been changed from Protection Class 6 to 5, and the reduction amounts to about five per cent.

Reductions apply to new and renewal policies effective on or after Nov. 1, and also as of today to policies effective on or after Sept. 1.

Mill Valley Council To Sit For Three Nights In A Row

The Mill Valley City Council will meet three nights in a row this week, commencing today at 8 p.m. when it sits to hear a preliminary report by planning consultant Robert Cornish on his study of the undeveloped hill leading up to the Corte Madera ridge. Cornish has been working on the study five weeks.

Tomorrow, the city council will have its regular meeting at 8 p.m., and will have on its agenda City Manager A. E. Almcrants' report on his study of the city's lease with Western Greyhound lines. It will also hear a recommendation that the city hire an architect to make an overall design of structures planned for the city's recreational area, Project 17.

On Thursday, the council has scheduled a meeting behind closed doors to discuss spending public money on acquisition of land for the proposed small craft harbor. The council is relying on an attorney general's opinion that the "attorney-client relationship" may prevail in some cases to exempt the meeting from the necessity of letting the public attend. Prior to the closed meeting, at 7:30 p.m., the council will discuss a proposed ordinance to create an office of director of finance, and the possibility of "streamlining" the city's accounting system.

Tass Asserts Yank 'Spy' Under Arrest

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass said today an "American spy" named Mikhail Platovsky has been arrested in the Soviet Union.

The Tass account, which also was carried by Moscow Radio, said Platovsky — alias Andrei Kreps and Pyotr Sosnovsky — was smuggled into the Soviet Union with another alleged spy named V. M. Slovnov.

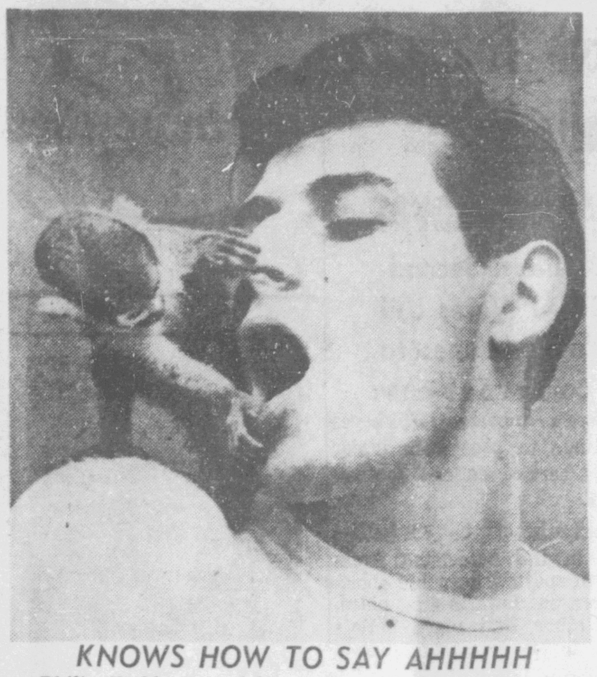

No mention was made of Platovsky's nationality and, beyond saying he was trained in West Germany, Tass gave no further identifying data.

The announcement came five days after the arrest in New York of Igor Y. Melekh, 47, chief of the Soviet section of U.N. document translations, on a charge of espionage. Arrested with Melekh by the FBI was Willie Hirsch, 52, a German medical illustrator.

"Platovsky was instructed by the American intelligence service to take up residence in Minsk and start collecting secret information," the Tass announcement said.

"When arrested he was found to possess two radio transmitters, ciphers, codes, duplicating equipment for printing anti-Soviet leaflets and other espionage gear."

Tass said Platovsky had been trained as a spy by U.S. intelligence officers in espionage schools in West Germany over a nine-month period.

County Dump Fire Sends Up Pall Of Smoke

That column of smoke and flame visible last night over the Corte Madera-Larkspur area was not an uncontrolled brush fire — as many citizens reported to the fire departments of both towns.

It was merely an extra large rubbish-burning at the county dump near Boardwalk No. 1, which grew to oversized proportions because an earth-mover from the county department of public works, which usually builds a firebreak, became stuck and inoperable.

To protect the "cat" from possible damage, the Larkspur Fire Department stood by the blaze all night. More than 1,000 feet of fire hose was run to the fire to protect the machinery.

Larkspur Fire Chief George Bartram said that at no time was the blaze out of control.

Several calls from residents who thought the fire was endangering Corte Madera caused the Corte Madera Fire Department to also go to the scene at 4 a.m. today.

Duplex Owner Guilty Of Zoning Violaton

Anthony Curro of Ross faces a maximum sentence of $500 fine, six months in jail, or both for maintaining a duplex in a single family dwelling zone in San Anselmo.

He was found guilty of a misdemeanor in Marin Municipal Court yesterday in what is believed to be the first such conviction in Marin County. Twelve jurors heard the case before Judge Joseph G. Wilson and brought in a guilty verdict after deliberating for two and one-half hours. The Judge set 3:30 p.m. Nov. 9 as time for sentencing.

City officials throughout the county were watching the outcome with interest because many communities have similar violations that are pending court action.

John G. Buresh, city attorney for San Anselmo, charged that Curro violated the city's zoning ordinance by maintaining a duplex at 41 Austin Avenue. The area is zoned for one-family homes.

City Administrator Douglas Flautt disclosed that about 135 similar violations have been brought to light in San Anselmo, and about seven lawsuits are pending. Curro's case was the first to reach the courts.

Small-Power Disarm Committee Proposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) Canada proposed today that the United Nations create a small-power, non-nuclear committee to assist the major powers in disarmament negotiation.

The proposal, put before the General Assembly's main political committee by Canadian external relations minister Howard C. Green, was co-sponsored by Sweden and Norway. There was a possibility that Denmark might later join the sponsors.

The measure went before the assembly with full support of all political segments in Canada. Lester B. Pearson, Canada's Nobel Prize winning former foreign minister, last night endorsed the proposal designed to end the east-west arms deadlock.

Green called for the small-power groups to be selected by the 99-nation disarmament commission, to be set up as "an advisory or watchdog committee."

"The committee should be composed of a limited number of states, which do not possess nuclear weapons and which are to be selected on the usual U.N. basis of equitable geographic distribution," he said. "It is rather important, from the point of view of efficiency, that the committee be not too large."

He suggested that the watchdog committee be set up at once and report to the full disarmament commission not later than next April 1.

EXPERIENCE COUNTS!

RICHARD NIXON

Eight years' experience in the President's Cabinet . . . in The National Security Council . . . in the United States Senate

No other man in our history has been as well prepared for the Presidency as Richard Nixon. Working closely with President Eisenhower, he has learned first-hand the intricate duties of the Nation's highest office. As the most active Vice President ever, he has proven time after time, at home and abroad, that he has the skill and the courage to solve any challenge that may arise.

Richard Nixon does not have to grow up to the job. He has lived with it for eight years. And because experience counts, Richard Nixon is America's chief hope in the critical years ahead.

HENRY CABOT LODGE

Seven years' experience as United States Ambassador to the United Nations . . . "America's Voice to the World"

There is hardly a man alive with a better working knowledge of Communism and its threats than Henry Cabot Lodge. As America's highly respected spokesman at the U. N. for the past seven years, the Communist challenge has been his primary concern. And time after time, in his forceful and articulate manner he has thwarted Communist attempts at world domination.

There can be no more important issue than world peace. And once again, because experience counts, Henry Cabot Lodge is Richard Nixon's perfect partner for peace.

New Giant Pilot Dark Plans Conferences With Leo, Rigney

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Alvin Dark, a veteran ballplayer who all of a sudden found himself rookie manager of the San Francisco Giants, planned a "summit conference" today with two of his old bosses.

"I'm going to talk to Leo Durocher and Bill Rigney about running this club," Dark said yesterday shortly after the Giants had tendered their former shortstop a two-year contract at an estimated $30,000 per season. "But I'll be talking to them as manager to manager, not as a ballplayer to a manager."

Durocher managed the Giants to two National League pennants and one World Series victory when Dark was his shortstop. Alvin also played for about two months under Rigney in 1956 before the Giants traded him to St. Louis.

Durocher had been prominently mentioned as a successor to Rigney, whom the fifth-place Giants dropped last June 18 when the club was second in the standings. Chief scout Tom Sheehan, who is getting his old job back, managed them during the interim.

"Rig is a good friend of mine and I respect his judgment," Dark said, after getting the former Giant skipper's phone number from a reporter. "I sure hope he lands that job managing Detroit."

Dark, a devout Baptist, returned to the Giant organization from the Milwaukee Braves after considering the offer for a week. He said he did not know if he would keep on playing.

"I talked things over with my wife, Adrienne," Dark said. "We make all our decisions together and we considered this religiously. Then we prayed that it would be a good move."

It marks his first time out as a manager.

The deal was consummated yesterday when the Braves, the fifth National League club he had played with since breaking into the majors 14 years ago, traded him to the Giants in exchange for utility player Andre Rodgers.

Dark said that he always wanted to be a manager and had picked up as much information as he could listening to Ed Stanky, his roommate for four years, Durocher and Charlie Dressen. But he did not affect the role of a strong man who had arrived to straighten out a team often pronounced riddled with factionalism.

"In the first place, I don't want a free hand in running the ball club," he said. "I don't think any first year manager should have a free hand. As a matter of fact, no manager should have a free hand. After all, I've known the men in the Giants' organization for a long time.

"Horace Stoneham, Chub Feeney and Tom Sheehan and the rest are all fine baseball men. I certainly expect to cooperate with them and use their advice."

In fact, Dark seemed puzzled when asked what he thought about reports that cliques had been one factor in causing the Giants to drop out as the pennant favorite this past season.

"I never heard of such reports until today," he answered.

He said that he would discuss deals with Stoneham as soon as the rubicund Giant prexy got home from the team's junket through Japan.

Homers Fail To Win For Giants

TOYAMA, Japan (AP) — Willie Mays smashed two homers for four runs and Orlando Cepeda also hit a pair but the touring San Francisco Giants blew a 7-0 lead and settled for a 7-7 tie with the Japan all-stars today.

The game was called after 10 innings because of darkness.

The Giants built up their big lead in the first six innings but Mike McCormick and Stu Miller were roughed up in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings as the All-Stars bounced back.

McCovey has appeared in seven games, collected nine hits in 22 at-bats, including four roundtrippers.

Giant Southpaw Tops Earn Run Statistics

NEW YORK (AP)—Lefty Mike McCormick posted the lowest earned run average in the National League in 1960, giving the San Francisco Giants their third consecutive ERA winner.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press disclosed today that McCormick wound up with a 2.70 earned run mark.

Frank Baumann of the Chicago White Sox, another southpaw pitcher, won the ERA crown in the American League with 2.68.

The Giants' Sam Jones was the National League ERA leader in 1959, and Stu Miller in 1958. Giants' pitchers have won the title seven times in the past 12 seasons.

McCormick yielded 76 earned runs in 253 innings. He had a 15-12 won-lost record and hurled four shutouts. Baumann, whose 13-6 record included a pair of shutouts, allowed 55 earned runs in 185 innings.

Ernie Broglio of St. Louis was runnerup in the National League with a 2.75 ERA.

Tittle Out Of Action This Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Y. A. Tittle, painfully hobbled by a pulled groin muscle in the San Francisco 49ers' 25-7 victory over the Chicago Bears Sunday, is not expected to play against the Detroit Lions this Sunday.

"He's definitely out," Coach Red Hickey said last night.

"Unless Tittle's leg improves quite a bit, we won't even suit him up Sunday."

That means young John Brodie, the 49ers' on-again, off-again quarterback, will be Johnnie on the spot.

Tigers Also Interested In Casey

Greenberg Eyeing Stengel For Pilot Of New L.A. Club

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hank Greenberg today confirmed reports that he will acquire the new Los Angeles franchise of the American League and indicated he'd like to have Casey Stengel manage the club.

The 70-year-old Casey, let out two weeks ago after 12 years with the New York Yankees, told reporters he has talked to four major league clubs "but I haven't had a definite offer from any of them."

"Why, I just had a call from Detroit advising me I was gonna manage the Tigers," confided Stengel, "but it wasn't official. I'm gonna take a few weeks to make up my mind on what I want to do."

The Associated Press learned yesterday that Stengel might become both field manager and general manager of the new Los Angeles club if Greenberg acquired the franchise.

Greenberg promptly acknowledged his intent regarding the franchise when he arrived here for meetings with officials and presumably other members of his syndicate, but he refrained from a definite statement on Stengel.

Said Grenberg: "I'm a great admirer of Casey, but I honestly don't know if he's available."

Greenberg heads a syndicate that is acquiring the Los Angeles franchise. As a vice president of the Chicago White Sox, he owns approximately 20 per cent of that club's stock, which he will dispose of shortly after the American League's next meeting Nov. 17.

Greenberg said that his associate in the White Sox operation, Bill Veeck, isn't involved in the acquisition of the Los Angeles franchise.

Stanford, Cal Coaches Both Given Boost

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Optimism and gratitude for small favors pervaded the weekly meeting of Northern California football writers and coaches yesterday.

On their minds was something beyond the game. The meeting opened with a minute of silence in memory of the Cal Poly team whose plane crashed at Toledo, Ohio, Saturday night.

Stanford's Jack Curtice, whose Indians lost their seventh straight Saturday, was moved by the Stanford cheering section's loud encouragement.

"Maybe we're getting over that blase attitude that swept the college campuses across the country a few years ago," Curtice said.

"Fellows got so they didn't show up in class with letter sweaters. Maybe that trend is ending. Maybe students are going to be human beings again, human beings interested in other people."

Stanford, 0-3, in the Big Five, goes to Portland Saturday for a non-conference game with Oregon, 5-2.

Marv Levy of California, gratified that the Golden Bears finally broke into the win column—their first since he became head coach at Cal—said "we showed the ability to cash in on the breaks" in beating Oregon State 14-6.

As a result, Levy said, the Bears' confidence and enthusiasm is up as they prepare for Saturday's game with UCLA at Berkeley. Levy said Cal scouts rate UCLA's Bruins as the fastest college team in the nation.

San Jose State meets College of the Pacific at Stockton Saturday night and both coaches —Bob Tichenal of the Spartans and Jack Myers of COP—rate the meeting as the top game of the year for their clubs.

Novato Outgained Marin Catholic '11'

—Statistics of Saturday night's Novato-Marin Catholic High School football contest at Kentfield, won by Novato 12-6, showed the winners amassed 234 yards to Marin's 112.

Novato piled up 194 yards rushing and 40 passing while Marin was held to 25 net yards rushing and 87 in the air.

In first downs Novato made 11, all rushing, while Marin picked up six, one rushing and five passing.

Al Dark Looks Like Good Choice, So Let's Give The Guy A Chance

CONNOLLY

In all probability, Alvin Dark, new manager of the San Francisco Giants, will be an improvement over such field generals as Bill Rigney and Tom Sheehan. He's younger, was a better player than either of his predecessors while actively engaged, and, to all intents and purposes, isn't likely to pattern himself after any other manager.

Dark is 38 years of age, born in Oklahoma and resides in Louisiana where he is an authorized Pepsi Cola distributor and has another "bite" in a mud business, whatever the heck that is.

"I don't want complete authority over a ball club," Dark explained yesterday after Chub Feeney, vice president of the club, announced Dark had been signed for two years.

"I'd like to know when management contemplates a sale, trade or release of a player. I do not necessarily have to agree with them, but if its good for the club, I'll go along.

So you see Dark isn't crowing that he's going to be the boss and have full say of the team. Without saying as much, Dark pretty nearly summed it up when he said:

"I want full charge of the 25 or so players on the field. I want the right to pick my starting lineup, starting pitcher, etc."

Only a week ago, Dark stated, he got a phone call from Chub Fenney asking him if he'd be interested in managing the Giants.

"Give me a little time to think it over," said Dark. "I'll have to consult my wife, as I always do in big matters that concern me. And I'll have to talk it over with my four children.

"After that we'll sit down and do some praying."

Dark is a very devout Baptist Church goer, and he revealed that after he started to pray, the more he prayed the better the Giants job looked to him. Then last Thursday he finished praying and told the Giants he'd accept.

For sheer frankness, one has to admire Dark. He isn't the aggressive type of talker; nor is he the rugged looking individual; nor does he impress me as being a bossy guy. He looks more like a school teacher whose pupils all like him.

When asked if he expected any trouble from the mixed racial roster of the Giants, Dark explained:

"I've never had any trouble with any players and above all I have never been cranky or irritable with Negro players just because I'm a southerner. I think the players themselves will answer for me when they say they've all respected me as a performer and as a gentleman."

Dark doesn't know for sure whether he will become an active player or a bench manager. He's going to wait until spring. But as of now he's on the inactive player list.

"I agree with Mr. Stoneham when he wired me to say he had the nucleus of a winning team," Dark told the press group.

Also Dark was very vague as to whether he planned any coaching changes.

"The Giants have a very capable coaching crew and a very capable head scout in Tom Sheehan. I hope he helps me as much as he did Leo Durocher, when Leo was managing the club in New York."

While the baloney was being passed out by a new butcher the newspaper boys threw a lot of questions at the new skipper. He answered all of them calmly, and reservedly. He made no claims to fame as a manager, reiterated that he had no idea he was to be asked to boss the Giants.

"Ball players change every year," Dark said. "One season they look awful and the next season they're altogether different. Maybe some of the Giants who disappointed their followers last year will come back next spring completely rejuvenated."

Dark was asked what his plans for Johnny Antonelli called for and he explained that Antonelli was one of the best southpaws in the National League. He said that if Antonelli didn't like to play with the S. F. Giants, that would change the picture.

"But the wind in S.F. isn't going to affect me or any of the players. It blows the same for both clubs, so we have to accept it in that fashion," Dark stated.

So many details of Dark's appointment are left open that the former player isn't sure what he'll be doing between now and the major league meeting next month.

"We'll suit a ball club that will be of major league caliber," Dark said, "but the changes, if any, will have to wait awhile."

So there you have it—Dark, the new manager.

He isn't fiery like Durocher or a wise old coot like Sheehan nor a glorified has-been like Casey Stengel. He's just a helluva nice, polite fellow who is happy to be with his old club and willing to face any problem that bobs up. Let's give the guy a chance.

Tam Runner Sets Record

Tamalpais High School's sensational cross-country runner, Bob Hope of Mill Valley, chalked up another victory and another record over the weekend as he won the first annual Oceana Cross Country Invitational Race at Westmoore High School, Daly City.

The small, slender Tam senior covered the 1.9-mile course in 9 minutes 16 seconds, easily breaking the old course record of 9:45. He led a field of approximately 200 runners in the race for high school students.

Hope is undefeated in high school cross-country running this year and in September won Marin County's famed seven-mile Dipsea Handicap Race from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach.

Tam placed high in team standings at the Oceana meet, taking 35th, 41st, 45th and 60th places behind Hope's victory. They were, in that order, Jeff Olson, Reed Dillingham, Dennis Gustafson and Bill Nelson.

Nancy Nadolski, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nadolski of Belvedere-Tiburon, has ben honored by the Tamalpais Swim Club, Coach Bob Sasci announced today.

On Saturday Casci presented Miss Nadolski the club trophy as the most improved and most inspirational swimmer for the past month. Her interest in the sport and attendance at practice and meets also were cited in the award.

Brilliant Young Eastern Net Prospects Settle In Marin

By PAUL MILLER

A closely-knit family named Stockton headed west by automobile this summer from Long Island—their home for several years—and like many moderns when they found Marin, settled.

But unlike other families arriving in a new land, the first thing Richard and Dorothy Stockton, their three sons, Steve, 14; John, 11, and Dick, 9, and two daughters, Debbie, 6, and Donna, 5, did when they entered their new white house on Center Street in San Rafael was to unpack tennis rackets.

These objects had a rightful priority because out of this new San Rafael clan may emerge a couple of national tennis champions.

Steve, now playing for San Rafael High School, and Dick, who goes to West End School, already have amassed between them 60 trophies from net tournaments in the eastern United States and now in the Bay Area.

"Steve Stockton and Harvey Klyce are the finest tennis players I have ever coached, and this is more emphatic when one considers their youth," professed Fred Hines, tennis coach at San Rafael High for 20 years.

How about young Dick?

According to the New York Times, he was classified by Harry Hopman, captain of the Australian Davis Cup team, as "the most promising pupil I have ever seen."

This year, before moving to Marin, both Stockton boys won the New England State Championships and the Connecticut State Tennis Championships in their respective age groups.

Dick exemplified his potential when in May he ambled on the courts at the Greater Pittsburgh Metropolitan Tournament in Pennsylvania and cleaned out top-seeded players in the 13-and-under class, and in the 11-and-under class. It is deduced also that Dick, who advanced to the quarterfinals of the National Junior Tennis Championships in Chattanooga, Tenn., this summer, will be given a number five ranking nationally in the 12-and-under bracket.

SAN FRANCISCO TITLE

Just a week or so after settling in marvelous Marin, Dick went across the bay, and still classified as an "easterner," won the San Francisco City Championship in the 11-and-under class.

What about Steve?

Steve went to the National Boys Outdoor Tennis Championship in Michigan this summer and made it to the third round of play, but California sunshine and Pacific winds must have provided some stimulation for Steve. Recently he became "king" in the 15-and-under, and in the 18-and-under class at the C. W. Davis Memorial Tournament at Berkeley and Dick was right in there with his big brother with a 13-and-under class championship.

What about John? John says nuts on tennis—he likes to swim.

Both Steve and Dick have no hobbies, but are excellent students in school. Steve held the second highest academic rating during his stay at the Eastern Military Academy on Long Island, and hopes to attend the University of California at Berkeley. (Lest their image become too idealistic, it should be reported that neither of the youths is above being tranquilized along with their brothers and sisters by a TV horse opera on a school night.)

DAD AN ATHLETE

Steve began to play tennis at 10 after watching his father—former football and tennis athlete at Columbia—wield a racquet. Richard Stockton, along with others, coaches Steve and also Dick, who began with a ping pong paddle at six.

With Steve and another 14-year-old named Harvey Klyce, San Rafael High has a great team. For example, this season Steve exterminated Sir Francis Drake High School's first player in a match, 6-0, 6-1, and did the same to Vallejo's number one boy, 6-0, 6-1. Klyce last year was runner-up in the Marin County Athletic League and gives Steve some good workouts.

What Coach Hines and the parents of Klyce and Stockton desire is to send both Steve and Harvey to the U. S. National Indoor Boys' Championships in St. Louis, Mo., during the Thanksgiving holidays as both singles and doubles players.

NEED A SPONSOR

Steve has never lost a set to last year's national champion in his class, Karl Hederik. He has not had the opportunity to meet Hederik in tournament play, however. All that is preventing Klyce and Stockton from going to the nationals is a sponsor.

The abilities of the Stockton family have been discussed except Mrs. Stockton's. What about mom?

"I do not play tennis, even though I love it—I'm the chauffeur and the cook," she said.

But if the Stocktons are like most families—except for an abundance of tennis players—Mrs. Stockton just might also be the BOSS!

VANDALS

Three plate glass windows n the San Rafael Public Library at Fifth Avenue and E Street were smashed sometime after 9 p.m., reported librarian Vivian R. Smith.

Dr. Robert Cogswell of 291 East Strawberry Drive, Mill Valley, reported blue paint had been poured over the hood and windshield of his 1960 Oldsmobile convertible about 9 p.m. yesterday. He called sheriff's officers, who searched for the miscreants without success.

There was much throwing of eggs and tomatoes at homes in Greenbrae, both within Larkspur and in the unincorporated area. In Mill Valley, some eggs were thrown at cars in Lytton Square. Mill Valley police confiscated two dozen eggs, a dozen bottles of seltzer water and two civil defense water pump tanks from juveniles.

Twenty-three eggs (fresh) were taken from youngsters by Belvedere police, who also reported water-filled balloons thrown at cars.

Margaret J. Symi of 578 B Street, San Rafael, told San Rafael police that while she was at a party about 10 p.m., someone stole her car, returning it 30 minutes later smeared with splattered eggs.

John D. Forward of 80 Summers Avenue, Novato, said his car window was shattered by tomatoes and water bombs hurled from a passing pickup truck on San Rafael's Fourth Street about 8:15 p.m. Glass fragments sprayed about the car, but none of the occupants —who included several small masqueraders—was injured.

Jack Hirsch of 133 Center Street, San Rafael, reported at 12:30 a.m. today that two lamps in his front yard had been smashed.

There was also at least one instance of obscene writing on the wall of a home on I Street in San Rafael.

Harry Moore, coach at Marin Catholic High School, found the front yard and porch of his home at 43 Hill View in San Rafael's Bret Harte district covered with all types of signs this morning. No damage was done, he said.

Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa had 10 extra officers on patrol last night. They arrested David A. Leonard, 18, of 107 Ross Street, San Rafael, on charges of speeding and failing to yield the right of way after, Police Officer Wade R. Powell said, Leonard's car almost struck a dozen trick-or-treaters walking across Court Street.

Powell said Leonard pulled away from the curb without lights and at high speed at 8:45 p.m. and failed to stop for the youngsters in the crosswalk. He was released on $60 bail, to appear in municipal court at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 7.

Norman C. Gray of 33 Stevens Place, San Rafael, told police his purse containing $20 in cash and a gold cigarette case was stolen while he was dancing at a masquerade party at the Redwood Room, 640 Fourth Street.

In Ross, street signs were blacked out and a fence on the property of Bennet Skewes-Cox on Laurel Grove Avenue was uprooted.

Greenbrae Halloweeners, besides throwing eggs and tomatoes, added an unusual twist when they padlocked three mail boxes.

In Novato, vandalism seemed largely confined to the former Northwestern Pacific Railroad Station, now the sheriff's sub-station. It was pelted with eggs.

Mrs. French Jacks of 571 Wilson Avenue, Novato, said someone threw a flaming object at her porch about 7 p.m. No damage was reported.

Corte Madera Police Chief Frank L. Nelson reported no vandalism of any kind. "The kids were wonderful," he said.

Community Halloween parties were held for children in Corte Madera, Larkspur, Mill Valley and Stinson Beach.

Paul Herriott of 1537 Buchanan Street, Novato, complained that he had been giving out goodies to all youngsters, but someone splattered black liquid shoe polish on the front door, steps and two lawn chairs.

Sheriff's deputies said vandals splattered red paint on the outside wall of the Hosestead outside wall of the Homestead Fire Department reported that a can of spray paint is missing

Hopps, Wife Accused Of Non-Payment

Belvedere financier Stewart B. Hopps and his wife, Geraldine, who settled an eight-million-dollar damage suit for $170,000 last year, have not paid a cent of the money according to a new suit filed in Marin Superior Court.

• Louis V. Jackvony Jr., receiver of the Rhode Island Insurance Co., charges that the first $42,500 was to be paid last June 30, and three more installments are to be paid each year hereafter.

The original eight-million-dollar suit was filed by receivers of the Rhode Island Insurance Co., which charged that Hopps defrauded the company. This was settled out of court for $170,000.

Hopps is also under indictment by a federal grand jury for alleged mail fraud and the Los Angeles Grand Jury for alleged grand theft.

'Pillowcase' Loot Valued At $100,000

Two ex-convicts, suspected of a series of "pillowcase" burglaries, were to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon for arraignment on burglary charges.

Sheriff's deputies estimated the elusive pair got about $100,000 worth of loot in all.

Charged with burglary are Benjamin Wadington, 42, and Lloyd Wendelbo, 44, both of San Francisco.

Inspector Marco Melovich, called in on the case, got an admission of about 30 break-ins in Marin since last June, using pillowcases to haul away the loot.

A third suspect in the "pillowcase" burglaries was nabbed in San Francisco yesterday. He is Robert Daniel Oswald, 19. Inspector William Bradley of the Marin sheriff's office said quantities of loot were found in Oswald's apartment. However, Oswald maintains he did not know the items were stolen, and he was released from Marin County Jail pending further investigation.

More Local Control Is Proposed In Forming Golden Gate Authority

The proposed Golden Gate Authority should take over local air and seaports only with the approval of the local communities now operating them, its advisory counsel recommended today.

In a report to the authority's commission after an eight months study, the advisory council also suggested that directors of the new agency should be controlled by a governing board selected by cities and counties with local elected officials permitted to serve as directors.

Only one of Marin's three members on the advisory Council were present at the meeting in San Francisco. Fred F. Enemark of San Rafael, secretary of the council, was in the audience as chairman Robert T. Nahas of Oakland made the report.

Nahas said all members of the council had either been present and approved the report at a meeting last month, or had written in with their recommendations and suggestions which were incorporated. There was one exception, he said—Marin representative Leland S. Murphy of Inverness, "We have not had and did not receive any communication from Mr. Murphy on this report," Nahas said.

The third Marin member, absent today, is Lawrence Livingston Jr. of Sausalito. Marin's representative on the commission also was absent. He is Joseph Strauss of San Rafael.

Nahas said the new plan departs significantly from the program announced last year.

He said the proposed authority also should be given legislative power "to attack not only our present transportation deficiencies but also the related problems that are sure to emerge as the Bay Area's growth continues." He listed such problems as tideland development, future salt water barriers, bay debris, pollution control and harbor disaster planning.

Under the council's recommendations the six state-owned toll bridges and the district-operated Golden Gate Bridge would be placed under the new regional agency by the state legislature, with the state director of public works and a director of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District serving as ex-officio members of the authority's board.

Nahas said the council feels that while nine bay counties eventually would come under the new authority, at least five should be included at the start —San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin and San Mateo. It proposed Alameda and San Francisco should furnish four directors each, three each from Contra Costa and San Mateo, and two from Marin.

Most of the discussion following the presentation revolved about method of appointing the authority's board of directors and about local control of the installations. Several commissioners indicated they were more interested in a "more centralized" appointive power, perhaps by the governor, than by the local governmental agencies.

Most agreed, however, that the attempt to get the power over transportation facilities under control of local agencies was advisable.

Commissioned Robert Bradford, state director of public works, tried to get Nahas to explain in more detail what a new agency would do that the state is not already doing about the bridges. Bradford noted that there is already a regional concept in bridge operation, including use of bridge revenues to build a rapid transit tube. "The only difference I can see is home rule," Bradford said. "I agree with this too. You can get more sensitive control that way."

The commission took the council's report under advisement.

To Outline Schooling

Thorpe J. DeLasaux, a Marin director of Bay Area Rapid Transit District, was reported in satisfactory condition in Marin General Hospital today after suffering a heart attack at home at 34 Florence Avenue, Mill Valley, last Friday night.

The familiar white door at Ondine will open for luncheon only on Thursday at 12:30 to welcome guests to this informal promenade by select Marin and San Francisco stores whose fashions give a distinct and country elegance to the urban-suburban living of the sixties. Inaugurating the series on Nov. 10 will be "The Look" of a distinguished San Francisco store for the holidays ahead.

Promenading "Fashions With a View" that captures the beauty of the bay and San Francisco in an encompassing sweep will be prominent young women from Marin and San Francisco invited for their special interest in the cause sparked by the "guest with a viewpoint" as well as for their attractiveness and fashion flair. Mrs. John Bellamy Jr. will coordinate the series.

To assure that the fashions—and the view—will both be seen to best advantage, the models will walk informally among the tables, with luncheon at 12:30 and the promenade of styles.

Reservations to enjoy "Fashions With a View" may be made by calling the Ondine in Sausalito.

Needlework Guild Branches Honor National President

Marin branches of the Needlework Guild of America were well represented at the reception and tea given on Friday at the San Rafael Improvement Clubhouse honoring Mrs. James H. Mecum of Salem, N. J., national president of the guild.

Mrs. Mecum spoke of the observance of the guild's seventy-fifth jubilee, which is being observed this year. She said it had the distinction of being the first organization affiliated with the National Red Cross. The affiliation in 1905 was the result of an act of Congress. The first major call on the guild from the Red Cross took place the following year when earthquake and fire devastated San Francisco. Mrs. Mecum praised the Marin guilds for interesting the senior citizens, the handicapped and youth groups in making articles of clothing for distribution by the guild to the needy. The display of many handmade articles from these groups was arranged at the clubhouse by Mrs. Evelyn B. Levy.

Mrs. Mecum spoke of the morale building factor in giving new clothing to children, who had only worn "hand me downs."

Assisting Mrs. Mecum in receiving were Mrs. Carl Riznik, regional director of the national guild and Mesdames Arthur Luchetti, Herman Chiapetta, Neil Brogger and Jack Wilsey.

The books have been illustrated in color by another talented Mill Valley resident, Mrs. Harriet Glazier. Mrs. Owens has just returned from an extended tour of the Far East, where she collected these folk tales and legends which have been told and retold over the centuries.

The fair will be held at the school on Friday from 3 to 8 p.m. and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. More than 300 selections of fiction, non-fiction, science, reference, language books and many others will be available for the public to inspect. Harpists Entertained In Ghiglieri Home

Mrs. Elvira Ghiglieri was hostess Sunday afternoon at her home in Mill Valley to more than 40 people who came from all over Northern California to attend a meeting and program of the Northern California Harp Association.

Highlight of the afternoon was the appearance of Joel Andrews, a new San Francisco Conservatory harp instructor, recently from Texas, where he had staged a harp festival in which 50 harpists performed simultaneously.

Andrew played his own "Rondo Intime," which won an award given annually by the association for a new composition, Handel's harp Concerto and other numbers.

Also playing the harp were the well known Bay Area harpists, Alice Catlin and Virginia Morgan, a former president of the association and harpist for many years with the San Francisco Opera and Symphony under Pierre Monteux. She was a visitor since she is now living in Connecticut.

Providing variety on the program were songs by Naoma Meyer of San Francisco, accompanied at the piano by Raymond Lucas of San Francisco, who also played some turn-of-the-century popular tunes.

Another past president of the association visiting from Lebanon was Mrs. Virginia Lewis, formerly of Berkeley, and present from Bakersfield was Priscilla Mueller, the first editor and continuing board member since then of the international magazine "Harp News."

Following the program Mrs. Ghiglieri served tea.

The Dorcas members also served coffee and cake after the play. On the serving committee were Mesdames Floyd Anderson, Cyril J. Donaldson, Don Millar, Harold Hassold and Robert A. Veblen.

The next meeting of the society will be held Monday, Nov. 7 as Tuesday, the regular meeting day, is election day.

Paris offers a solution, when you've lost one of a pair of earrings. Wear what's left. Designer Pierre Cardin decked his models out in single pear-shaped earrings as long as four inches. At the fall and winter showings, Dior models wore one pearl earring with a black satin bow, and one without.

MILK BANK IN NEED OF DONORS

The Marin Committee of the Mothers' Milk Bank Inc. of San Francisco is in desperate need of donors. A critical situation exists at the milk bank. During the month of September over twice as much milk was dispensed as was obtained from donors and the reserve supply is insufficient to allow this ratio to continue.

Upon the request of a physician mother's milk is provided without charge for infants who are premature or sick. Mothers with surplus milk are needed as donors and are paid. Permission from the donor's physician and permission from the infant's physician are required before a nursing mother can qualify.

The Marin Committee has organized a motor corps to transport the collected milk to San Francisco so it can be pooled, pasteurized, frozen, and dispensed. Volunteer drivers are constantly needed.

At a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Remy Burkel, two San Francisco guests were present, Mrs. Walter C. Fell, treasurer, and Mrs. L. N. R. Leonards, auxiliary president.

Prospective donors or volunteer drivers are urged to call Mrs. Error of San Rafael.

Nursery School To Stage Sale

On Wednesday, Nov. 9, the San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School will hold its fall White Elephant Sale. From the funds received, the school replaces or buys new equipment or undertakes improvements of its present facilities.

Last year an adjacent room was utilized as a music room; a vinyl flooring was laid, the room painted, new curtains made, and a cabinet was added. The school is awaiting a new "jungle gym" for the playyard; the purchase of which is possible because of the White Elephant Sale. At present, an outside doll house, previously used as storage, is now in the process of being renovated in order that the children can use it as a doll house. Inside, the "doll corner" is also undergoing a renovation under the direction of Mrs. Richard Phillips.

Sundry assortments of usable articles and clothing in good condition are auctioned—all of which are donated by the members of the school. Puppies and kittens have often found a home as a result of this sale.

Edna Maguire P-TA To Meet Thursday

Parents will follow their children's school-day footsteps Thursday evening at Edna Maguire School, when the P-TA presents "Meet the Teachers" night.

Mrs. James H. Behr, unit president, urges members to be on time, as the school bell will ring promptly at 8 p.m. Parents will meet in their children's home rooms, and at 15 minute intervals will change classes through the six periods.

Principal Dominic Bobbio has stated that the teacres will discuss the content of their courses and what is expected of students.

QUOTES ABOUT CLEM:

A good Congressman has got to lay out the problems of his District so that they get attention, and action.

This is particularly important for California's relatively undeveloped North Coast, where federal policies and activities can be so influential upon future growth and development.

Floral Arrangement Topic For Delta Zeta

The art of floral arrangement and holiday decor with greenery will be demonstrated to Marin County Delta Zeta Sorority alumnae chapter members at their regular monthly meeting on Thursday at the Corte Madera home of Mrs. Thomas Coates.

Mrs. Katherine Eubanks, Larkspur florist, will show the alumnae types of decorations using greens found in Marin County and special holiday effects. Mrs. Eubanks has served on the Florists Telegraph Delivery Assn. national design school and has taught home and professional arrangement.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting will be co-hostessed by Miss Slavka Cibilich of Corte Madera, who is the new president of the Hearing Society of Marin. Miss Cibilich will report on the society's receipt of the proceeds from the recent successful Delta Zeta sponsored Fashion Focus luncheon. Mrs. Guy H. Gale of Sleepy Hollow was recently appointed to succeed Mrs. Headley Brown of San Rafael on the society's board.

Mrs. Robert Tanem of San Rafael, chapter president, will report on results of the Delta Zeta book booth at the Grape Festival, which, for the fourth year, Delta Zeta alumnae manned. This year the booth netted $192.38 and the alumnae book committee is already planning for collection of new and used books for next year's project.

Membership chairman Mrs. Coates will introduce four new members: Mesdames John Cavanah, Corte Madera; Frank Gloistein, San Rafael; James Zeik, San Anselmo; Harold Tracy, Petaluma. Alumnae desiring transportation to Mrs. Coates home, 22 Flying Cloud Course, Corte Madera, should contact her.

Also on the agenda is a discussion of the Dec. 9 Tom and Jerry party for members and their husbands to be held in the San Anselmo home of Mrs. Robert Oates.

Men Working Hard For Better Looks

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—When a friend faces a marriage break-up chance are that you, being the milk of human kindness, may offer your broad shoulder to cry on. Your reward may be a soured friendship, or two.

Take the word of Mrs. Elsie Siegle who, as assistant director for New York City's Community Service Society, has been counseling bickering couples for more than 20 years.

While social researchers keep tabs on the count of broken homes (approximately 400,000 annually), and the resulting "half-orphaned" children (about 800,000 yearly), nobody accounts for the fringe casualties . . . those friends of quarreling couples who somehow find themselves taking sides.

With one out of four marriages reaching divorce courts these days, and with a tremor in the most unshakable unions occasionally, you have probably already been drawn into the middle of a marital muddle sometime in your life.

Unless you are very wise and very careful. And few people are!

WHY YOU'RE INVOLVED

Miss Siegle, an Austrian-born caseworker in this largest of the nation's Family Service agencies, claims that friends are drawn into the wars of embattled couples for three very human reasons:

1. ALL people are flattered at being solicited for advice.

2. SOME people (the gossipy types) enjoy listening to the sins of the supposed errant husband or wife.

3. MOST people do not wish to turn a friend away at the very time when he or she is obviously in need of friendship.

You don't have to turn a friend away, Mrs. Siegle insists. Indeed you should be helpful in almost all ways you can. Offer to entertain the children. Or invite the friend out to a dinner or show to get his mind off his troubles.

"But don't let these emotionally distraught friends relate to you the details of their personal problem. Tell them that because you are so fond of them that you cannot look at the situation objectively.

You can't. Mrs. Siegle has a thick file full of cases where well-meaning friends have done more harm than good.

A BROAD SHOULDER

"Of course, it is good for them to talk out their troubles with someone, but sometimes impersonal. I don't mean a marriage counselor, necessarily. The family doctor or a minister will do."

The experienced counselor is the first to admit that a state of neutrality is difficult to maintain, particularly if members of your family are involved. Still, it must be done if you are to avoid sometimes unpatchable splits that develop between couples and in-laws.

BUTTING IN?

The spats of little children are a good analogy, Mrs. Siegle thinks. Mothers rush to the defense of their youngsters and wind up not speaking to each other long after the kids are back playing together again.

"Remember that your friend or relative in marital trouble is in a highly emotional state, only able to see the negative said, unable to reason well," she says.

Remember, too, in choosing up sides, that tomorrow the couples may be deeply in love again, but embarrassed because you know what you know, and angry at you for 'butting in.'

Quick And Easy

"Minute steaks," dipped in French dressing, then browned quickly in lard or drippings, may be served on toasted hamburger buns for a quick and easy main dish at supper or lunch.

Presbyterian Society Meets On Nov. 10

Mexican Theme Is Planned For 'Musee de Noel'

The ninth annual "Musee de Noel," fund-raising benefit of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's Hospital, will present a Mexican theme this year when it opens to the public Nov. 22 for a three week period, at 312 Stockton Street, corner of Post, San Francisco.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Baylies Clark, auxiliary members have been working since early spring on this convenient and unique service, designed to simplify Christmas shopping by displaying a large selection of medium priced gifts in one location. Shoppers will find a choice variety of articles for men, women, children, pets and the home.

The proceeds from this benefit will be used to purchase equipment for the pediatric ward of the hospital.

Marin Floral Fete Open To Amateurs

Competitive classes in the fall flower festival to be held next weekend at the Marin Art and Garden Center are open to all amateur growers of chrysanthemums and amateur flower arrangers, show director Murray R. Mackall of Corte Madera said today.

Sponsored by the Garden Society of Marin, the festival will be held Saturday from noon to 6 p. m. and Sunday from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Admission is free.

Information on the competitive classes may be obtained from Mrs. Gael Curto of San Rafael, Mrs. Fred Sloat of San Anselmo or at the center office.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Meet, Tea

The members of the Saint Francis Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will hold an annual fall meeting and a tea to welcome new members. The reception takes place in the home of Mrs. Lloyd S. Ackerman at 3080 Pacific Avenue on Friday, Nov. 18 at 2 p.m.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Madame Irene Beran, a graduate of Le Cordon Bleu, the famous cooking school in Paris. Madame Beran, a newcomer to San Francisco, is well known in leading centers of the world as lecturer and teacher of the culinary art. She will discuss techniques of cooking as practiced here and abroad.

Now You Can Dwell In Marble Halls

CHICAGO (UPI) — Now you can dwell in marble halls—for just $11.95.

This sounds like a come-on from a pitchman. And while the price of marble still is prohibitive, it costs less than $12 to spray a 12x12 foot room with a new paint that gives a finish remarkably like antique marble.

The paint, called Breicraft Antique Marble, has a finish that's as practical as real marble. It's easily cleaned with soap and water, and can be used in the living room, bedroom, on walls or furniture.

The nine available colors, all "veined," include: Roman gold on antique white, Garda green on antique white, Roman gold on Milano beige, Palermo pink on antique white, Florentine beige on antique white, quarry black on antique white, Roman gold on onyx, Rapall white on fresco gray and Capri blue on antique white. Intermixing the colors offers almost unlimited color combinations.

The paint comes in realy-to-use kits, a large room size for the average 12x12 foot room, and an accent area size for smaller rooms, single walls, doors, bathrooms, closets and other small surfaces. Kits include easy-to-follow instruction sheets, a marbelizer applicator and quart jars for the paint.

The applicator is a paint sprayer attachment which can be used with a home vacuum cleaner. Regular paint sprayer equipment also can be used with the new paint.

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 1, the 306th day of the year with 60 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

In 1765, the Stamp Act, levied by the British Crown to raise revenue with the American colonies, went into effect.

In 1864, the Post Office Department introduced the money-order system as a means of providing convenience and safety for people who wanted to make payments through the mails.

In 1871, American author Stephen Crane was born.

In 1918, the Hungarian Republic was proclaimed in Budapest and a Republic of Austria was set up in Vienna ending the Hapsburg monarchy of Austria-Hungary.

A thought for today: American author Stephen Crane wrote: "A man said to the universe: 'Sir, I exist!!' 'However,' replied the universe, 'the fact has not created in me a sense of obligation'."

Hope Voters Won't Demand Tragedy At County Hospital

Prosperous Marin, the county with the highest income per family of any county in the state, is once more being asked to provide a safe, healthful hospital for its ailing oldsters.

Let's not be vague about this matter of safety. The old brick county hospital in Lucas Valley has not been "condemned" in the legal sense of the word. But Gordon R. Cumming, chief of the Bureau of Hospitals, in a letter to the county administrator three weeks ago, put it this way:

"It is the determination of this department your county hospital does not comply with structural standards established in Section 260 of the Hospital Licensing Regulation . . . .The structural hazards which exist in the building are serious and we wish to emphasize the need of early action by your county to correct this situation . . . In a severe (earthquake) shock, the walls would probably fall out, followed by a general loosening up of the building and partial collapse. Loss of life would be probable."

"Loss of life would be probable." He didn't say "possible" or "perhaps."

The situation is in many aspects even worse than this. The aged building has doors into rooms of bedridden patients which are too small to allow the beds to be rolled out to safety in case of fire or other emergency.

Some of the rooms do not even qualify for beds in which non-ambulatory patients can be cared for.

The Board of Supervisors only recently approved a plan for hospital evacuation in an emergency. It calls for many stretchers, for lowering patients out of windows, and other make-shift arrangements because it just isn't possible to get them out in normal ways.

Now we could adopt a hard-hearted attitude of, "Who cares anyway, they're just a bunch of sick, old people who are going to die anyway. Can't we just prop up the building and save some money?"

Skipping everything but the money angle of such an attitude, the present hospital is far from efficient. It would cost many hundreds of thousands of dollars, exact amount not known, to prop up the old building. It would require big steel bands around the outside, to hold the walls together. It would require a complete interior renovation, and even so the oldest part of the hospital still might not be completely usable for hospital purposes.

But even worse, the continuing inefficiency of the old building itself would not be alleviated. It just is not an efficient structure to begin with and it costs more to operate, even with fine management, than it should.

Under the proposed $2,250,000 bond issue, Proposition A on your ballot next Tuesday, a new hospital facility would be built. Not only would it be modern and efficient, but it would be a happier home for the oldsters.

And too, the plan is not to abandon and or tear down the old buildings. Not safe for hospital use, they still can be used for numerious county office activities. And plans are being made to utilize that space.

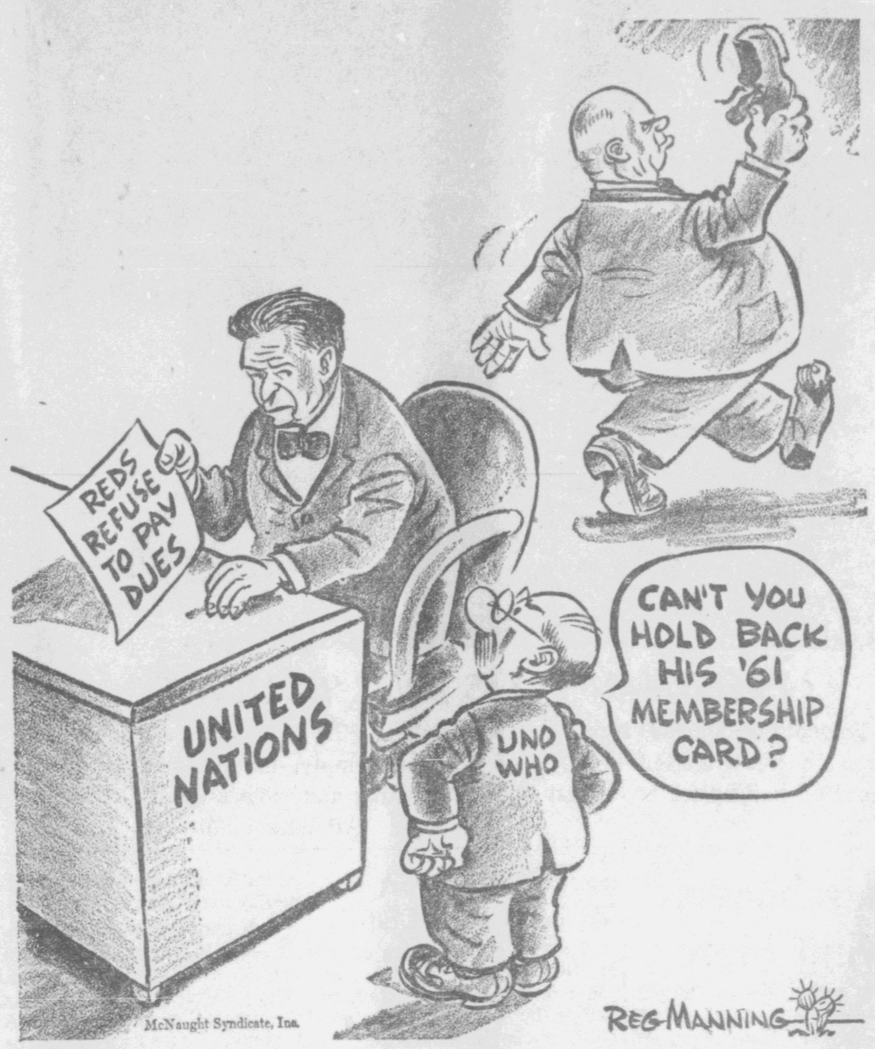

Marin County does not have a single, solitary bond issue outstanding against it. We're proud of that record. We're proud we're building our civic center on pay-as-you-go and our juvenile hall on a loan and repayment plan.

But this is in the nature of an emergency. We've been lucky for years; no major emergency. We've been planning this improvement since 1956. Twice the voters have turned it down, last June by an extremely narrow margin.

We hope the voters won't demand a tragedy before they approve a safe county hospital.

We urge a Yes vote on Proposition A.

Undertake Park Plans Realistically

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As a conservationist I am in support of the idea of the new Point Reyes park. I wonder, however, if we have been going after it in the right way.

I heard Fred Dupuis and Clem Miller discuss the park on KTIM and it seems to me that Mr. Dupuis is on the right track. I am a past president of the Marin Rod and Gun Club, a past president of the Tyee Club and have been active on conservation matters and legislative programs for a long time. The one thing I have learned is that if we try to bite off more than we can chew and if we ignore the economics of these conservation matters, we usually lose more ground than we gain.

Mr. Miller doesn't seem to care about the Point Reyes price tag, but conservationists and sportsmen do, we have to pay the bill. We have learned the hard way in Sacramento and Washington that if we don't do these things realistically, the areas we want will be gone for all time.

Most Unselfish And Patriotic

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Please, before the elections are over and the phrase "a man who" has been filed away for another four years, may I place in nomination for a red-white-and-blue award a man who, unhonored, unsung and thus far unrewarded, is one of the most unselfish and patriotic products of this century:

A man who biennially accepts his wife's pre-election preoccupation with a cause other than himself; who is patient with late meals and later hours, with disorder in the house and weeds in the lawn, and who answers courteously when asked to "look in the drawer, dear, and see if you have a clean handkerchief for tomorrow."

A man who fills in as baby sitter and dishwasher, who stuffs envelopes and then chauffeurs the mail to the mail to the post office and his wife to her next appointment.

A man who endures and even endorses the cause that thus disrupts his home: A man who may think there's only one political party worth mentioning, but who gives each year as much as he can afford to an organization dedicated to the proposition that all parties are created equal and that there is no Republican or Democratic monopoly on civic virtue.

My candidate: Any man who is the husband of an active member of the League of Women Voters.

Very Random Poll Shows How Novato High Schoolers Would Vote

Everyone is taking polls these days. Voters are being trapped on every street corner to tell their secret vote.

So to prepare the younger generation for what is to come, we decided to make a non-selective, very random, non-representative, unscientific poll. We stopped bright-eyed, alert students at Novato High School on their way to classes one morning.

Their opinions may change your vote.

SANDY HENRY, a freshman doesn't think the voting age should be lowered. She'd vote for Nixon, because "Kennedy doesn't show me anything—he just doesn't."

Barbara Balaga, freshman, would vote for Kennedy. "I don't know why, I just think I would." She doesn't think the voting age should be lowered, "I just don't."

Senior Tom Volk thinks the voting age should be raised. "I don't see why anyone votes at all because you're not voting for the man, you're voting for the electoral college anyways."

IF HE COULD vote, he'd be on Kennedy's side, he said after long thought. "Nixon got all those tomatoes thrown at him. He'll never take New York. The Latin American countries don't like him at all."

Jim Madsen's vote would go to Kennedy. Madsen, a freshman, said it's because "he's supposed to make Khrushchev really do what he says and not get out of order at the UN meeting.

"He's not afarid to talk to Khrushchev. He's not afarid of Khrushchev." Madsen is a freshman.

While Mike Conroy, a freshman, would pick Nixon because "I think he'd be better than Kennedy because Kennedy might jump in the UN and get Khrushchev all shook."

GAIL WAITE, a junior, wants to vote for Kennedy. "He seems to have the strongest arguments on what he's for."

And she thinks maybe the voting age should be lowered. "Some of the guys in the service—I think they should be allowed to vote. If they can fight for their country, I think they should be allowed to vote for who's to run it."

Another freshman added: "I think if you can drive a car, you should be able to vote."

SAYS SOPHOMORE Florence Frank:

"I'd vote for Kennedy. He's nicer looking than Nixon. I think his wife is nicer than Mrs. Nixon.

"I think the voting age should be lowered to 18. I think most kids by that age can decide who they're going to vote for."

The predominance of freshmen in this sidewalk political study probably is accounted for by the fact that upperclassmen drive their cars to school.

A Movie The Ladies Should See

We're not being facetious. We're serious.

This week the movie, "Times and Two Women," is being shown free at theaters throughout the county. It is a picture produced by the American Cancer Society to acquaint all women with the quick, painless test for uterine cancer which can be carried out by her doctor during a routine annual checkup.

Uterine cancer last year killed 15,000 women. Most of them need not have died.

It won't take the ladies long to see the film—and it may furnish them years of happy life. (Husbands may go too, if they are interested.)

Diva Dorothy Kirsten Credits Golf, Husband For Her Success

Because of the emotional drain, too, the glamorous blonde Metropolitan Opera star doesn't like to sing a heavy role more than once every fourth day.

Top opera stars—like championship boxers—make a ritual of keeping in the best physical condition. Her training secret is golf.

As a young girl in Montclair, N. J., she studied singing, dancing and acting. She sang swing music with Kate Smith for two years, later became a protege of Grace Moore, who helped develop her interest in opera.

It has been said that behind every successful man is a good woman. She says that behind her success is a good man—her husband, Dr. John D. French, a neurosurgeon.

"The most important thing to me is the happiness I know in my private life," she says.

"When I am happy, I sing my best. This is not true of all artists, but it is true of me. My husband keeps me happy.

"I am never—absolutely never—away from my husband more than three weeks at a time."

Because of her refusal to be away from her Palos Verdes home for extended periods, she quit the Metropolitan Opera a couple of seasons back.

SHE WON her point. The Met called her back during an emergency last April, but she rejoined on her own terms.

What is the greatest penalty of operatic stardom?

"Being unable to get out of the public eye," she said.

"The biggest sacrifice a prima donna has to make is this: She has to look, dress and act like a prima donna—even when she doesn't feel like one. But it gets to be a habit, and you learn to do it."

THIS DOESN'T, in her view, mean that a prima donna is necessarily temperamental or hard to get along with.

"I have had the same secretary for 14 years," she said drily. "I don't know many tenors who can make that claim."

Rumor About Finance Director Leaving Unfounded; A Good Thing

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Rumors have persisted for some time around the State Capitol that John E. Carr, the state director of finance, will get out of the political picture around January 1, and that Gov. Edmund G. Brown will appoint his fair-haired boy, William Warne, the "multi-director," to the post.

Carr has said on many occasions that he intends to stay around Sacramento as long as Governor Brown wants him. The rumors have not changed his mind.

SO IF CARR leaves the finance post, it will be on the insistence of the governor, and not of Carr.

Actually, Carr doesn't know where the rumors started, and cares less. He is a man of independent means, a businessman, and is in a position to work for the people of the state instead of the state's civil service employees. This, he has been doing, which probably sparked the rumors in the first place.

There are, in fact, several places where the scuttle-butt could have started. One is in the upper echelons of the California State Fair and Exposition, which Carr has castigated thoroughly for mismanagement, lack of perception on its future, and failure at least to break even on its annual exposition.

ANY ONE OF several departments, which resent outside interference in their financial operation, could surreptitiously have started such a rumor. Carr has inaugurated a new system of budgeting, which works for the benefit of the taxpayer instead of the bureaucrat. Such action is rank heresy in the realm of the civil service employee.

But wherever the rumor started, it has gotten around enough to pose a serious threat to sound financing and economical government. It was ever thus when an individual who knows something of the problems of the taxpayer attempts to carve some of the fat out of the state deparments and give the people a break.

WARNE, WHO RECENTLY was appointed director of water resources, but who still holds office as director of agriculture, to which post he went from director of fish and game, is a typical government administrator.

Under his guidance, the bureaucrats would have little if any worries. They know their wants, rather than their needs, may be considered when a bureaucrat with little, if any business experience, is at the helm.

Sound business interests are anxious to see Carr carry out his program. These interests recognize the fact that unless some individual is working on behalf of the taxpayers, eventually, taxes again will have to be increased, as Brown did when he took office. However, sound principles of budgeting at least will help keep them down.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

It was in September, just after the opening of the women's college that ornaments the town of Saratoga. As usual, a good many of the girls visited the bank to open checking accounts, writes Frank Sullivan. One of them was a naive freshman. She wanted to open an account very badly.

"How much do you wish to deposit in the account?" asked an official of the bank.

The maid looked at him in starry innocence.

Limerick from Dr. Anthony Collum:

There's a story they tell about Rona
Going 'round in a black silk kimona.
Don't think for a minute
There's anything in it—
That is, anything much besides Rona.

CHERISHED ILLUSIONS SHATTERED

Tree Rings Don't Tell Age; Dry Rot Is Rot

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another one of my crippled illusions has just been shattered and now lies in a quivering, whimpering heap at my feet.

This one was shot down by the Smithsonian Institution, which cold-bloodedly reports that tree rings are not necessarily reliable indicators of a tree's age.

Gad, sir! Is there nothing left we can depend on?

According to the Smithsonian, a new arboreal study shows that trees tend to grow by "flushes," that is, in spurts. A tree may suddenly start growing almost any time of the year and one part may grow while another part does not.

IF THAT REMINDS any of you parents of someone you know, it possibly is because trees seem to have something in common with adolescent children.

At any rate, the report comes as a shock to those of use who grew to manhood thinking that all trees uniformly develop one new ring each year. It is, moreover, only one of a series of reports I have seen recently indicating that an agonizing reappraisal of Mother Nature may be in order.

THE AGRICULTURE Department, for instance, tells us that that age-old belief in the existing of "dry rot" is just a lot of rot. There is no such thing as "dry rot."

All wood decay, the department avers, is caused by a fungus which cannot exist in dry wood.

There also is a question of whether we know whereof we speak when we refer to a "snail's pace." Have you any idea how fast a snail travels? Would you be surprised if I told you that snails can sprint at speeds up to four inches a minute?

Some snails, incidentally, have an interesting love life. When they want to get cozy with another snail, they bombard the object of their affection with little limestone darts, sort of like Cupid arrows.

This will give us something to cling to until some government agency comes along and tells us there is no such thing as Cupid.

SPEAKING OF romance, I recently learned that Agriculture Department scientists have discovered how to produce synthetically the natural perfume which the female gypsy moth uses to attract her lovers.

The breakthrough was made by a chemist named Martin Jacobson, who found that lady gypsy moths get their men with a substance he identified as "dextrorotatory 10-acetoxy-1-hydroxq-cis-7 hexadecene."

When a male gypsy moth gets a whiff of dextrorotatory 10-acetoxy-1-cis-7-hexadecene, he never knows what hits him. And small wonder. No red-blooded, 100 per cent male gypsy moth would be thinking of chemistry at a time like that.

JACOBSON HAS managed to duplicate this mothly aphrodisiac in a compound known as "gyplure." Pest control officials plan to use it to lure male gypsy moths to their destruction.

From a male moth's standpoint, there may not be a better way to die.

Sleepwalking Is Indication Child Has Inner Emotional Problems

"My girl started sleepwalking," a mother writes, "just three months ago.

"She is 11. Last night she walked across the street and climbed a tall tree. We found her on a high branch, stark naked. She was waving her nightie in the air and talking furiously. Why did she do this? Should we tie her down?"

Don't tie her down.

Sleepwalkers have been studied. Every one of them has emotional problems. Young or old, male or female, they're reacting to strain in their lives. Sleepwalking is a symptom. You can't cure symptoms with rope.

Talk with your girl; she may be able to tell you what is bothering her. If she can't, go back over the last few months. What changes have come in her life? Did she fail at school? Is she in conflict with her teacher? Has a health problem developed? Have you been unusually strict with her?

If you can locate the cause of the strain, eliminate it. Or at least try to.

Does she swim well? Or paint? Or play a musical instrument? Can she be a leader in Camp Fire Girls or Girl Scouts? She needs success in large and frequent doses.

Her sleepwalking may continue in spite of your efforts. If it does, take her to a psychologist. (You'll find psychologists on the faculty of your nearest college.) Have her studied and try hard to follow the suggestions the psychologist will make.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Is it true that sleepwalkers have superhuman strength?" P.L.

(A) No. They lack the restraint and balance which comes with consciousness. Therefore they may appear a bit stronger than when they're awake. But they aren't superhuman.

Experts See Recession, But Mild One

NEW YORK (UPI)—A sizable majority of the nation's leading economists foresee a mild recession between now and the end of 1961, a survey showed yesterday.

At least two-thirds of 327 economists canvassed said they expect a downturn in business activity in the next six to nine months with a majority of these seeing a rebound late in 1961.

The other economists polled look for the economy to hold its own through next year.

The annual survey was made by F. W. Dodge Corp., a construction and marketing statistical agency.

"The general feeling . . . seems to be that some corrections have already taken place in the economy during the past several months and that this will serve to lighten the severity of the expected downturn," the corporation said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Churchgoers are giving more money than ever before to organized religion in America, according to the National Council of Churches.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Police Break Up Brawl In Liquor Store

Three Sausalito policemen broke up the battle of the bottles and booked three San Franciscans at Marin County Jail on charges of disturbing the peace, assault and battery and assault with a deadly weapon. The three are Charles Theodore Keating, Alva A. Warner and Michael John Rocco.

Police said the three got into a dispute outside the liquor store with Pasquale Carmino Pettruti of 13 Shell Road, Mill Valley, at 1:25 a.m.

Pettruti went back into the store to get aid. Keating followed, grabbed up a fifth of wine from the store's shelf and hit Pettruti over the head. Police arrived to find Pettruti on the floor, the other three fighting.

In self-defense, William Melbourne, of 703 Bridgeway, manager of the store, picked up a two and one-half gallon jug of wine and hit one of the San Franciscans over the head, wine in full flow.

Army First Lt. Eugene S. Royal, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Royal of 958 Greenhill Road, Mill Valley, recently participated in the Alaska commanding general's rifle and pistol matches at Fort Richardson, Alaska, which featured top shooters in the Alaskan Command.

Row Over $1 Jails 1 Man, Injures 2nd

A dispute over a $1 admission charge to a San Anselmo party Saturday night sent one man to the hospital and one to jail for assault and battery.

San Anselmo police arrested Thomas Craig Mack, 8 Sylvan Lane, Ross, on a citizen's complaint filed by Conrad Williams of 787 Marin Drive, Mill Valley, after Williams said Mack slugged him when he couldn't put a dollar in the "kitty" for drinks at the party.

Williams said he was invited to the social event at 434 Laurel Avenue by the sister-in-law of the host, Gary Dykstra. When he arrived, he said he was met at the door by Mack, who demanded the contribution to help defray cost of the liquor. Williams said he had no money and was told to leave. He then asked permission to look for a friend who was also to be a guest.

At this point, Williams claimed, Mack grabbed him from behind and held him while other guests at the party rained blows on his head. When he got loose he headed for the police.

Sgt. John Orr returned to the party with him and arrested Mack, who pointed out that he merely held Williams while the others did the damage, but refused to identify the others.

Orr dropped Williams off at Marin General Hospital to be treated for a cut left ear and took Mack to county jail where he was bailed out, pending a court appearance at 1:30 today.

Two Ex-Novatans Killed In Auto Crash In Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Van Winkle, Novato residents until two months ago, were killed in a two-car collision last night in Colorado.

Four other persons were injured in the accident, a half mile south of Cedaredge, Colo., United Press International reported.

Colorado state patrolmen said the couple died when Van Winkle attempted to pass a car driven by Duayne Blansett, 16, of Austin, Colo. Van Winkle cut back too quickly and his car struck the left front of Blansett's car, patrolmen said.

The two cars traveled side by side for about 100 feet before separation. Van Winkle's car went about 615 feet before leaving the highway and crashing into a pole.

SERIOUS CONDITION

Blansett's car swerved off the highway and overturned. Blansett and another youth in the car were in serious condition today; two other youths in the car also were injured.

Van Winkle, 38, had lived in various places in Novato for the past two years and had lived at Sears Point and briefly in San Rafael. He and his wife, Mrs. Murrieta Van Winkle, 35, had left for Colorado two months ago to visit relatives. Their last address was 705 Scott Street in Novato. They had no children.

Van Winkle had worked at various jobs in the county, including Lloyd's Van and Moving in Novato. He was a partially disabled World War II veteran.

IN PHILIPPINES

He was an Army corporal at Clark Field in Manila, Philippines, when captured by the Japanese. He spent three and a half year in a Japanese prison camp.

He was a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Van Winkle was born in Nebraska. Mrs. Van Winkle was born in Colorado.

He is survived by a brother, Lowell (Rip) Van Winkle, formerly of Novato and now living in Sonoma; three sisters, Mrs. Paul Sutton of Los Angeles; Mrs. Louis Balmer of Sonoma, and Mrs. Louis Foster of San Rafael, wife of a San Rafael police sergeant, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orve Van Winkle of Novato.

Surviving Mrs. Van Winkle are a step-brother, William H. Schwartze of San Rafael, and two sisters and her mother in Colorado.

Public Hearing Set Again On Anti-Bias Plan

A lively battle on steering strategy for the proposed county "anti-discrimination in housing" ordinance developed at the Marin County Board of Superviors today with these results:

1. Another public hearing on the ordinance was set for 3 p.m. on Nov. 15.

2. County Clerk George S. Jones was told to advertise this, with stress on the point that only unincorporated areas are potentially affected and that their residents should come and speak.

DECISION TRY

3. Three board members, with Supervisor James Marshall absent, defeated an effort by Supervisor Vera Schultz to bind the board to final decision Nov. 15.

As an "added attraction," several board members grilled Mrs. Tom McDougall of Mill Valley as to officers, directors and membership of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn., which she said was against the proposed ordinance.

'DEFINITE TIME'

She promised to provide an up-to-date list of officers and directors but declined to reveal membership, saying she had a state decision supporting this position. It was the directors, she said, who had voted against the anti-bias proposal —"mainly from the monetary standpoint."

Chairman Walter R. Castro introduced the matter of setting a date, saying that at the hearing last Wednesday night he had promised to "set a defi-

Marin 'Copter Pilot Saves Two In Gorge

Fred W. Konkel, 38, of 1001 Las Ovejas Avenue, regional sales manager for Bell Helicopter, used the cargo carriers attached to the sde of the helicopters and flew the men out to St. George.

He reached pilot Al Calder of Las Vegas Airways and his passenger, Tony Brazdys, 10 hours after their survey plane struck a mountainside and fell into a gorge. Calder suffered a broken back and internal injuries and Brazdys a possible pelvis fracture.

Konkel had flown to Las Vegas on a commercial airliner yesterday morning to pick up a helicopter and ferry it back here. William Hall, owner of Las Vegas Airways, told him about the crash and asked him to fly over and get the men.

Mrs. Konkel, who talked to her husband on the telephone last night, said it was fortunate the cargo carriers were attached to the small, three-man helicopter so the injured men could be lifted out.

A B-24 pilot in World War II, Konkel has been with Bell for three years.

He and his family have lived in Terra Linda a year and a half. The Konkels have four children: Julie, 11; Marla, 8; David, 6, and Scott, 4.

Probe Asked Of Gate Span Engineer Hire

State Employee Disclosed As Part-Time Aide

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, Marin Republican, today called for "full-scale investigation" of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District's employment of a state civil service engineer as a part-time consultant.

McCarthy's demand followed disclosure that John J. Kozak of Sacramento, a senior bridge engineer with the California Division of Highways, has been employed since January, 1959, on a part-time basis as consultant to the bridge district.

ADAM UNAVAILABLE

James Adam, general manager of the bridge district, was unavailable to reporters for comment on the disclosure and McCarthy's demand, but issued a statement through a secretary declaring:

"Mr. Kozak primarily performed only minor technical engineering for the bridge district and, he stated, on his own accumulated vacation and other times, and there was no prohibition or conflict against this under state or district rules. He was only casually employed by the district and the amount paid to him was very small."

The amount, it was disclosed, was $7,250 from January, 1959, through August of this year—an average of $362.50 per month.

'ENOUGH MONEY'

McCarthy said he would ask Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk to investigate. There may be nothing wrong with the practice of hiring a state-employed engineer on his "free time," McCarthy commented, but "I believe the bridge district has enough money to hire its own fulltime engineer."

The Marin state senator said he is also concerned with "lobbying in Sacramento" by the bridge district against its absorption into the proposed Golden Gate Authority.

Kozak confirmed the amount paid him and said he did the work on off-duty hours and during vacation time.

NONE FOR YEAR

The bridge district has had no fulltime engineer of its own for more than a year.

Adam's statement said Kozak "has been a research engineer in aerodynamics forces on suspension bridges and because of his intimate familiarity with the Golden Gate Bridge, through previous such studies at the University of California in 1952, he was readily available for analyzing Golden Gate Bridge vibration movements during windstorms."

Nnxon made his last Pennsylvania appearance in Erie, where he appealed to voters to shun the "never-never" economics of Sen. John F. Kennedy or face higher taxes and higher prices.

WILD DEMONSTRATION

Campaigning through Pennsylvania in his final bid to win the state's 32 electoral votes, Nixon encountered one of the wildest demonstrations since he hit the campaign trail. The demonstration occurred in Lancaster, Pa., where the GOP candidate attracted a large turnout in the normally Republican community.

Nixon, bound for Syracuse and Rochester in upstate New York, made his Lancaster appearance before a midtown parking lot audience of 25,000 and in Erie to a wind-blown airport crowd of 15,000 persons, according to police estimates.

With each appearance today, the vice president increased the tempo of his attack on the economic theories and programs of his Democratic opponent.

'VOTE FOR PRICES'

Appealing in Erie to uncommitted voters, he said "You are casting a vote for prices and taxes—whether you want them increased or held in check."

As his motorcade edged through dense crowds in downtown Lancaster streets, Nixon was knocked off balance when an amorous lady Republican tried to kiss him, and later slipped down into the rear seat of his convertible when two young men pulled at his arm at the same time. In another incident, the Republican candidate nearly lost his topcoat to the crowd as well-wishers tried to shake his hand.

PERLE'S FOR DICK

Hostess With Mostest Says GOP The Ticket

Democrat hostess Perle Mesta swept into Marin County in a watermelon pink hat today for a morning of stumping for the Republicans.

The energetic former minister to Luxembourg stopped at radio station KTIM to tape an interview with Kitty Oppenheimer, then moved on to the College of Marin for a meeting sponsored by the college chapter of Young Republicans.

She confided that she had already cast her absentee ballot —for Nixon and Lodge—in Rhode Island, her voting residence.

If John F. Kennedy is elected, "I think we will be in war very quickly . . . Senator Kennedy couldn't stand up to Khrushchev," she declared.

"I traveled 12,000 miles in Russia, and I don't think he is the type of man who could stand up to the Russians," she added.

In her KTIM interview, the "hostess with the mostest" admitted that she "didn't really want to go" when she was named minister to Luxembourg by President Harry S. S. Truman. "I had a home in Washington. I knew everything that was going on . . . was helping put through bills," she said.

Reminiscing about her parties for servicemen overseas, she declared: "I thought it was my duty to do it. I did it with my own money. I was a political appointment . . . and I did it the way I thought it should be done."

Mrs. Mesta stressed that she is a Democrat. Her support of Nixon was her "first reservation," she said.

Democrat Not Worried Over Ike

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, interested but not deeply concerned about President Eisenhower's last-minute push behind the Nixon presidential campaign, tackled the vice president on his home ground of California today with another call for the United States to "move ahead."

The Democratic presidential candidate made a delayed arrival in Los Angeles after an overnight flight from Philadelphia but plunged immediately into his busy two-day California speaking schedule with an address to more than 5,000 students at the University of Southern California. Kennedy's twin-engine Convair circled overhead more than an hour because of heavy fog after a 14-hour flight here.

'STATUS QUO'

Kennedy told his first audience at the university campus this nation is "not going to be a status quo" country in the next decade.

"We are either going to drop back or move ahead," he said.

Kennedy's needling of vice President Richard M. Nixon last night on the question of his getting assistance on the stump from President Eisenhower reverberated from both campaign camps today. But sources close to the senator said he is not concerned about the president's expanded campaign participation in Nixon's behalf.

As part of his drive for Nixon, President Eisenhower tonight will discuss on television the nation's fiscal policy.

MOCKING OFFER

Kennedy's mocking offer to let Nixon also use the president as a backstop in any fifth television debate, it was indicated, was made primarily to highlight the fact his GOP opponent had Eisenhower as a partner in their coming New York City appearance.

The Democratic candidate said today Nixon is a conservative by his own definition and added that a "conservative believes in the status quo."

In a speech prepared for delivery at a clothing workers' rally in Los Angeles today, Kennedy also termed Nixon's "conversion to Democratic programs" like social security is "the greatest escape act since Houdini."

Kennedy promised that he will submit a new program of medical care for the aged based on the social security payment system "within 30 days after I take office." The senator supported such a bill in the last session of Congress.

Cuba Assails West's Delay On Arms Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Cuba accused the Western powers today of delaying tactics on disarmament, and declared that the Soviet Union is the only major power that has made important concessions.

Cuban delegate Manuel Bisbe said the government of Fidel Castro is in complete accord with Soviet disarmament proposals, including liquidation of all foreign military bases.

Speaking in the General Assembly's Political Committee, the Cuban representative continued the attack on the United States which Foreign Minister Raul Roa began Monday in the assembly.

Bisbe again brought the U.S. presidential campaign into the debate by saying "Let us not reopen the debate in the United Nations on the deterioration of U.S. prestige."

San Rafael Police Don Winter Uniforms

Firemen Save Man Trapped In Cement Pit

A Mill Valley construction worker was rescued by San Rafael firemen yesterday from the bottom of a 20-foot concrete caisson where he had fallen after slipping off a girder.

Leonard Blickensderfer, 53, of 113 Valley Circle, Mill Valley, working on construction of a pumping station for the City of San Rafael, was standing on a girder about half-way down the side of the 20-foot concrete-lined pit, when he lost his footing and fell to the bottom, landing between a bracing girder and the concrete wall.

Raymond Sparrow, 165 Leland Way, Belvedere, project superintendent for S and Q Construction Co., called for police and an ambulance. Police, because of the depth of the pit, and fearing to move Blickensderfer without proper equip- called for fire department assistance.

Fire Capt. John Diego and Fireman Ernest Camporelli went down with a basket stretcher into which they lashed the injured man. The stretcher was then hoisted out by a crane belonging to the contractor.

Blickensderfer was taken to San Rafael General Hospital with head and back injuries. He was in fair condition today.

Marin Pranksters Burn Car, Toss Paint, Splatter Eggs, Deflate Tires

Elsewhere in the county, they smashed San Rafael Library windows, uprooted some fences, threw eggs and tomatoes, poured paint on a car and dumped a Bret Harte front yard full of signs. Many cases of air being let out of tires were reported.

Some "meanest person" dropped a piece of evil-tasting "candy" into the "trick or treat" bag of a little San Rafael girl, to set off an investigation by county and state health authorities.

The burned car was a 1954 Chrysler convertible with a registration card in the name of R. H. Corvett, 124 Ethyl Street, Mill Valley." The California Highway Patrol today had been unable to locate such a person. Mill Valley has an Ethel Avenue and Ethel Lane but no Ethyl Street.

The higway patrol was called at 1:30 a.m. to investigate the burning car just east of Crestview Drive. Someone had set fire to the cloth top, and the flames had gutted the vehicle. The county fire department extinguished the fire.

Highway patrolmen said the fire appeared to be a vicious Halloween prank.

The "candy" alarm came when Edward J. Clark of 111 Glen Park Avenue took to the San Rafael police station at 9:30 p.m. yesterday a piece of candy his 6-year-old daughter, Dawn Renee, had found in her "trick or treat" bag.

The girl bit into the candy and screamed. It burned her mouth, she said.

Police said it smelled of pepper and appeared to be "April Fool candy."

However, they turned it over to the county health department, which in turn sent it to

Corbett Whisked Off To Jail In Colorado

DENVER (UPI) — Joseph Corbett Jr., accused kidnap-slayer of millionaire Adolph Coors III, was flown here today in the custody of U.S. deputy marshals and immediately locked in the city jail.

Corbett was whisked away from Tacoma, Wash., aboard a commercial airliner by the federal authorities without advance notice.

Even two Colorado officials who were in Seattle to question Corbett and ostensibly to take custody of him were caught by surprise and did not know of Corbett's transfer until he was aboard the airliner.

One of the state officials, district attorney Barney O'Kane in whose district the kidnap and murder charges have been filed, was obviously nettled by the sudden federal action.

He told a reporter by telephone from Seattle, "If they (federal authorities) want to play games I'll just drop the case."

O'Kane said he and Jefferson County Sheriff Art Wermuth would return to Denver today.

But in the meantime Corbett was booked into the Denver jail as a federal prisoner. Newsmen were denied passes into the jail.

Corbett was arraigned at Seattle yesterday on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and remained in custody under $100,000 bond. He waived extradition to Colorado.

He had been on the most wanted lists of both the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police until captured Saturday in Vancouver, B.C. Canadian authorities quickly turned him over to the FBI.

In addition to being sought in the kidnap- slaying of the wealthy, Golden, Colo., brewer, Corbett was wanted as an escapee from Chino prison where he was serving a five-year-to-life term for the slaying of a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant in 1950.

O'Kane, who had planned to question Corbett today, said evidence against the bespectacled 32-year-old killer was "purely circumstantial" in the Coors case.

O'Kane said he doubted if Corbett would go to trial for both kidnap and murder unless he confesses the crime.

The only evidence against Corbett, according to O'Kane, is that a kidnap note was written on a typewriter belonging to the captured man. Coors was kidnaped in February of this year and a ransom note demanding $500,000 was sent to his family. Negotiations with the Coors family were not carried through by the kidnaper.

DEATHS, VANDALISM

Tragedy Mars Tricks, Treats

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

America donned its traditional Halloween falseface last night and watched it become a double mask of comedy and tragedy.

While millions of youngsters turned "trick or treating" into a fund raising drive for United Nations children's work, vandals used the evening for grown-up crime.

Anti-Catholic literature hid behind a Halloween mask at Pueblo, Colo. One tract which found its way into youngsters' bags termed the Roman Catholic Church everything contrary to the U.S. Constitution."

Vandals cut a swathe of destruction across four New England states. Police charged six York Beach, Mne., youngsters with $3,000 damage to summer resort cottages. Several Hudson, N.H., youths depleted already-low water supplies by opening fire hydrants.

At Hampden, Mass., a fire truck stalled on the way to a fire. Vandals had drained gasoline from the truck's tank. Chicopee, Mass., police investigated reports that bullies were stealing Halloween candy from younger children. Another group of vandals set fire to 40 tons of hay at East Charlotte, Vt.

At Lawrenceburg, Tenn., Robert Mattox, 17, a high school football player, was fatally injured when he jumped or fell from the rear of a pickup truck on its trick or treat rounds.

In Portland, Ore., authorities reported that moth crystals in the form of nuggets were distributed as candy to several Portland children. There were no immediate reports of any of the moth crystals being consumed.

Halloween took a bizarre twist in Arkansas. At Walnut Ridge, pranksters placed a railroad tie on the tracks in front of a St. Louis-Little Rock Missouri Pacific train. A heavy coat of creosote on the tie slid the plank ahead of the train and averted derailment.

At Cabot, Ark., 120 miles south of Walnut Ridge, the same train struck and killed a 17-year-old youth who jumped from a truck into the train's path. Police said the boy, Dale Griffin of Cabot, apparently feared the truck would not make it safely across the tracks.

An Air Force jet broke the sound barrier at 30,000 feet above southwestern Missouri, southeastern Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma, touching off reports of bomb pranks.

Housing Agency Truck Stolen

Thieves got confused while stealing a carryall truck from the parking shed of the administration building at Marin City Saturday afternoon. Instead of reverse gear, they put the truck in forward and rammed into the paint shop wall and door.

Deputy Sheriff James Fleming said the thieves had to move two housing authority pickup trucks to get to the carryall.

The loss was reported at 12:15 p.m. by a janitor, Moses E. Beard of House 586, Marin City.

Fairfax Voters Due Information

Fairfax Voters Information Group will send out 2,500 pieces of literature to voters in the Fairfax School District this week, urging passage of the tax increase proposal next Tuesday.

Headquarters of the group at 17 Bolinas Avenue will remain open this week and up to election day, chairman Jay Hutchinson announced. Baby sitting and car pool services will be provided on Election Day.

In a three-day rummage sale last week the group raised $290 to defray the costs of campaign literature, advertising and office expense.

SEWELL AVERY

Sewell Avery, Ward's Tycoon, Dies At 86

CHICAGO (AP) — Sewell Lee Avery, 86, a strong-willed big businessman who ultimately took on the U.S. Army, died yesterday.

Avery, who was Montgomery Ward and Co. chairman from 1931 to 1955, died in his apartment on fashionable Lake Shore Drive of a cerebral hemorrage. He had been ill for a year.

In financial circles, Avery was a legend.

BRILLIANT, TOUGH

Brilliant and tough, he was almost phenomenally successful from the day in 1894 when he graduated from University of Michigan Law School.

As Montgomery Ward's chief executive he fought spectacular battles against the federal government in 1944 and financier Louis E. Wolfson in 1955.

In 1944, Avery defied the War Labor Board's intervention in a Montgomery Ward dispute with a CIO union.

PICKED HIM UP

The next day two soldiers entered his office, picked him up and deposited him in the street outside.

He later said he deliberately maneuvered the government into a show of force to dramatize what he called the "march of dictatorship"" in the United States.

Two weeks later, the labor controversy was settled, the government relinquished Ward control and Avery was back on the job.

PROXY FIGHT

Wolfson, then 43, staged an eight-month proxy fight against Avery, saying Avery was no longer fit to run the huge $700-million-dollar mail order concern.

Avery, then 81, fought back and won. A few months later he resigned as board chairman and four years later, critically ill with a cancerous tumor, severed his last connection with Ward management.

Avery took over direction of the mail order firm in 1931, when it was slipping toward bankruptcy.

ANGLICAN LEADER WILL MEET WITH POPE JOHN

LONDON (AP) — An archbishop of Canterbury will meet a Roman Catholic pope next month for the first time since Henry VIII broke with the papacy in the 16th century and set up the Church of England.

Archbishop Geoffrey Fisher, spiritual leader of the Church of England, announced today that he will pay a courtesy visit to Pope John XXIII at the Vatican during a Dec. 1-3 stopover on his way home from a Middle Eastern tour.

Vatican sources hailed the visit as a step toward unity but warned against expecting any immediate or dramatic developments. "It is an example of reciprocal goodwill and a new stone on the road to getting closer together," one source said.

Queen Vows To Keep Pubs Open Later

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II opened a new session of Parliament today with a promise to keep the pubs open later at night.

The queen's speech from the throne, written by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government, also promised to work toward the political and economic unity of Western unity and reaffirmed Britain's allegiance to her alliance with the United States and the other North Atlantic nations.

But it was the pledge to reform the licensing laws that the bulk of the British public was interested in.

The queen gave no details. But Home Secretary Richard A. Butler, whose department will prepare the new legislation, has promised later closing hours and also to make them uniform over the country.

Pubs now must close at 10:30 or 11 p.m. in London, depending on what part of the city they are in. Outside the capital the traditional "Time please, gentlemen" comes at 10 a.m.

With the tourist trade in mind, Butler also hopes to make it possible to buy drinks with supper up to 2 a.m. all over the country instead of just in London as at present.

The queen read her message sitting erect on her golden throne in the red and gold chamber of the House of Lords. Her fullskirted dress was of brocaded silk and she wore a glittering crown.

The lords, robed in scarlet with ermine collars, and the diamond-tiaraed peeresses filled the benches of the chamber. Members of the House of Commons in their dark morning suits stood at the back.

The queen stressed that Britain will continue to cooperate "in consolidating the European Free Trade Assn.," the seven-nation West European trade group Britain heads.

The government will work toward the political and economic unity of Western Europe, on a basis satisfactory to all the government concerned, the queen said.

This statement was an expression of the Macmillan government's desire to build a bridge between the free trade group and the rival, six-nation European Common Market group.

As she does in every throne speech, the queen spoke of "the friendship which links us with our great ally, the United States of America." She called this relationship a powerful element for the defense of peace.

Airline Firm Wants To Fly Bodies Home

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The head of Arctic Pacific, Inc., says he will try to get a waiver of the suspension of the firm's flying certificate so it can fly the bodies of 22 victims of a plane crash from here to their homes.

Jack Springer, president of the airline which operated the crashed plane, said last night he had not been given a specific reason for the government's suspension order.

Nineteen of the dead lived in California. Two were from Elkton, Md., and one lived in Chicago.

They were killed Saturday night when a charter flight, attempting a takeoff at the Toledo airport in a heavy fog, crashed and burned. The aircraft carried 48 persons, including the California Polytechnic College football team.

In announcing the suspension order in Washington yesterday, E. R. Quesada, federal aviation administrator, said that circumstandces of the crash "indicate a gross disregard for public safety and the regulations of the Federal Aviation Agency."

Every bill, resolution or order passed by the Arkansas Legislature must be approved or disapproved by the governor—except on the question of adjournment.

Britain Provides Base In Scotland For Polaris Subs

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said today Britain will provide a base in Scotland for American Polaris missile submarines.

"It must be our aim to keep the western deterrent power as effective as possible until a disarmament agreement can be reached," Macmillan told the House of Commons.

"The deterrent would be strengthened if sheltered anchorage on this side could be available for a submarine depot ship and a floating dock," he said. "This the government have undertaken to provide."

The anchorage in the Holy Loch in the Clyde River in Scotland will "be used by U.S. submarines on routine patrol in peace time," Macmillan said.

He said the depot ship "should be established there during February of next year."

A floating dock will follow later, and "supporting facilities will be provided by the Royal Navy," he said.

"OFFENSIVE WEAPON"

Labor member of parliament Archie Manuel demanded to know whether the missile submarine was not "offensive in character and not defensive" and Macmillan replied:

"Of course, it is an offensive weapon. This is another form of the present deterrent and it has perhaps this advantage: At present one side could be tempted to think it could destroy the other without any retaliation, if quick enough. But here's a weapon which can retaliate.

"I believe this house and the country will feel we had no other choice."

FIRST ARRANGEMENT

In a simultaneous announcement in Washington, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said it is the first such arrangement made with any free world ally.

Hagerty said: "The president welcomes this arrangement as further evidence of United States-British cooperation for the mutual benefit of both countries and the NATO alliance."

The Polaris missile is a solid-fuel, intermediate range rocket capable of being launched from a submarine while it is completely submerged. The subs that carry it are nuclear-powered and can remain underwater for extremely long periods without having to surface.

The Navy said the 18,500-ton submarine tender Proteus will arrive at the British base early next year, and that two Polaris submarines will be assigned to the facility for servicing at that time.

By the end of next year, the Navy said, six Polaris submarines will be using the base.

Fire Destroys Grandstand At Reno Diamond

RENO (UPI)—Moana Baseball Park, home of the California League champion Reno Silver Sox, was destroyed by fire early today.

The alarm was received at 2:30 a.m., but by the time units arrived the entire grandstand section of the wooden structure was in flames. The fire was visible throughout the city.

All that was left standing this morning as mopup crews soaked the embers were portions of the baseline bleachers and parts of the plank walls.

It was theorized that Halloween pranksters might have touched off the blaze.

A fire department spokesman said youthful vandals were believed to have started two other fires during the night, one in a trash pile and the other in a pile of dry leaves, which destroyed a nearby auto.

Olympic Film To Be Shown

"Flame in the Snow," official film of the 1960 Winter Olympics, produced by Marvin Becker, of Sausalito, will be given a premiere showing at 5:15 p.m. tomorrow at Roos Atkins store in San Francisco.

Becker served as official photographer for the Olympics at Squaw Valley, heading a crew of more than 25 cameramen. A number of Marin County residents worked with Becker during the filming.

The official film is a half-hour version of Olympic highlights. Becker said it would probably be released soon through a commercial sponsor for showing before clubs, other groups and on public service television.

Becker's wife, Ann; William Heick of Strawberry; Frank Wulzen of San Rafael; Dr. Frank Howard of San Rafael, his wife and children, and Sali Liberman of Mill Valley worked with Becker.

Mrs: Putnam Backs William Bagley

Clem Miller and I share a host of coastal problems that require that we stand together and work together.

He has worked for the advancement of fishing --both commercial and sport, for harbors of refuge, for salmon research.

Genie Missile Display Set At HAFB Briefing

Bay Area city officials will see an "inert" Genie missile during a briefing session tomorrow at Hamilton Air Force on what to do if a nuclear-armed Hamilton jet crashes.

Hamilton F-101 jets carry two of the nuclear-armed missiles on alert missions. Air Force officials say the chance of a nuclear explosion, through handling or as the result of a crashed plane, "is so remote as to be negligible."

Mayors and officials at the invitational meeting will hear comments from Maj. Gen. John Stevenson, commander of the 28th Air Division SAGE, and base commander Col. Harvey E. Henderson, beginning at 1:30 p.m. at base theater No. 1.

Board Calls For Bids On Civic Center Doors

Aaron Green, Marin County Civic Center architect, came under fire from Supervisor Wiliam D. Fusselman today on suspicion of asking prematurely for bids on equipment not to be used for some time to come.

But Green gave satisfactory explanations to the board of supervisors and won unanimous 4-0 authorization, with Supervisor James Marshall absent, to call for bids on about $6,000 worth of vault doors and burglar alarms plus three big folding doors likely to cost around $12,000.

The board set 11 a.m. Nov. 22 as the time for bids to be opened.

Against Fusselman's charge that he seemed to be "moving pretty far ahead," Green replied that the makers in both categories were requiring plenty of notice or they couldn't have the doors ready in time.

Green gave a partial list of other Civic Center purchases to be made by separate bid, including gas and water lines and "custom furniture" on which estimates are being sought from San Quentin Prison.

Fusselman fired up again on that, declaring that "the taxpaying public might look with favor on our using the furniture that we have and replacing it later." But Green said that wasn't what he meant—custom cabinet work, not chairs and tables, were at issue, he said.

Bay Crusade Hits 62% Of '60 Goal

The United Bay Area Crusade is past the seven-million-dollar mark with 62.7 per cent of its 1960 goal of $11,250,000.

Of the total $7,054,059 contributed, Division A (major gifts) accounted for $2,741,545—or 69.6 per cent of its quota.

The largest individual gifts so far, announced yesterday, was $159,300 from Standard Oil Co. of California. This was a corporation gift. The Standard employees' Crusade campaign is still in progress.

Alameda County still holds the lead over the four other Crusade counties, with $1,803,829—65.3 per cent of its goal at latest reporting.

Other county standings:

San Francisco, $1,823,620, 57 per cent; Contra Costa, $263,888, 52.1 per cent; San Mateo, $345,145, 50.5 per cent; Marin, $76,032, 47.7 per cent.

In reports from individual counties, Marin major firms were leading all divisions in that county with 114.6 per cent of goal.

Miller, Dupuis Debate Tomorrow

Election campaign issues will be debated at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Tamalpais High School by Rep. Clement W. Miller, Democratic incumbent, and his Republican opponent, Fred G. Dupuis.

The Mill Valley League of Women Voters, sponsoring the debate, will allow each candidate to speak 15 minutes, to be followed by a five-minute rebuttal. Then, questions will be collected from the audience to be directed to the candidates, according to the league's announcement.

Mrs. James W. Good, chairman of the voters service will be chairman and Mrs. Alan F. French, timekeeper.

Gun Mishap Hurts Corte Madera Man

The 25-year-old water district employee was treated for a lacerated left index finger at Marin General Hospital.

Burglars Take $180 At Strawberry Home

Bucheimer, 27, told Deputy Sheriff Edward Mauberret that he and his wife were gone only an hour. When they returned they found the front door to their apartment unlocked and the money missing.

Worker Hurt As Car Slips

A San Rafael mechanic was pinned beneath a car yesterday, but emerged with only cuts and bruises.

Frank White, 50, of 1460 Lincoln Avenue was under a car at work at Stenstrom Buick Co., 502 Francisco Boulevard, when the car slipped off its jack, pinning his head against the concrete floor.

Fellow workers lifted off the car, and White was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for cuts and bruises. He was sent home when X-rays showed no serious injury. He was back on the job today.

Citizens Council Backs Recreation Plan In Sausalito

The Sausalito Citizens Council firmly supports the recreational commission in its efforts to develop the Napa-Litho area with recreational and cultural facilities for Sausalito, president Byron Mayo said today.

In a letter to Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., Mayo said: "the available land for recreation is rapidly being built upon. Unless our community acts quickly, the cost of developing recreational and cultural facilities will be prohibitive."

The city council will have before it at tonight's meeting a recreation commission request that a landscape architect be employed for the Napa-Litho area.

Mayo asked the city to investigate possibilities of land purchase from Sausalito Properties Inc., and that this action "be taken immediately."

Drunken Driver Gets Fine Of $158

For the next 90 days, he may drive only for work and for family emergencies. Nauman was arrested on Bellam Boulevard in San Rafael on Oct. 23. Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him.

nite time to bring the ordinance to a head."

Mrs. Schultz moved "that we set a time for action by the board for Nov. 15 at 3 p.m.

"The language of this motion would tie us up so we must take action," objected Supervisor William D. Fusselman.

Mrs. Schultz motion failed but the Nov. 15 date was agreed upon.

Fusselman had remarked that only about four people from unincoroprated areas had been heard Wednesday.

Mrs. McDougall arose and said she was one who hadn't been heard due to others who were "agrressive" and "semantic." She said that personally, and speaking for her association's board, she wished to go on record as opposing the ordinance.

Castro said, "we've tried to have everyone get his day in court" but regarding organizations, "it's customary for us to have a list of members and directors."

"We will give the officers and directors but we don't give our membership to anyone," said Mrs. McDougall. "It's state law that you don't have to."

Castro asked if meetings were public, and Mrs. McDougall said: "We're like any other private organization. We don't want people to come to make a disturbance but anyone interested in taxes can come."

Rites Scheduled For Frank Briones

Funeral services will be held Thursday for Frank Briones, who lived all of his 82 years in Bolinas. He was found dead yesterday of apparently natural causes.

He was a descendant of the family which settled the Baulinos Rancho in 1837 under a grant from the Mexican government.

In his youth, he had worked from time to time in the timber country in the northern part of the state, but maintained his residence in Bolinas. For many years he was a gamekeeper for the Point Reyes Sportsmen's Club, but since 1920 devoted his time to ranching, and to his hobby of raising and experimenting with fruit trees.

He was last seen alive on Saturday at 5:15 p.m. when he stopped at the home of his sister, Rose Briones, for a cup of tea. Yesterday morning, she became concerned at not seeing him again and called the sheriff.

The body was found by a sheriff's deputy and a neighbor in a creekbed on Briones' property, according to Coroner Frank J. Keaton. It appeared that he had gone into his orchard and had suffered an attack while there, Keaton said. An autopsy will be performed.

He is survived by three sisters; Rose Briones of Bolinas, Mrs. Inez Walsh and Mrs. Belle Lotter of San Francisco.

A Requiem Mass will be celebrated at Bolinas Catholic Church at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's, San Rafael. Burial will be in Bolinas Catholic Cemetery.

Lula Hammarburg Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Lula Hammarburg, mother of Mrs. Wanda Egger of Corte Madera, with whom she had lived for the past three years, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 55.

She is survived by Mrs. Eggers and another daughter, Mrs. Barbara Oliver of Salt Lake City, as well as five sisters, Mrs. Mildred Talbott of San Rafael, Mrs. Mamie Pors of San Francisco, Mrs. Helen Jackson of Stockton, Mrs. Hazel Rosenberry of Oakland and Mrs. Ruby West of Modesto, and a brother, Lowell Garrison of Ceres, Stanislaus County, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael, with interment in cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma.

Dr. Emily Plehn Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for Dr. Emily Harris Noble Plehn, Bay Area educator and social worker who was dean of the Dominican College graduate school of social work from 1934 to 1937, will be held tomorrow at 3 p.m. at the First Congressional Church in Berkeley.

Dr. Plehn died Saturday at her home in Berkeley after a long illness. She was 78.

Dr. Plehn became an assistant professor of social economics at the University of California in 1920.

In 1934 she became a professor of sociology at the Dominican College in San Rafael, and also dean of the graduate school of social work which was dropped from the curriculum in 1937. She left the college that same year.

Edgar Gravdahl, 64, Succumbs

Edgar Gravdahl, 64, died yesterday in his trailer home at the Golden Gate Trailer Park near Corte Madera after a short illness.

He had been an electrical engineer for Bechtel Corp. in San Francisco for 20 years. His work took him in different parts of the state and during this time he made his home in his trailer.

A native of Oslo, Norway, Gravdahl had lived in California 35 years. For 14 years he resided in Marin County and made his home in Homestead Valley prior to living at the trailer park at 2000 Redwood Highway.

He is survived by his wife, Dirkje (Dix) Gravdahl.

QUOTES ABOUT CLEM:

Clem Miller, in two years, has done a remarkable job, demonstrating an influence for progress rarely achieved even by a Senator in a six year term.

He has endeavored, with good success, to slow down the Administration effort to deny proper payments in lieu of national forest taxes to support local public schools and roads. He helped achieve the largest increase in authorizations for national forest roads ever made.

Are you sure that's all it was, Jim? You know, we might look at it as an exciting demonstration of municipal bonds at work!

Remember voting for the bond issue to build a new firehouse several years ago? At the time you said, "This is going to cost me money, but I guess we've got to have it." Then, when you renewed your fire insurance and found the rate was lower, you were pleased.

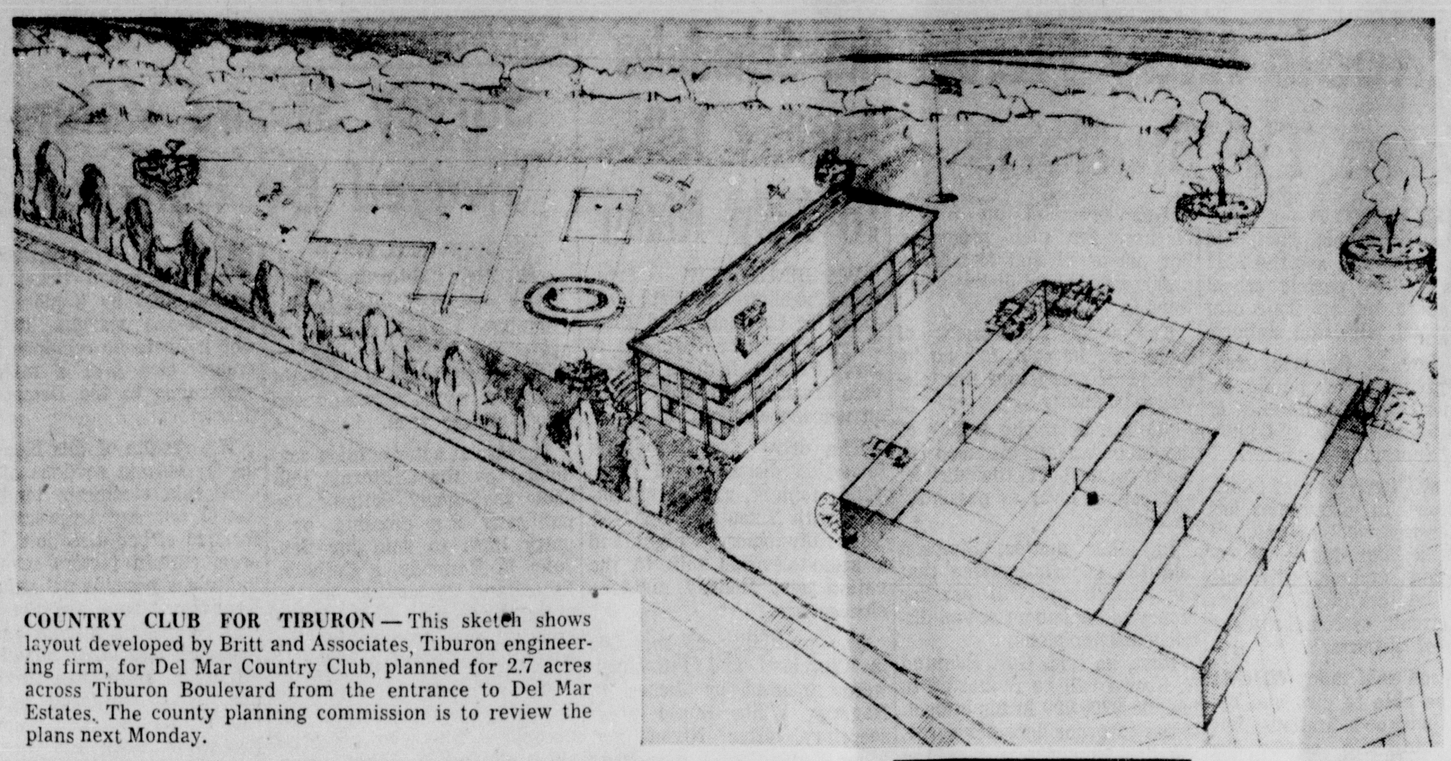

Think of what you saved today, Jim! Insurance money can't replace what you came near losing. Fortunately, the fire was nothing because municipal bonds gave your community the cash to put engines, equipment and firefighters near your house.

The Bank of America and its associated investment dealers bid on virtually all municipal bonds issued in the State because we have confidence in the future of California and communities like yours. These bonds finance fire-fighting equipment, schools, city government buildings, water and sewage facilities, etc.

Do you know what we at Bank of America do with the municipal bonds we buy? We add some of them to our own investment portfolio—and make the rest available for purchase. No one knows better than you do—living right there on the scene—what a sound investment they are!

If you'd like to make an investment in your community secured by its business, industry and by your neighbors, we suggest municipal bonds issued in your area. They're available in denominations of $1,000, pay you a good return and the income you receive is tax free. The manager of your local branch of the Bank of America will be glad to give you full information. or you may write to

COUNTRY CLUB FOR TIBURON — This sketch shows layout developed by Britt and Associates, Tiburon engineering firm, for Del Mar Country Club, planned for 2.7 acres across Tiburon Boulevard from the entrance to Del Mar Estates. The county planning commission is to review the plans next Monday.

Recreational Club Proposal To Get Hearing

Application of Del Mar Country Club, Inc., for a use permit to establish a Tiburon Peninsula recreational operation will be up for hearing before the Marin County Planning Commission next Monday.

It appears as Item 11 on an agenda starting at 9 a.m. at 1711 Grand Avenue.

The proposed club is planned for a 2.7-acre location between Tiburon Boulevard and Richardson Bay, across from the entrance to Del Mar Estates.

An Olympic-sized swimming pool is to be a feature, with diving pool separated by a net, a junior instruction pool and a separate wading pool.

It is also intended to provide three tennis courts conforming with tournament regulations, landscaped grounds, parking for 105 cars and a two-story clubhouse of early California architectural design.

The clubhouse is to have 4,500 square feet of usable space exclusive of decks with the first floor devoted to locker rooms, shower and toilet facilities and a snack bar. On the second floor will be kitchen, social halls and other facilities. An east deck will overlook the tennis courts and a west deck the swiming pools.

Facilities for the club have been designed by Britt and Associates, Tiburon consulting engineers. Estimated cost is $200,000.

The club is planned for a maximum membership of 250 and is to be incorporated as a non-profit organization under California law. Applications may be made to an executive committee comprising Stuart Burt, Keith Morrison, Francis L. Newton, Louis O. Britt and James Murray.

Accountant Says Nixon Cleared Loan Decisions

NEW YORK (AP)—A Los Angeles accountant was quoted by the New York Post today as saying all major decisions concerning a $205,000 loan from the Hughes Tool Co. to Donald Nixon were cleared with his brother, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The newspaper identified the accountant as Phillip Reiner, a member of a management committee named to oversee the operation of Donald Nixon's bankrupt chain of restaurants and gift shops.

However, the Post quoted Reiner as saying the vice president was never supposed to be mentioned by name in reports and correspondence concerning the loan, but by code terms such as "East" or "Eastern Division."

The 1956 loan was brought to public attention recently by Washington columnist Drew Pearson in an article linking the vice president's name with a possible conflict-of-interest.

Donald Nixon said Sunday that the loan was obtained in an unsuccessful effort to save his business but asserted: "I have never asked my brother to do anything for me or anyone else in the government; and if I did ask I know he would refuse."

Pearson's column asserted that "the family of Richard M. Nixon" had received the $205,000 loan on Dec. 10, 1956 — shortly after Nixon's re-election to the vice presidency — and that industrialist Howard Hughes' problems with various government agencies improved.

"Whether the improvement was connected with the loan is not known," Pearson's article added.

Marin Boating To Be Discussed

Promotion of boating around the Marin County shore will be discussed at a luncheon meeting Thursday of San Rafael Chamber of Commerce officials and representatives of boating businesses throughout the county.

Discussed will be a 12-page folder promoting Marin as the "Pleasure Boating Center for the Bay Area." Some 60 marine merchants have been invited to the noon meeting at Bob's of Marin restaurant in Corte Madera. They will meet with chamber president Burton Kirchner and manager Richard L. Shirley.

REASON, NOT ROTE

Tough Arithmetic Eased In Mill Valley

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Arithmetic — that tough grammar school nut with the long name — may be getting easier to crack.

Dad learned it by rote. Johnny, for the most part, is beginning to learn it by reason.

Two indications that arithmetic is getting a kinder name in Mill Valley's Park School, for instance, are these: Pupils, in a survey voted in the majority in favor of the new thought process as against the rote type. Seventy per cent liked it better, 20 per cent liked it as well and 10 per cent liked the old book better.

Teachers who taught the new method last semester elected to keep it this semester.

Here are some quotes of youngsters regarding the newer system: "It makes more sense than the old way." "It's got a lot of pictures to explain things." "You learn more things than when you use the old book." "It makes you think."

There seems to be one bug in the book, though: The parent doesn't always understand. To cope with this, pamphlets explaining the system have been sent home for the parents.

The arithmetic book is Scott, Forseman and Co.'s "Seeing Through Arithmetic," not a state text but one being purchased from school funds.

It should be made clear, said Principal Glenn Skelton, that rote is not out completely. For example, the time tables still have to be learned by rote.

At Park, the new system is used in the third through sixth grades.

Three features of the system are:

1. A new and improved visual approach (diagrams of objects adjacent to figures are emphasized by light and dark colors, imaginatively and clearly done.

2. A new way of doing long division.

3. Making use of equations including ratios.

One basic of the arithmetical approach is that of thinking in terms of ones, tens, hundreds and thousands. Where the previous system gave the rules, Skelton said, the new one gives the principle behind the rules. For example, today a student is taught when borrowing seven from 10, to borrow seven ones from 10 ones.

Park School also uses what is called inter-grade grouping. It works like this:

There are seven classes within three grades: Three in fourth grade, two in fifth grade and two in sixth. Within any of the seven classes a student can cross grade lines. That is, if someone in fifth grade is doing sixth grade arithmetic, he may be moved up to sixth. Likewise, someone in sixth can be moved back to fifth or fourth until he comes up to his own level. This applies at Park only in arithmetic and only in these three grades.

"We don't claim this as a panacea," Skelton said, "but we think it is better than the old system."

In the classrooms you can hear discussions something like this:

"Who will give me a story for this equation?" asks fifth grade teacher Mrs. William Canavan.

Ginger, with blonde air and glasses, raises her hand and replies, "There are 621 chairs in the auditorium and the janitor came in and put in nine groups and there were 69 in each group." The girl brings the problem to life by thinking out an example of her own.

Later, in the teachers' room in the basement of the school, Mrs. Canavan said. "I think there is more real understanding of arithmetic now. There is no mechanical process; it is all a thought process."

Speaking of the thought process which uses ones, tens, hundreds and thousands, Mrs. Wynn Brunner, fourth grade teacher, said: "Everything you do is connected with the multiple 10. My class has learned how to pick out the 10s in numbers—10 fingers, 10 toes. That goes back to the Egyptians or Phoenicians."

Skelton, who is quick to say that the system is not without its problems, also says he believes this system is "out in the frontier as far as textbooks go. It would be my prediction that other textbooks will take this direction."

One of the teacher's favorite quotes from a pupil regarding the "new look" arithmetic is' Forfeshaaaaataa:dsaa metic is, "For the first time I am understanding it.

Auto Upsets At Dillon, Injuring Two

A 15-year-old girl and her 18-year-old boy passenger were injured and got California Highway Patrol citations in a car upset near Dillon Beach at 3:50 p.m. yesterday.

Cherry Young of Marshall was driving a 1936 car belonging to Archie Neal Talbert of Tomales, who was riding with her.

Northbound at about 40 miles an hour, she waved at friends, she told the highway patrol. She lost control of the car. It went over the left shoulder, rolled down an embankment, struck a parked car and overturned.

Miss Young was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts and bruises, and Talbot was transferred to San Rafael General Hospital for treatment of injuries to right shoulder and back.

The highway patrol cited Miss Young for unsafe speed and driving without a license, and Talbot for allowing an unlicensed minor to drive his car.

ROBBERS TAKE CASH GUARDED BY POLICEMAN

The haul—$27,000.

Police said the money had been left at the station for safekeeping by the town cooperative and that it was fully insured. They said local businesses often leave cash at the police station.

The two gunmen entered the station early yesterday, got the drop on constable Bill Plotsky, the only man on duty, and while one guarded him the other searched the office.

Before they fled with the cash box they slugged Plotsky. He was found unconscious on the floor when other members of the force arrived for duty.

The one '61 car built to back up a long-term warranty

Ford led the way with the one car beautifully built to take care of itself . . . and you

On September 29, Ford Dealers set an industry trend—were first to extend their 1961 car warranty from the conventional 4,000 miles or 3 months to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first.

Why? Because Ford built the one car to support such confidence. Ford for 1961 is the one car beautifully built to take care of itself!

The '61 Ford was designed and built to the more exacting standards necessary to offer an extended warranty. Ask to see this warranty at your dealer's.

It is significant that Ford has so many take-care-of-itself features not found in other cars, regardless of price. These new Ford features are a triumph of exhaustive research, fine engineering, and quality construction that give you the most reliable Ford ever built.

The new '61 Ford is worth trading for and living with. See it . . . drive it . . . and convince yourself: This is the Ford in your future!

FORD DIVISION, Ford Motor Company

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications. Then a quick, inexpensive Ford Dealer lube job, (which costs about $4.00*) will get you set for another 30,000 miles.

Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

An honor to be proud of, this is the medal presented by the international fashion authority Centro per l'Alta Moda Italiana, for functional expression of classic beauty in the 1961 Ford.

Schools May Have Own TV Stations

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's public school chief said yesterday he will ask the 1961 legislature to permit school districts to set up their own educational television stations.

Dr. Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, told a conference of the California Assn. of County School Superintendents:

"What I have seen of television used in classrooms has been impressive," he said. "I believe a high degree of coordination and effectiveness might be achieved through open circuit systems run by groups of districts."

Simpson said many districts won't be able to own and operate their own stations, but could join with nearby districts.

"Television is expensive business," he explained.

"Likewise, the emphasis on quality instruction is going to put a premium on master teachers for such programs. For personnel and fiscal reasons, many school districts will want to work together."

The State Department of Education, he said, has no intention of going into the television business.

"It has been the policy of the department to keep as much control at the district and county level as possible," he declared.

In other matter, Simpson told the superintendents that the department will ask for money to implement school districts' master plans.

First, he said, Gov. Edmund G. Brown will be requested to include $200,000 in his budget. If the governor does not agree, the department will take the request to the legislature, Simpson said.

The 1959 legislature ordered preparation of the master plans but provided no funds.

Fire Insurance Premium Cuts Due In Two Areas

Two areas in Marin County —Glenwood subdivision in East San Rafael and the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary in the Alto Richardson Bay Fire District—will receive a reduction in fire insurance premiums under a newly adopted rating plan.

Under the plan, effective today, premiums on thousands of California one and two-family dwellings and their contents will be reduced, William McLachlin, secretary of the Marin County Assn. of Insurance Agents said.

In Glenwood the rating classification has been changed from Protection Class 6 to 4, with a reduction in rates amounting to less than 10 per cent. (According to National Board of Fire Underwriters grading, higher numbered classes have poorer fire protection; lower numbered have better protection.)

In the seminary area, which is zone 3 of the fire district, the rating has been changed from Protection Class 6 to 5, and the reduction amounts to about five per cent.

Reductions apply to new and renewal policies effective on or after Nov. 1, and also as of today to policies effective on or after Sept. 1.

Ike Schedules Another Talk To Help Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower probably will speak in Cleveland and Pittsburgh Friday or Saturday as part of his final drive to help Vice President Richard M. Nixon win the election.

The drive also includes a television discussion of fiscal policy tonight, a joint appearance with Nixon at a Big New York rally tomorrow night, and a radio-television talk to the nation next Monday night — election eve.

The possibility of speeches in Cleveland and Pittsburgh were reported by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, after Nixon and other Republican strategists talked with Eisenhower yesterday.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh are major cities in two of the most crucial states, Ohio with 25 electoral votes and Pennsylvania with 32.

In his television appearance tonight, Eisenhower will discuss the fiscal situation with Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson. The taped half-hour show will be carried by the CBS network at 8 p.m. PST for Pacific Coast viewers.

Eisenhower will join Nixon tomorrow as he campaigns in the New York suburbs of Westchester and Nassau counties. The two then will head for the big rally in New York's Coliseum.

CALIFORNIA POLL

Survey Shows Voters Swayed By Religion

By MERVIN D. FIELD
Director, California Poll

Although both presidential candidates have disavowed the use of the "Catholic issue" in this election, there is no doubt that it is having a pronounced effect on the race.

Surveys of voter opinion conducted by the California Poll show that many Catholic Republicans are crossing over party lines to vote for Sen. John F. Kennedy, a Catholic. Protestant Democrats, on the other hand, are often found crossing over to vote for the Nixon-Lodge ticket.

Survey results on candidate preference by members of the Catholic faith, who comprise about one-fourth of the California electorate, show a strong leaning toward the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, while Protestants, who make up almost two-thirds of the total registered voters, show a stronger leaning toward the Republican ticket.

	Catholics	Protestants
Nixon-Lodge	22%	56%
Kennedy-Johnson	72	37
Undecided	6	7

Approximately one in 15 members of the state's electorate are Jews. They prefer the Kennedy-Johnson ticket over Nixon-Lodge by a more than three-to-one margin. Those who indicate no religious preference also give a majority preference to the Democratic ticket.

The results of this bloc voting by certain sections of the California electorate tends to cancel out any large-scale effects in either direction. However, certain factors seem to indicate a possible net gain for Kennedy. These are the fact that Kennedy's margin among Catholics and other non-Protestants is more than three to one, while balanced against this is the fact that among Protestants Nixon is favored by only about a three to two margin. The net effect is that Kennedy gains more voters from these groups of voters than Nixon is able to make up among Protestants.

Within the Democratic Party, 93 per cent of the Catholics indicate a preference for Kennedy, and only 3 per cent for Nixon, with 4 per cent undecided. Protestant Democrats divide 65 per cent for Kennedy, 26 per cent for Nixon, and 9 per cent are undecided.

Among Republicans, the Catholic segment votes 24 per cent for Kennedy, 66 per cent for Nixon, and 10 per cent undecided. Republican Protestants align themselves 91 per cent for Nixon, 5 per cent for Kennedy, and 4 per cent undecided.

Mill Valley Council To Sit For Three Nights In A Row

The Mill Valley City Council will meet three nights in a row this week, commencing today at 8 p.m. when it sits to hear a preliminary report by planning consultant Robert Cornish on his study of the undeveloped hill leading up to the Corte Madera ridge. Cornish has been working on the study five weeks.

Tomorrow, the city council will have its regular meeting at 8 p.m., and will have on its agenda City Manager A. E. Almcrants' report on his study of the city's lease with Western Greyhound lines. It will also hear a recommendation that the city hire an architect to make an overall design of structures planned for the city's recreational area, Project 17.

On Thursday, the council has scheduled a meeting behind closed doors to discuss spending public money on acquisition of land for the proposed small craft harbor. The council is relying on an attorney general's opinion that the "attorney-client relationship" may prevail in some cases to exempt the meeting from the necessity of letting the public attend. Prior to the closed meeting, at 7:30 p.m., the council will discuss a proposed ordinance to create an office of director of finance, and the possibility of "streamlining" the city's accounting system.

Clem Miller has been a pillar of support in passing legislation to provide mortgage credit on liberal terms in the areas where capital for FHA and GI loans is in short supply, particularly in the far western states.

He co-authored the Emergency Home Ownership Act which provides loan funds to purchase GI and FHA loans on lower-priced housing.

Tass Asserts Yank 'Spy' Under Arrest

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass said today an "American spy" named Mikhail Platovsky has been arrested in the Soviet Union.

The Tass account, which also was carried by Moscow Radio, said Platovsky — alias Andrei Kreps and Pyotr Sosnovsky — was smuggled into the Soviet Union with another alleged spy named V. M. Slovnov.

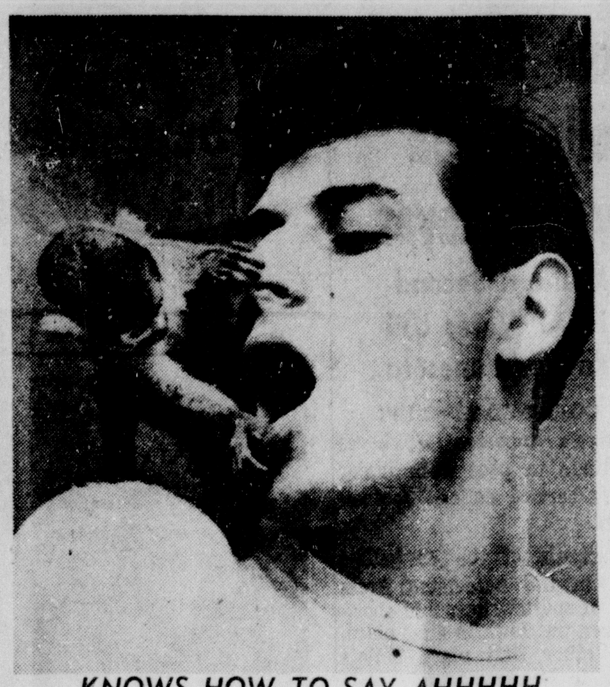

No mention was made of Platovsky's nationality and, beyond saying he was trained in West Germany, Tass gave no further identifying data.

The announcement came five days after the arrest in New York of Igor Y. Melekh, 47, chief of the Soviet section of U.N. document translations, on a charge of espionage. Arrested with Melekh by the FBI was Willie Hirsch, 52, a German medical illustrator.

"Platovsky was instructed by the American intelligence service to take up residence in Minsk and start collecting secret information," the Tass announcement said.

"When arrested he was found to possess two radio transmitters, ciphers, codes, duplicating equipment for printing anti-Soviet leaflets and other espionage gear."

Tass said Platovsky had been trained as a spy by U.S. intelligence officers in espionage schools in West Germany over a nine-month period.

County Dump Fire Sends Up Pall Of Smoke

That column of smoke and flame visible last night over the Corte Madera-Larkspur area was not an uncontrolled brush fire — as many citizens reported to the fire departments of both towns.

It was merely an extra large rubbish-burning at the county dump near Boardwalk No. 1, which grew to oversized proportions because an earth-mover from the county department of public works, which usually builds a firebreak, became stuck and inoperable.

To protect the "cat" from possible damage, the Larkspur Fire Department stood by the blaze all night. More than 1,000 feet of fire hose was run to the fire to protect the machinery.

Larkspur Fire Chief George Bartram said that at no time was the blaze out of control.

Several calls from residents who thought the fire was endangering Corte Madera caused the Corte Madera Fire Department to also go to the scene at 4 a.m. today.

Duplex Owner Guilty Of Zoning Violaton

Anthony Curro of Ross faces a maximum sentence of $500 fine, six months in jail, or both for maintaining a duplex in a single family dwelling zone in San Anselmo.

He was found guilty of a misdemeanor in Marin Municipal Court yesterday in what is believed to be the first such conviction in Marin County. Twelve jurors heard the case before Judge Joseph G. Wilson and brought in a guilty verdict after deliberating for two and one-half hours. The Judge set 3:30 p.m. Nov. 9 as time for sentencing.

City officials throughout the county were watching the outcome with interest because many communities have similar violations that are pending court action.

John G. Buresh, city attorney for San Anselmo, charged that Curro violated the city's zoning ordinance by maintaining a duplex at 41 Austin Avenue. The area is zoned for one-family homes.

City Administrator Douglas Flautt disclosed that about 135 similar violations have been brought to light in San Anselmo, and about seven lawsuits are pending. Curro's case was the first to reach the courts.

Small-Power Disarm Committee Proposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) Canada proposed today that the United Nations create a small-power, non-nuclear committee to assist the major powers in disarmament negotiation.

The proposal, put before the General Assembly's main political committee by Canadian external relations minister Howard C. Green, was co-sponsored by Sweden and Norway. There was a possibility that Denmark might later join the sponsors.

The measure went before the assembly with full support of all political segments in Canada. Lester B. Pearson, Canada's Nobel Prize winning former foreign minister, last night endorsed the proposal designed to end the east-west arms deadlock.

Green called for the small-power groups to be selected by the 99-nation disarmament commission, to be set up as "an advisory or watchdog committee."

"The committee should be composed of a limited number of states, which do not possess nuclear weapons and which are to be selected on the usual U.N. basis of equitable geographic distribution," he said. "It is rather important, from the point of view of efficiency, that the committee be not too large."

He suggested that the watchdog committee be set up at once and report to the full disarmament commission not later than next April 1.

RICHARD NIXON

Eight years' experience in the President's Cabinet . . . in The National Security Council . . . in the United States Senate

No other man in our history has been as well prepared for the Presidency as Richard Nixon. Working closely with President Eisenhower, he has learned first-hand the intricate duties of the Nation's highest office. As the most active Vice President ever, he has proven time after time, at home and abroad, that he has the skill and the courage to solve any challenge that may arise.

Richard Nixon does not have to grow up to the job. He has lived with it for eight years. And because experience counts, Richard Nixon is America's chief hope in the critical years ahead.

HENRY CABOT LODGE

There is hardly a man alive with a better working knowledge of Communism and its threats than Henry Cabot Lodge. As America's highly respected spokesman at the U. N. for the past seven years, the Communist challenge has been his primary concern. And time after time, in his forceful and articulate manner he has thwarted Communist attempts at world domination.

There can be no more important issue than world peace. And once again, because experience counts, Henry Cabot Lodge is Richard Nixon's perfect partner for peace.

New Giant Pilot Dark Plans Conferences With Leo, Rigney

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Alvin Dark, a veteran ballplayer who all of a sudden found himself rookie manager of the San Francisco Giants, planned a "summit conference" today with two of his old bosses.

"I'm going to talk to Leo Durocher and Bill Rigney about running this club," Dark said yesterday shortly after the Giants had tendered their former shortstop a two-year contract at an estimated $30,000 per season. "But I'll be talking to them as manager to manager, not as a ballplayer to a manager."

Durocher managed the Giants to two National League pennants and one World Series victory when Dark was his shortstop. Alvin also played for about two months under Rigney in 1956 before the Giants traded him to St. Louis.

Durocher had been prominently mentioned as a successor to Rigney, whom the fifth-place Giants dropped last June 18 when the club was second in the standings. Chief scout Tom Sheehan, who is getting his old job back, managed them during the interim.

"Rig is a good friend of mine and I respect his judgment," Dark said, after getting the former Giant skipper's phone number from a reporter. "I sure hope he lands that job managing Detroit."

Dark, a devout Baptist, returned to the Giant organization from the Milwaukee Braves after considering the offer for a week. He said he did not know if he would keep on playing.

"I talked things over with my wife, Adrienne," Dark said. "We make all our decisions together and we considered this religiously. Then we prayed that it would be a good move."

It marks his first time out as a manager.

The deal was consummated yesterday when the Braves, the fifth National League club he had played with since breaking into the majors 14 years ago, traded him to the Giants in exchange for utility player Andre Rodgers.

Dark said that he always wanted to be a manager and had picked up as much information as he could listening to Ed Stanky, his roommate for four years, Durocher and Charlie Dressen. But he did not affect the role of a strong man who had arrived to straighten out a team often pronounced riddled with factionalism.

"In the first place, I don't want a free hand in running the ball club," he said. "I don't think any first year manager should have a free hand. As a matter of fact, no manager should have a free hand. After all, I've known the men in the Giants' organization for a long time.

"Horace Stoneham, Chub Feeney and Tom Sheehan and the rest are all fine baseball men. I certainly expect to cooperate with them and use their advice."

In fact, Dark seemed puzzled when asked what he thought about reports that cliques had been one factor in causing the Giants to drop out as the pennant favorite this past season.

"I never heard of such reports until today," he answered.

He said that he would discuss deals with Stoneham as soon as the rubicund Giant prexy got home from the team's junket through Japan.

Homers Fail To Win For Giants

TOYAMA, Japan (AP) — Willie Mays smashed two homers for four runs and Orlando Cepeda also hit a pair but the touring San Francisco Giants blew a 7-0 lead and settled for a 7-7 tie with the Japan all-stars today.

The game was called after 10 innings because of darkness.

The Giants built up their big lead in the first six innings but Mike McCormick and Stu Miller were roughed up in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings as the All-Stars bounced back.

Giant Southpaw Tops Earn Run Statistics

NEW YORK (AP)—Lefty Mike McCormick posted the lowest earned run average in the National League in 1960, giving the San Francisco Giants their third consecutive ERA winner.

The Giants' Sam Jones was the National League ERA leader in 1959, and Stu Miller in 1958. Giants' pitchers have won the title seven times in the past 12 seasons.

McCormick yielded 76 earned runs in 253 innings. He had a 15-12 won-lost record and hurled four shutouts. Baumann, whose 13-6 record included a pair of shutouts, allowed 55 earned runs in 185 innings.

Ernie Broglio of St. Louis was runnerup in the National League with a 2.75 ERA.

Tittle Out Of Action This Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Y. A. Tittle, painfully hobbled by a pulled groin muscle in the San Francisco 49ers' 25-7 victory over the Chicago Bears Sunday, is not expected to play against the Detroit Lions this Sunday.

"He's definitely out," Coach Red Hickey said last night.

"Unless Tittle's leg improves quite a bit, we won't even suit him up Sunday."

That means young John Brodie, the 49ers' on-again, off-again quarterback, will be Johnnie on the spot.

Tigers Also Interested In Casey

Greenberg Eyeing Stengel For Pilot Of New L.A. Club

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hank Greenberg today confirmed reports that he will acquire the new Los Angeles franchise of the American League and indicated he'd like to have Casey Stengel manage the club.

The 70-year-old Casey, let out two weeks ago after 12 years with the New York Yankees, told reporters he has talked to four major league clubs "but I haven't had a definite offer from any of them."

"Why, I just had a call from Detroit advising me I was gonna manage the Tigers," confided Stengel, "but it wasn't official. I'm gonna take a few weeks to make up my mind on what I want to do."

The Associated Press learned yesterday that Stengel might become both field manager and general manager of the new Los Angeles club if Greenberg acquired the franchise.

Greenberg promptly acknowledged his intent regarding the franchise when he arrived here for meetings with officials and presumably other members of his syndicate, but he refrained from a definite statement on Stengel.

Said Grenberg: "I'm a great admirer of Casey, but I honestly don't know if he's available."

Greenberg heads a syndicate that is acquiring the Los Angeles franchise. As a vice president of the Chicago White Sox, he owns approximately 20 per cent of that club's stock, which he will dispose of shortly after the American League's next meeting Nov. 17.

Greenberg said that his associate in the White Sox operation, Bill Veeck, isn't involved in the acquisition of the Los Angeles franchise.

Stanford, Cal Coaches Both Given Boost

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Optimism and gratitude for small favors pervaded the weekly meeting of Northern California football writers and coaches yesterday.

On their minds was something beyond the game. The meeting opened with a minute of silence in memory of the Cal Poly team whose plane crashed at Toledo, Ohio, Saturday night.

Stanford's Jack Curtice, whose Indians lost their seventh straight Saturday, was moved by the Stanford cheering section's loud encouragement.

"Maybe we're getting over that blase attitude that swept the college campuses across the country a few years ago," Curtice said.

"Fellows got so they didn't show up in class with letter sweaters. Maybe that trend is ending. Maybe students are going to be human beings again, human beings interested in other people."

Stanford, 0-3, in the Big Five, goes to Portland Saturday for a non-conference game with Oregon, 5-2.

Marv Levy of California, gratified that the Golden Bears finally broke into the win column—their first since he became head coach at Cal—said "we showed the ability to cash in on the breaks" in beating Oregon State 14-6.

As a result, Levy said, the Bears' confidence and enthusiasm is up as they prepare for Saturday's game with UCLA at Berkeley. Levy said Cal scouts rate UCLA's Bruins as the fastest college team in the nation.

San Jose State meets College of the Pacific at Stockton Saturday night and both coaches —Bob Tichenal of the Spartans and Jack Myers of COP—rate the meeting as the top game of the year for their clubs.

Novato Outgained Marin Catholic '11'

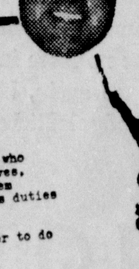

— Statistics of Saturday night's Novato - Marin Catholic High School football contest at Kentfield, won by Novato 12-6, showed the winners amassed 234 yards to Marin's 112.

Novato piled up 194 yards rushing and 40 passing while Marin was held to 25 net yards rushing and 87 in the air.

In first downs Novato made 11, all rushing, while Marin picked up six, one rushing and five passing.

Three plate glass windows n the San Rafael Public Library at Fifth Avenue and E Street were smashed sometime after 9 p.m., reported librarian Vivian R. Smith.

Dr. Robert Cogswell of 291 East Strawberry Drive, Mill Valley, reported blue paint had been poured over the hood and windshield of his 1960 Oldsmobile convertible about 9 p.m. yesterday. He called sheriff's officers, who searched for the miscreants without success.

There was much throwing of eggs and tomatoes at homes in Greenbrae, both within Larkspur and in the unincorporated area. In Mill Valley, some eggs were thrown at cars in Lytton Square. Mill Valley police confiscated two dozen eggs, a dozen bottles of seltzer water and two civil defense water pump tanks from juveniles.

Twenty-three eggs (fresh) were taken from youngsters by Belvedere police, who also reported water-filled balloons thrown at cars.

Margaret J. Symi of 578 B Street, San Rafael, told San Rafael police that while she was at a party about 10 p.m., someone stole her car, returning it 30 minutes later smeared with splattered eggs.

John D. Forward of 80 Summers Avenue, Novato, said his car window was shattered by tomatoes and water bombs hurled from a passing pickup truck on San Rafael's Fourth Street about 8:15 p.m. Glass fragments sprayed about the car, but none of the occupants —who included several small masqueraders—was injured.

Jack Hirsch of 133 Center Street, San Rafael, reported at 12:30 a.m. today that two lamps in his front yard had been smashed.

There was also at least one instance of obscene writing on the wall of a home on I Street in San Rafael.

Harry Moore, coach at Marin Catholic High School, found the front yard and porch of his home at 43 Hill View in San Rafael's Bret Harte district covered with all types of signs this morning. No damage was done, he said.

Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa had 10 extra officers on patrol last night. They arrested David A. Leonard, 18, of 107 Ross Street, San Rafael, on charges of speeding and failing to yield the right of way after, Police Officer Wade R. Powell said, Leonard's car almost struck a dozen trick-or-treaters walking across Court Street.

Powell said Leonard pulled away from the curb without lights and at high speed at 8:45 p.m. and failed to stop for the youngsters in the crosswalk. He was released on $60 bail, to appear in municipal court at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 7.

Norman C. Gray of 33 Stevens Place, San Rafael, told police his purse containing $20 in cash and a gold cigarette case was stolen while he was dancing at a masquerade party at the Redwood Room, 640 Fourth Street.

In Ross, street signs were blacked out and a fence on the property of Bennet Skewes-Cox on Laurel Grove Avenue was uprooted.

Greenbrae Halloweeners, besides throwing eggs and tomatoes, added an unusual twist when they padlocked three mail boxes.

Mrs. French Jacks of 571 Wilson Avenue, Novato, said someone threw a flaming object at her porch about 7 p.m. No damage was reported.

Corte Madera Police Chief Frank L. Nelson reported no vandalism of any kind. "The kids were wonderful," he said.

Paul Herriott of 1537 Buchanan Street, Novato, complained that he had been giving out goodies to all youngsters, but someone splattered black liquid shoe polish on the front door, steps and two lawn chairs.

Sheriff's deputies said vandals splattered red paint on the outside wall of the Hosestead outside wall of the Homestead Fire Department reported that a can of spray paint is missing

Hopps, Wife Accused Of Non-Payment

Belvedere financier Stewart B. Hopps and his wife, Geraldine, who settled an eight-million-dollar damage suit for $170,000 last year, have not paid a cent of the money according to a new suit filed in Marin Superior Court.

Louis V. Jackvony Jr., receiver of the Rhode Island Insurance Co., charges that the first $42,500 was to be paid last June 30, and three more installments are to be paid each year hereafter.

The original eight-million-dollar suit was filed by receivers of the Rhode Island Insurance Co., which charged that Hopps defrauded the company. This was settled out of court for $170,000.

'Pillowcase' Loot Valued At $100,000

Two ex-convicts, suspected of a series of "pillowcase" burglaries, were to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon for arraignment on burglary charges.

Sheriff's deputies estimated the elusive pair got about $100,000 worth of loot in all.

Charged with burglary are Benjamin Wadington, 42, and Lloyd Wendelbo, 44, both of San Francisco.

Inspector Marco Melovich, called in on the case, got an admission of about 30 break-ins in Marin since last June, using pillowcases to haul away the loot.

A third suspect in the "pillowcase" burglaries was nabbed in San Francisco yesterday. He is Robert Daniel Oswald, 19. Inspector William Bradley of the Marin sheriff's office said quantities of loot were found in Oswald's apartment. However, Oswald maintains he did not know the items were stolen, and he was released from Marin County Jail pending further investigation.

To Outline Schooling

Dr. A. P. Donoghue, director of admissions at University of San Francisco, will visit San Rafael High School tomorrow at 9:45 a.m. to acquaint students with the offerings of the university and outline admission procedures.

More Local Control Is Proposed In Forming Golden Gate Authority

The proposed Golden Gate Authority should take over local air and seaports only with the approval of the local communities now operating them, its advisory counsel recommended today.

In a report to the authority's commission after an eight months study, the advisory council also suggested that directors of the new agency should be controlled by a governing board selected by cities and counties with local elected officials permitted to serve as directors.

Only one of Marin's three members on the advisory Council were present at the meeting in San Francisco. Fred F. Enemark of San Rafael, secretary of the council, was in the audience as chairman Robert T. Nahas of Oakland made the report.

Nahas said all members of the council had either been present and approved the report at a meeting last month, or had written in with their recommendations and suggestions which were incorporated. There was one exception, he said—Marin representative Leland S. Murphy of Inverness, "We have not had and did not receive any communication from Mr. Murphy on this report," Nahas said.

The third Marin member, absent today, is Lawrence Livingston Jr. of Sausalito. Marin's representative on the commission also was absent. He is Joseph Strauss of San Rafael.

Nahas said the new plan departs significantly from the program announced last year.

He said the proposed authority also should be given legislative power "to attack not only our present transportation defiencies but also the related problems that are sure to emerge as the Bay Area's growth continues." He listed such problems as tideland development, future salt water barriers, bay debris, pollution control and harbor disaster planning.

Under the council's recommendations the six state-owned toll bridges and the district-operated Golden Gate Bridge would be placed under the new regional agency by the state legislature, with the state director of public works and a director of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District serving as ex-officio members of the authority's board.

Nahas said the council feels that while nine bay counties eventually would come under the new authority, at least five should be included at the start —San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin and San Mateo. It proposed Alameda and San Francisco should furnish four directors each, three each from Contra Costa and San Mateo, and two from Marin.

Most of the discussion following the presentation revolved about method of appointing the authority's board of directors and about local control of the installations. Several commissioners indicated they were more interested in a "more centralized" appointive power, perhaps by the governor, than by the local governmental agencies.

Most agreed, however, that the attempt to get the power over transportation facilities under control of local agencies was advisable.

Commissioned Robert Bradford, state director of public works, tried to get Nahas to explain in more detail what a new agency would do that the state is not already doing about the bridges. Bradford noted that there is already a regional concept in bridge operation, including use of bridge revenues to build a rapid transit tube. "The only difference I can see is home rule," Bradford said. "I agree with this too. You can get more sensitive control that way."

The commission took the council's report under advisement.

DeLasaux Satisfactory

'Fashion With A View' Series Begins Nov. 10

Sausalito with its romantic charm, and in particular, the Ondine with its distinctive elegance and panoramic vistas of the bay will be the superb setting for a delightful new series of Thursday fashion luncheons that begin with spectacular glamour on Nov. 10.

Titled simply, "Fashions With a View," the Thursday luncheon will highlight a special guest with a viewpoint—a viewpoint that significantly sparks a cultural, civic, charitable or educational endeavor important to Marin and the Bay Area.

The familiar white door at Ondine will open for luncheon only on Thursday at 12:30 to welcome guests to this informal promenade by select Marin and San Francisco stores whose fashions give a distinct and country elegance to the urban-suburban living of the sixties. Inaugurating the series on Nov. 10 will be "The Look" of a distinguished San Francisco store for the holidays ahead.

Promenading "Fashions With a View" that captures the beauty of the bay and San Francisco in an encompassing sweep will be prominent young women from Marin and San Francisco invited for their special interest in the cause sparked by the "guest with a viewpoint" as well as for their attractiveness and fashion flair. Mrs. John Bellamy Jr. will coordinate the series.

To assure that the fashions—and the view—will both be seen to best advantage, the models will walk informally among the tables, with luncheon at 12:30 and the promenade of styles.

Reservations to enjoy "Fashions With a View" may be made by calling the Ondine in Sausalito.

Needlework Guild Branches Honor National President

Marin branches of the Needlework Guild of America were well represented at the reception and tea given on Friday at the San Rafael Improvement Clubhouse honoring Mrs. James H. Mecum of Salem, N. J., national president of the guild.

Mrs. Mecum spoke of the observance of the guild's seventy-fifth jubilee, which is being observed this year. She said it had the distinction of being the first organization affiliated with the National Red Cross. The affiliation in 1905 was the result of an act of Congress. The first major call on the guild from the Red Cross took place the following year when earthquake and fire devastated San Francisco. Mrs. Mecum praised the Marin guilds for interesting the senior citizens, the handicapped and youth groups in making articles of clothing for distribution by the guild to the needy. The display of many handmade articles from these groups was arranged at the clubhouse by Mrs. Evelyn B. Levy.

Mrs. Mecum spoke of the morale building factor in giving new clothing to children, who had only worn "hand me downs."

Assisting Mrs. Mecum in receiving were Mrs. Carl Riznik, regional director of the national guild and Mesdames Arthur Luchetti, Herman Chiapetta, Neil Brogger and Jack Wilsey.

Mrs. Owens has just returned from an extended tour of the Far East, where she collected these folk tales and legends which have been told and retold over the centuries.

MILK BANK IN NEED OF DONORS

The Marin Committee of the Mothers' Milk Bank Inc. of San Francisco is in desperate need of donors. A critical situation exists at the milk bank. During the month of September over twice as much milk was dispensed as was obtained from donors and the reserve supply is insufficient to allow this ratio to continue.

Upon the request of a physician mother's milk is provided without charge for infants who are premature or sick. Mothers with surplus milk are needed as donors and are paid. Permission from the donor's physician and permission from the infant's physician are required before a nursing mother can qualify.

The Marin Committee has organized a motor corps to transport the collected milk to San Francisco so it can be pooled, pasteurized, frozen, and dispensed. Volunteer drivers are constantly needed.

At a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Remy Burkel, two San Francisco guests were present, Mrs. Walter C. Fell, treasurer, and Mrs. L. N. R. Leonards, auxiliary president.

Prospective donors or volunteer drivers are urged to call Mrs. Error of San Rafael.

Ingathering Set By Novato Guild

The Novato Chapter of the Needle Work Guild will have its annual ingathering from 1 to 3 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. H. R. Siess, 1120 Elm Avenue, Novato.

The chapter's members concentrated on making clothing for children this year. Examples of the work will be donated to the local chapter of the Salvation Army, following Wednesday's public display and tea.

Nursery School To Stage Sale

On Wednesday, Nov. 9, the San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School will hold its fall White Elephant Sale. From the funds received, the school replaces or buys new equipment or undertakes improvements of its present facilities.

Last year an adjacent room was utilized as a music room; a vinyl flooring was laid, the room painted, new curtains made, and a cabinet was added. The school is awaiting a new "jungle gym" for the playyard; the purchase of which is possible because of the White Elephant Sale. At present, an outside doll house, previously used as storage, is now in the process of being renovated in order that the children can use it as a doll house. Inside, the "doll corner" is also undergoing a renovation under the direction of Mrs. Richard Phillips.

Sundry assortments of usable articles and clothing in good condition are auctioned—all of which are donated by the members of the school. Puppies and kittens have often found a home as a result of this sale.

Edna Maguire P-TA To Meet Thursday

Parents will follow their children's school-day footsteps Thursday evening at Edna Maguire School, when the P-TA presents "Meet the Teachers" night.

Mrs. James H. Behr, unit president, urges members to be on time, as the school bell will ring promptly at 8 p.m. Parents will meet in their children's home rooms, and at 15 minute intervals will change classes through the six periods.

Principal Dominic Bobbio has stated that the teacres will discuss the content of their courses and what is expected of students.

As the following night the play "Junah" was given by the Bards at the church, the bazaar booths were left as they were so that articles could be sold to the play goers. The Dorcas members also served coffee and cake after the play. On the serving committee were Mesdames Floyd Anderson, Cyril J. Donaldson, Don Millar, Harold Hassold and Robert A. Veblen.

The next meeting of the society will be held Monday, Nov. 7 as Tuesday, the regular meeting day, is election day.

For Diversion

Harpists Entertained In Ghiglieri Home

Mrs. Elvira Ghiglieri was hostess Sunday afternoon at her home in Mill Valley to more than 40 people who came from all over Northern California to attend a meeting and program of the Northern California Harp Association.

Highlight of the afternoon was the appearance of Joel Andrews, a new San Francisco Conservatory harp instructor, recently from Texas, where he had staged a harp festival in which 50 harpists performed simultaneously.

Andrew played his own "Rondo Intime," which won an award given annually by the association for a new composition, Handel's harp Concerto and other numbers.

Also playing the harp were the well known Bay Area harpists, Alice Catlin and Virginia Morgan, a former president of the association and harpist for many years with the San Francisco Opera and Symphony under Pierre Monteux. She was a visitor since she is now living in Connecticut.

Providing variety on the program were songs by Naoma Meyer of San Francisco, accompanied at the piano by Raymond Lucas of San Francisco, who also played some turn-of-the-century popular tunes.

Another past president of the association visiting from Lebanon was Mrs. Virginia Lewis, formerly of Berkeley, and present from Bakersfield was Priscilla Mueller, the first editor and continuing board member since then of the international magazine "Harp News."

Following the program Mrs. Ghiglieri served tea.

The art of floral arrangement and holiday decor with greenery will be demonstrated to Marin County Delta Zeta Sorority alumnae chapter members at their regular monthly meeting on Thursday at the Corte Madera home of Mrs. Thomas Coates.

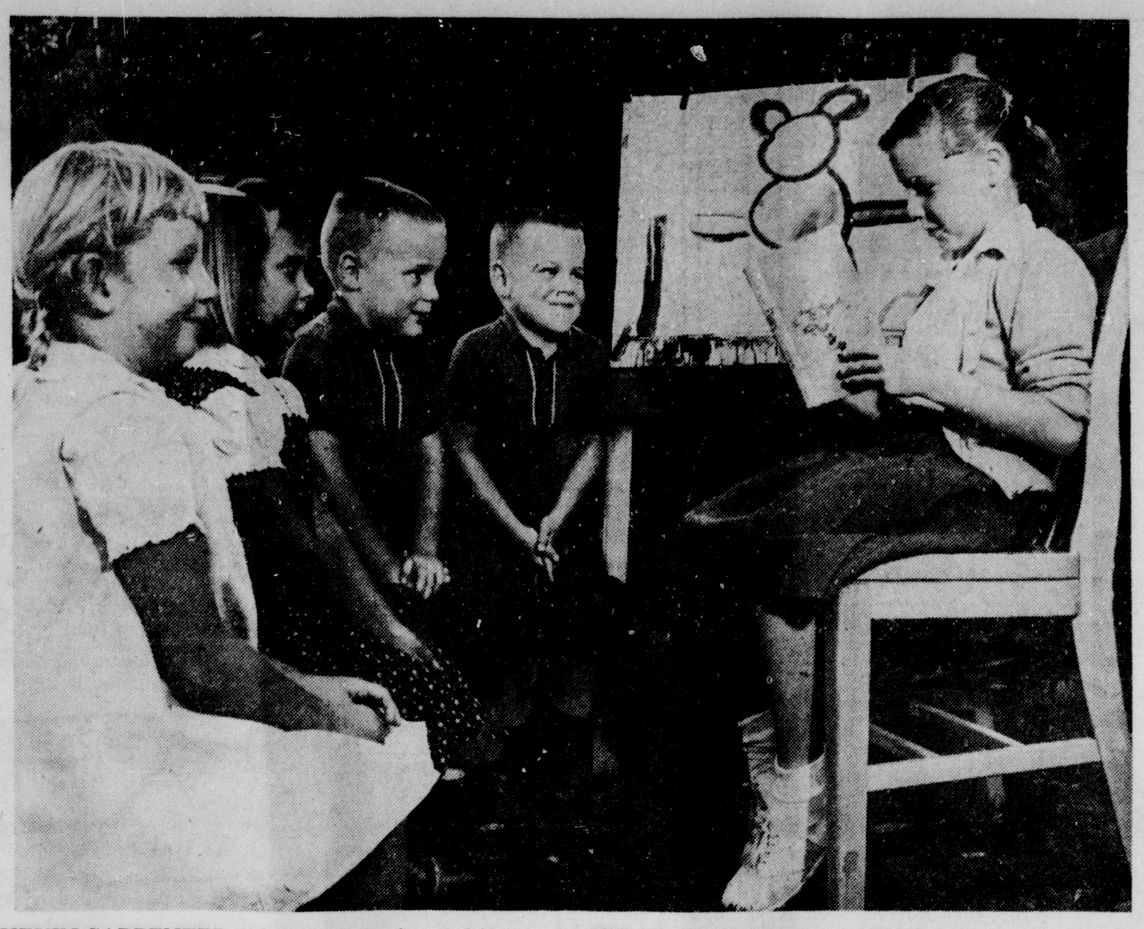

Mrs. Katherine Eubanks, Larkspur florist, will show the alumnae types of decorations using greens found in Marin County and special holiday effects. Mrs. Eubanks has served on the Florists Telegraph Delivery Assn. national design school and has taught home and professional arrangement.

Mrs. Robert Tanem of San Rafael, chapter president, will report on results of the Delta Zeta book booth at the Grape Festival, which, for the fourth year, Delta Zeta alumnae manned. This year the booth netted $192.38 and the alumnae book committee is already planning for collection of new and used books for next year's project.

Membership chairman Mrs. Coates will introduce four new members: Mesdames John Cavanah, Corte Madera; Frank Gloistein, San Rafael; James Zeik, San Anselmo; Harold Tracy, Petaluma. Alumnae desiring transportation to Mrs. Coates home, 22 Flying Cloud Course, Corte Madera, should contact her.

Also on the agenda is a discussion of the Dec. 9 Tom and Jerry party for members and their husbands to be held in the San Anselmo home of Mrs. Robert Oates.

Men Working Hard For Better Looks

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—When a friend faces a marriage breakup chance are that you, being the milk of human kindness, may offer your broad shoulder to cry on. Your reward may be a soured friendship, or two.

Take the word of Mrs. Elsie Siegle who, as assistant director for New York City's Community Service Society, has been counseling bickering couples for more than 20 years.

While social researchers keep tabs on the count of broken homes (approximately 400,000 annually), and the resulting "half-orphaned" children (about 800,000 yearly), nobody accounts for the fringe casualties . . . those friends of quarreling couples who somehow find themselves taking sides.

With one out of four marriages reaching divorce courts these days, and with a tremor in the most unshakable unions occasionally, you have probably already been drawn into the middle of a marital muddle sometime in your life.

Unless you are very wise and very careful. And few people are!

WHY YOU'RE INVOLVED

Miss Siegle, an Austrian-born caseworker in this largest of the nation's Family Service agencies, claims that friends are drawn into the wars of embattled couples for three very human reasons:

1. ALL people are flattered at being solicited for advice.

2. SOME people (the gossipy types) enjoy listening to the sins of the supposed errant husband or wife.

3. MOST people do not wish to turn a friend away at the very time when he or she is obviously in need of friendship.

You don't have to turn a friend away, Mrs. Siegle insists. Indeed you should be helpful in almost all ways you can. Offer to entertain the children. Or invite the friend out to a dinner or show to get his mind off his troubles.

"But don't let these emotionally distraught friends relate to you the details of their personal problem. Tell them that because you are so fond of them that you cannot look at the situation objectively.

A BROAD SHOULDER

"Of course, it is good for them to talk out their troubles with someone, but sometimes impersonal. I don't mean a marriage counselor, necessarily. The family doctor or a minister will do."

The experienced counselor is the first to admit that a state of neutrality is difficult to maintain, particularly if members of your family are involved. Still, it must be done if you are to avoid sometimes unpatchable splits that develop between couples and in-laws.

BUTTING IN?

The spats of little children are a good analogy, Mrs. Siegle thinks. Mothers rush to the defense of their youngsters and wind up not speaking to each other long after the kids are back playing together again.

"Remember that your friend or relative in marital trouble is in a highly emotional state, only able to see the negative said, unable to reason well," she says.

Remember, too, in choosing up sides, that tomorrow the couples may be deeply in love again, but embarrassed because you know what you know, and angry at you for 'butting in.'

The ninth annual "Musee de Noel," fund-raising benefit of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's Hospital, will present a Mexican theme this year when it opens to the public Nov. 22 for a three week period, at 312 Stockton Street, corner of Post, San Francisco.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Baylies Clark, auxiliary members have been working since early spring on this convenient and unique service, designed to simplify Christmas shopping by displaying a large selection of medium priced gifts in one location. Shoppers will find a choice variety of articles for men, women, children, pets and the home.

The proceeds from this benefit will be used to purchase equipment for the pediatric ward of the hospital.

Golden Gate District Meet To Follow Coffee, Nov. 14

Mrs. G. Frederick Norman, president of the Golden Gate District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, announces the district, comprised of Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo Counties, will be the guests of the Pacifica Federated Women's Club of Pacifica, California, for their November meeting on Monday, Nov. 14, 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Dan Uriarte, president, will bring the greeting and announces the meeting will be held at Nick's restaurant, in Pacifica.

Following the coffee hour, which is set for 9:30 a.m., Mrs. Norman will open the regular meeting at 10 a.m., and will give a report of the Oct. 25-27 California Federation of Women's Clubs State Board meeting.

On the agenda for the morning session will be reports from district chairmen, progress reports of vice presidents, and a report by the treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Luchetti of Corte Madera.

Mrs. William B. Newman of Belvedere, first vice president and program chairman of the Golden Gate District, will present Mrs. Alfred E. Parker of Berkeley, state chairman of scholarships, as featured speaker. Also, Miss Lelia Crouch, information officer of Women's Activities, United States Forest Service, and a member of the Outdoor Art Club of Mill Valley, will speak briefly on the Penny Pines Project as supported by the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

Following the luncheon, scheduled for 12:30 p.m., Mrs. Newman will present Robert Keropian, winner of the "Aviation Scholarship," given by Golden Gate District each year. This "Workshop" was held in Hawaii in June of this year, and Mr. Keropian will give a report on his work. Mrs. Keropian will also be a guest at this meeting, and may be prevailed upon to give a few "highlights" from her point of view of this work.

Now You Can Dwell In Marble Halls

CHICAGO (UPI) — Now you can dwell in marble halls—for just $11.95.

This sounds like a come-on from a pitchman. And while the price of marble still is prohibitive, it costs less than $12 to spray a 12x12 foot room with a new paint that gives a finish remarkably like antique marble.

The paint, called Breicraft Antique Marble, has a finish that's as practical as real marble. It's easily cleaned with soap and water, and can be used in the living room, bedroom, on walls or furniture.

The nine available colors, all "veined," include: Roman gold on antique white, Garda green on antique white, Roman gold on Milano beige, Palermo pink on antique white, Florentine beige on antique white, quarry black on antique white, Roman gold on onyx, Rapall white on fresco gray and Capri blue on antique white. Intermixing the colors offers almost unlimited color combinations.

The paint comes in realy-to-use kits, a large room size for the average 12x12 foot room, and an accent area size for smaller rooms, single walls, doors, bathrooms, closets and other small surfaces. Kits include easy-to-follow instruction sheets, a marbelizer applicator and quart jars for the paint.

The applicator is a paint sprayer attachment which can be used with a home vacuum cleaner. Regular paint sprayer equipment also can be used with the new paint.

Sponsored by the Garden Society of Marin, the festival will be held Saturday from noon to 6 p. m. and Sunday from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Admission is free.

Information on the competitive classes may be obtained from Mrs. Gael Curto of San Rafael, Mrs. Fred Sloat of San Anselmo or at the center office.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Meet, Tea

The members of the Saint Francis Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will hold an annual fall meeting and a tea to welcome new members. The reception takes place in the home of Mrs. Lloyd S. Ackerman at 3080 Pacific Avenue on Friday, Nov. 18 at 2 p.m.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Madame Irene Beran, a graduate of Le Cordon Bleu, the famous cooking school in Paris. Madame Beran, a newcomer to San Francisco, is well known in leading centers of the world as lecturer and teacher of the culinary art. She will discuss techniques of cooking as practiced here and abroad.

Maguire 7th Graders Plan Dance Friday

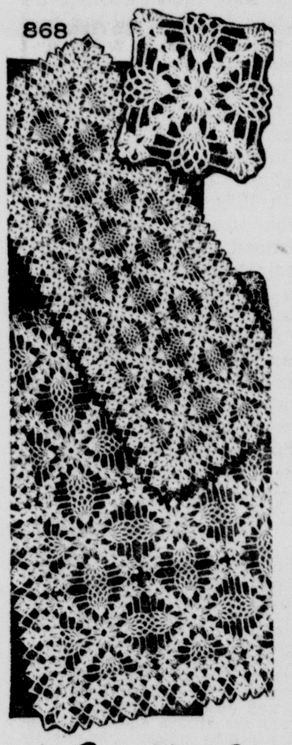

Edna Maguire seventh graders will have their first dance of the year Friday evening at Park School from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

There will be no charge for the P-TA sponsored dance, according to co-chairmen Mesdames H. W. Symmes and Jack Shapiro.

Students have chosen as a theme "Autumn Leaf Hop" and are decorating the hall accordingly. Participating teachers are Mesdames Ann Henningsen, Genevieve Louis, Carol Wolcott, Marjorie Wiley and Margaret Gustafson.

In 1864, the Post Office Department introduced the money-order system as a means of providing convenience and safety for people who wanted to make payments through the mails.

In 1871, American author Stephen Crane was born.

In 1918, the Hungarian Republic was proclaimed in Budapest and a Republic of Austria was set up in Vienna ending the Hapsburg monarchy of Austria-Hungary.

A thought for today: American author Stephen Crane wrote: "A man said to the universe: 'Sir, I exist!' 'However,' replied the universe, 'the fact has not created in me a sense of obligation'."

Hope Voters Won't Demand Tragedy At County Hospital

Prosperous Marin, the county with the highest income per family of any county in the state, is once more being asked to provide a safe, healthful hospital for its ailing oldsters.

Let's not be vague about this matter of safety. The old brick county hospital in Lucas Valley has not been "condemned" in the legal sense of the word. But Gordon R. Cumming, chief of the Bureau of Hospitals, in a letter to the county administrator three weeks ago, put it this way:

"It is the determination of this department your county hospital does not comply with structural standards established in Section 260 of the Hospital Licensing Regulation . . . .The structural hazards which exist in the building are serious and we wish to emphasize the need of early action by your county to correct this situation . . . In a severe (earthquake) shock, the walls would probably fall out, followed by a general loosening up of the building and partial collapse. Loss of life would be probable."

"Loss of life would be probable." He didn't say "possible" or "perhaps."

The situation is in many aspects even worse than this. The aged building has doors into rooms of bedridden patients which are too small to allow the beds to be rolled out to safety in case of fire or other emergency.

Some of the rooms do not even qualify for beds in which non-ambulatory patients can be cared for.

The Board of Supervisors only recently approved a plan for hospital evacuation in an emergency. It calls for many stretchers, for lowering patients out of windows, and other make-shift arrangements because it just isn't possible to get them out in normal ways.

Now we could adopt a hard-hearted attitude of, "Who cares anyway, they're just a bunch of sick, old people who are going to die anyway. Can't we just prop up the building and save some money?"

Skipping everything but the money angle of such an attitude, the present hospital is far from efficient. It would cost many hundreds of thousands of dollars, exact amount not known, to prop up the old building. It would require big steel bands around the outside, to hold the walls together. It would require a complete interior renovation, and even so the oldest part of the hospital still might not be completely usable for hospital purposes.

But even worse, the continuing inefficiency of the old building itself would not be alleviated. It just is not an efficient structure to begin with and it costs more to operate, even with fine management, than it should.

Under the proposed $2,250,000 bond issue, Proposition A on your ballot next Tuesday, a new hospital facility would be built. Not only would it be modern and efficient, but it would be a happier home for the oldsters.

And too, the plan is not to abandon and or tear down the old buildings. Not safe for hospital use, they still can be used for numerious county office activities. And plans are being made to utilize that space.

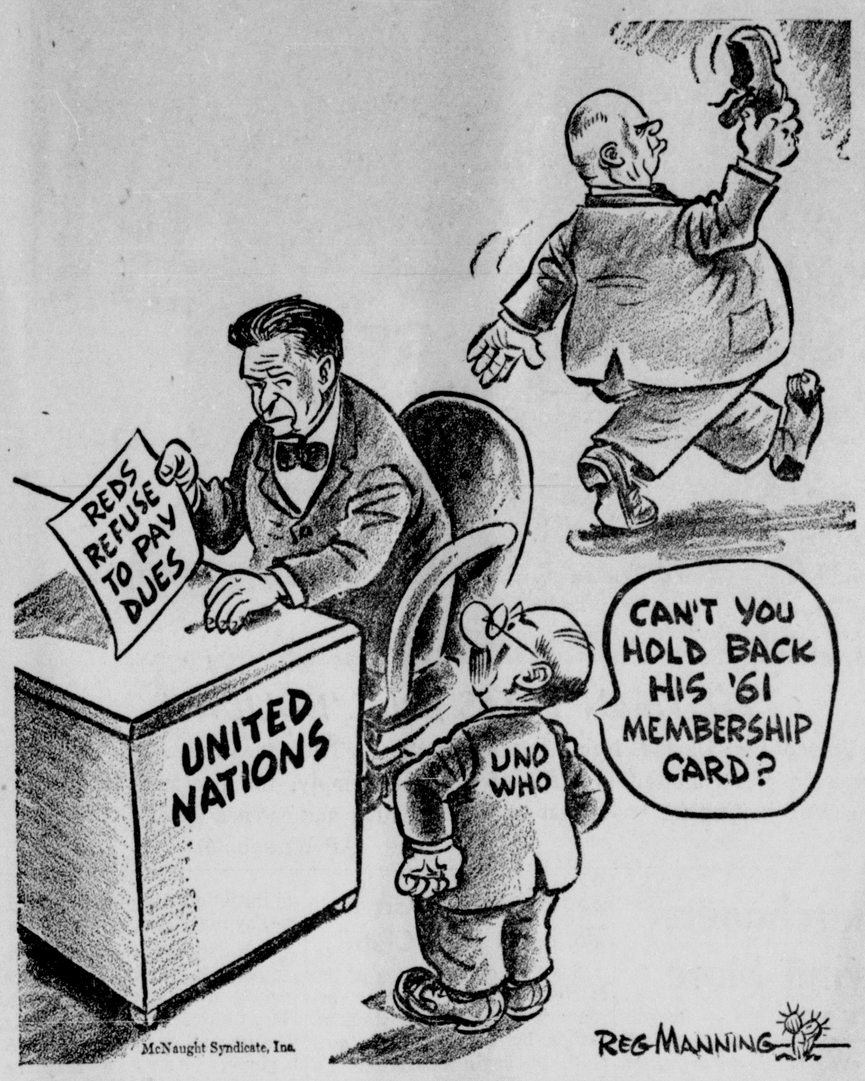

Marin County does not have a single, solitary bond issue outstanding against it. We're proud of that record. We're proud we're building our civic center on pay-as-you-go and our juvenile hall on a loan and repayment plan.

But this is in the nature of an emergency. We've been lucky for years; no major emergency. We've been planning this improvement since 1956. Twice the voters have turned it down, last June by an extremely narrow margin.

We hope the voters won't demand a tragedy before they approve a safe county hospital.

Undertake Park Plans Realistically

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As a conservationist I am in support of the idea of the new Point Reyes park. I wonder, however, if we have been going after it in the right way.

I heard Fred Dupuis and Clem Miller discuss the park on KTIM and it seems to me that Mr. Dupuis is on the right track. I am a past president of the Marin Rod and Gun Club, a past president of the Tyee Club and have been active on conservation matters and legislative programs for a long time. The one thing I have learned is that if we try to bite off more than we can chew and if we ignore the economics of these conservation matters, we usually lose more ground than we gain.

Mr. Miller doesn't seem to care about the Point Reyes price tag, but conservationists and sportsmen do, we have to pay the bill. We have learned the hard way in Sacramento and Washington that if we don't do these things realistically, the areas we want will be gone for all time.

Most Unselfish And Patriotic

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Please, before the elections are over and the phrase "a man who" has been filed away for another four years, may I place in nomination for a red-white-and-blue award a man who, unhonored, unsung and thus far unrewarded, is one of the most unselfish and patriotic products of this century:

A man who biennially accepts his wife's pre-election preoccupation with a cause other than himself; who is patient with late meals and later hours, with disorder in the house and weeds in the lawn, and who answers courteously when asked to "look in the drawer, dear, and see if you have a clean handkerchief for tomorrow."

A man who fills in as baby sitter and dishwasher, who stuffs envelopes and then chauffeurs the mail to the mail to the post office and his wife to her next appointment.

A man who endures and even endorses the cause that thus disrupts his home: A man who may think there's only one political party worth mentioning, but who gives each year as much as he can afford to an organization dedicated to the proposition that all parties are created equal and that there is no Republican or Democratic monopoly on civic virtue.

My candidate: Any man who is the husband of an active member of the League of Women Voters.

A Movie The Ladies Should See

We're not being facetious. We're serious.

This week the movie, "Times and Two Women," is being shown free at theaters throughout the county. It is a picture produced by the American Cancer Society to acquaint all women with the quick, painless test for uterine cancer which can be carried out by her doctor during a routine annual checkup.

Uterine cancer last year killed 15,000 women. Most of them need not have died.

It won't take the ladies long to see the film—and it may furnish them years of happy life. (Husbands may go too, if they are interested.)

Diva Dorothy Kirsten Credits Golf, Husband For Her Success

Because of the emotional drain, too, the glamorous blonde Metropolitan Opera star doesn't like to sing a heavy role more than once every fourth day.

Top opera stars—like championship boxers—make a ritual of keeping in the best physical condition. Her training secret is golf.

"It's the perfect sport for a singer," she said. "It helps develope rhythm and proper breathing."

As a young girl in Montclair, N. J., she studied singing, dancing and acting. She sang swing music with Kate Smith for two years, later became a protege of Grace Moore, who helped develop her interest in opera.

It has been said that behind every successful man is a good woman. She says that behind her success is a good man—her husband, Dr. John D. French, a neurosurgeon.

"The most important thing to me is the happiness I know in my private life," she says.

"When I am happy, I sing my best. This is not true of all artists, but it is true of me. My husband keeps me happy.

"I am never—absolutely never—away from my husband more than three weeks at a time."

Because of her refusal to be away from her Palos Verdes home for extended periods, she quit the Metropolitan Opera a couple of seasons back.

SHE WON her point. The Met called her back during an emergency last April, but she rejoined on her own terms.

What is the greatest penalty of operatic stardom?

"Being unable to get out of the public eye," she said.

"The biggest sacrifice a prima donna has to make is this: She has to look, dress and act like a prima donna—even when she doesn't feel like one. But it gets to be a habit, and you learn to do it."

"I have had the same secretary for 14 years," she said drily. "I don't know many tenors who can make that claim."

Rumor About Finance Director Leaving Unfounded; A Good Thing

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Rumors have persisted for some time around the State Capitol that John E. Carr, the state director of finance, will get out of the political picture around January 1, and that Gov. Edmund G. Brown will appoint his fair-haired boy, William Warne, the "multi-director," to the post.

Carr has said on many occasions that he intends to stay around Sacramento as long as Governor Brown wants him. The rumors have not changed his mind.

SO IF CARR leaves the finance post, it will be on the insistence of the governor, and not of Carr.

Actually, Carr doesn't know where the rumors started, and cares less. He is a man of independent means, a businessman, and is in a position to work for the people of the state instead of the state's civil service employees. This, he has been doing, which probably sparked the rumors in the first place.

There are, in fact, several places where the scuttle-butt could have started. One is in the upper echelons of the California State Fair and Exposition, which Carr has castigated thoroughly for mismanagement, lack of perception on its future, and failure at least to break even on its annual exposition.

ANY ONE OF several departments, which resent outside interference in their financial operation, could surreptitiously have started such a rumor. Carr has inaugurated a new system of budgeting, which works for the benefit of the taxpayer instead of the bureaucrat. Such action is rank heresy in the realm of the civil service employee.

But wherever the rumor started, it has gotten around enough to pose a serious threat to sound financing and economical government. It was ever thus when an individual who knows something of the problems of the taxpayer attempts to carve some of the fat out of the state deparments and give the people a break.

WARNE, WHO RECENTLY was appointed director of water resources, but who still holds office as director of agriculture, to which post he went from director of fish and game, is a typical government administrator.

Under his guidance, the bureaucrats would have little if any worries. They know their wants, rather than their needs, may be considered when a bureaucrat with little, if any business experience, is at the helm.

Sound business interests are anxious to see Carr carry out his program. These interests recognize the fact that unless some individual is working on behalf of the taxpayers, eventually, taxes again will have to be increased, as Brown did when he took office. However, sound principles of budgeting at least will help keep them down.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

It was in September, just after the opening of the women's college that ornaments the town of Saratoga. As usual, a good many of the girls visited the bank to open checking accounts, writes Frank Sullivan. One of them was a naive freshman. She wanted to open an account very badly.

"How much do you wish to deposit in the account?" asked an official of the bank.

The maid looked at him in starry innocence.

"Oh, I don't want to 'deposit' anything," she said. "I just want to open an account."

Very Random Poll Shows How Novato High Schoolers Would Vote

Everyone is taking polls these days. Voters are being trapped on every street corner to tell their secret vote.

So to prepare the younger generation for what is to come, we decided to make a non-selective, very random, non-representative, unscientific poll. We stopped bright-eyed, alert students at Novato High School on their way to classes one morning.

Their opinions may change your vote.

SANDY HENRY, a freshman doesn't think the voting age should be lowered. She'd vote for Nixon, because "Kennedy doesn't show me anything—he just doesn't."

Barbara Balaga, freshman, would vote for Kennedy. "I don't know why, I just think I would." She doesn't think the voting age should be lowered, "I just don't."

Senior Tom Volk thinks the voting age should be raised. "I don't see why anyone votes at all because you're not voting for the man, you're voting for the electoral college anyways."

IF HE COULD vote, he'd be on Kennedy's side, he said after long thought. "Nixon got all those tomatoes thrown at him. He'll never take New York. The Latin American countries don't like him at all."

Jim Madsen's vote would go to Kennedy. Madsen, a freshman, said it's because "he's supposed to make Khrushchev really do what he says and not get out of order at the UN meeting.

"He's not afarid to talk to Khrushchev. He's not afarid of Khrushchev." Madsen is a freshman.

While Mike Conroy, a freshman, would pick Nixon because "I think he'd be better than Kennedy because Kennedy might jump in the UN and get Khrushchev all shook."

GAIL WAITE, a junior, wants to vote for Kennedy. "He seems to have the strongest arguments on what he's for."

And she thinks maybe the voting age should be lowered. "Some of the guys in the service—I think they should be allowed to vote. If they can fight for their country, I think they should be allowed to vote for who's to run it."

Another freshman added: "I think if you can drive a car, you should be able to vote."

SAYS SOPHOMORE Florence Frank:

"I'd vote for Kennedy. He's nicer looking than Nixon. I think his wife is nicer than Mrs. Nixon.

"I think the voting age should be lowered to 18. I think most kids by that age can decide who they're going to vote for."

The predominance of freshmen in this sidewalk political study probably is accounted for by the fact that upperclassmen drive their cars to school.

CHERISHED ILLUSIONS SHATTERED

Tree Rings Don't Tell Age; Dry Rot Is Rot

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another one of my crippled illusions has just been shattered and now lies in a quivering, whimpering heap at my feet.

This one was shot down by the Smithsonian Institution, which cold-bloodedly reports that tree rings are not necessarily reliable indicators of a tree's age.

Gad, sir! Is there nothing left we can depend on?

According to the Smithsonian, a new arboreal study shows that trees tend to grow by "flushes," that is, in spurts. A tree may suddenly start growing almost any time of the year and one part may grow while another part does not.

IF THAT REMINDS any of you parents of someone you know, it possibly is because trees seem to have something in common with adolescent children.

At any rate, the report comes as a shock to those of use who grew to manhood thinking that all trees uniformly develop one new ring each year. It is, moreover, only one of a series of reports I have seen recently indicating that an agonizing reappraisal of Mother Nature may be in order.

THE AGRICULTURE Department, for instance, tells us that that age-old belief in the existing of "dry rot" is just a lot of rot. There is no such thing as "dry rot."

All wood decay, the department avers, is caused by a fungus which cannot exist in dry wood.

There also is a question of whether we know whereof we speak when we refer to a "snail's pace." Have you any idea how fast a snail travels? Would you be surprised if I told you that snails can sprint at speeds up to four inches a minute?

Some snails, incidentally, have an interesting love life. When they want to get cozy with another snail, they bombard the object of their affection with little limestone darts, sort of like Cupid arrows.

This will give us something to cling to until some government agency comes along and tells us there is no such thing as Cupid.

SPEAKING OF romance, I recently learned that Agriculture Department scientists have discovered how to produce synthetically the natural perfume which the female gypsy moth uses to attract her lovers.

The breakthrough was made by a chemist named Martin Jacobson, who found that lady gypsy moths get their men with a substance he identified as "dextrorotatory 10-acetoxy-1-hydroxq-cis-7 hexadecene."

When a male gypsy moth gets a whiff of dextrorotatory 10-acetoxy - 1 - cis-7-hexadecene, he never knows what hits him. And small wonder. No red-blooded, 100 per cent male gypsy moth would be thinking of chemistry at a time like that.

JACOBSON HAS managed to duplicate this mothly aphrodisiac in a compound known as "gyplure." Pest control officials plan to use it to lure male gypsy moths to their destruction.

From a male moth's standpoint, there may not be a better way to die.

Sleepwalking Is Indication Child Has Inner Emotional Problems

"My girl started sleepwalking," a mother writes, "just three months ago.

"She is 11. Last night she walked across the street and climbed a tall tree. We found her on a high branch, stark naked. She was waving her nightie in the air and talking furiously. Why did she do this? Should we tie her down?"

Don't tie her down.

Sleepwalkers have been studied. Every one of them has emotional problems. Young or old, male or female, they're reacting to strain in their lives. Sleepwalking is a symptom. You can't cure symptoms with rope.

Talk with your girl; she may be able to tell you what is bothering her. If she can't, go back over the last few months. What changes have come in her life? Did she fail at school? Is she in conflict with her teacher? Has a health problem developed? Have you been unusually strict with her?

If you can locate the cause of the strain, eliminate it. Or at least try to.

Does she swim well? Or paint? Or play a musical instrument? Can she be a leader in Camp Fire Girls or Girl Scouts? She needs success in large and frequent doses.

Her sleepwalking may continue in spite of your efforts. If it does, take her to a psychologist. (You'll find psychogists on the faculty of your nearest college.) Have her studied and try hard to follow the suggestions the psychologist will make.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Is it true that sleepwalkers have superhuman strength?" P.L.

(A) No. They lack the restraint and balance which comes with consciousness. Therefore they may appear a bit stronger than when they're awake. But they aren't superhuman.

Experts See Recession, But Mild One

NEW YORK (UPI)—A sizable majority of the nation's leading economists foresee a mild recession between now and the end of 1961, a survey showed yesterday.

At least two-thirds of 327 economists canvassed said they expect a downturn in business activity in the next six to nine months with a majority of these seeing a rebound late in 1961.

The other economists polled look for the economy to hold its own through next year.

The annual survey was made by F. W. Dodge Corp., a construction and marketing statistical agency.

"The general feeling . . . seems to be that some corrections have already taken place in the economy during the past several months and that this will serve to lighten the severity of the expected downturn," the corporation said.

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Police Break Up Brawl In Liquor Store

Three Sausalito policemen broke up the battle of the bottles and booked three San Franciscans at Marin County Jail on charges of disturbing the peace, assault and battery and assault with a deadly weapon. The three are Charles Theodore Keating, Alva A. Warner and Michael John Rocco.

Police said the three got into a dispute outside the liquor store with Pasquale Carmino Pettruti of 13 Shell Road, Mill Valley, at 1:25 a.m.

Pettruti went back into the store to get aid. Keating followed, grabbed up a fifth of wine from the store's shelf and hit Pettruti over the head. Police arrived to find Pettruti on the floor, the other three fighting.

In self-defense, William Melbourne, of 703 Bridgeway, manager of the store, picked up a two and one-half gallon jug of wine and hit one of the San Franciscans over the head, wine in full flow.

In Shooting Match

Row Over $1 Jails 1 Man, Injures 2nd

A dispute over a $1 admission charge to a San Anselmo party Saturday night sent one man to the hospital and one to jail for assault and battery.

San Anselmo police arrested Thomas Craig Mack, 8 Sylvan Lane, Ross, on a citizen's complaint filed by Conrad Williams of 787 Marin Drive, Mill Valley, after Williams said Mack slugged him when he couldn't put a dollar in the "kitty" for drinks at the party.

Williams said he was invited to the social event at 434 Laurel Avenue by the sister-in-law of the host, Gary Dykstra. When he arrived, he said he was met at the door by Mack, who demanded the contribution to help defray cost of the liquor. Williams said he had no money and was told to leave. He then asked permission to look for a friend who was also to be a guest.

At this point, Williams claimed, Mack grabbed him from behind and held him while other guests at the party rained blows on his head. When he got loose he headed for the police.

Sgt. John Orr returned to the party with him and arrested Mack, who pointed out that he merely held Williams while the others did the damage, but refused to identify the others.
